Facts on Clemson Football

Academic Excellence

- Clemson was fourth in the nation among Division I schools for its graduation rate by the NCAA on December 19, 2005. The American Football Coaches Association has also cited the Clemson program for excellence in this area three times in the eight years Tommy Bowden has been head coach of the Tigers. Clemson was fifth in the nation among the USA Today Top 25 in graduation rate according to a USA Today story in September of 2006.
- Clemson has three graduates on the 2006 team. The players who already earned degrees before the season started were All-ACC wideout Chansi Stuckey, defensive end Brandon Cannon, and punter Cole Chason. At least nine more players will receive degrees on December 21, 2006, giving Clemson 12 graduates for the Music City Bowl.
- Tommy Bowden has had 36 players in his eight years (including 2006) who have played for the Tigers in the regular season after they earned their undergraduate degree. Since Bowden has been at Clemson, nearly 80 percent of the scholarship players who have stayed until their senior year have earned their degree. Among the December, 2006 graduates are prominent players Gaines Adams, Dustin Fry, Roman Fry, Thomas Hunter, Will Proctor, and Anthony Waters.
- Chad Carson and Kyle Young were first-team academic All-Americans in the 2000 and 2001 seasons. Clemson was the only Division I school in the nation with two first-team picks each year. Young was a first-team academic All-American from 1999-01 and became just the second ACC player in history to be a three-time, first-team selection. Young is one of just two offensive linemen in college football history to be a three-time, first-team All-American.
- Carson joined Young in graduating from Clemson Summa Cum Laude. In 2002, Carson reached the final stage of the Rhodes Scholarship selection process, the only Division I football player in the nation who could make that claim. Carson, who is the sideline announcer on Clemson's radio network, also won Clemson University's Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award for service to others.
- Clemson's football team had 26 players named to the Academic Honor Roll for the spring semester of 2006. Even though he has served as head coach just 14 semesters entering the 2006-07 academic year, the top-six team Academic Honor Roll totals and the top-six team GPAs have taken place under Tommy Bowden's watch.

All-Americans

- Clemson has had a history of decorated football players. The program boasts 59 different All-Americans in its history, including 2006 selections Gaines Adams and Nathan Bennett. Adams was a unanimous first-team All-American, just the second unanimous All-American in Clemson history, joining Terry Kinard (1982). It marks the second consecutive year Clemson has had a consensus first-team All-American. Tye Hill, now with the Saint Louis Rams, was a consensus pick last year. Bennett was a third-team All-American by Associated Press.

- The program has had at least one All-American in 28 of the last 31 years.
- Clemson has had at least one First-Team All-ACC player each of the last 30 years, the longest active streak and the longest overall streak in ACC history. This year, Clemson has five First-Team All-ACC picks, tied for most in the ACC.
- Clemson had nine players named to the ACC's 50-Year Anniversary team, more than any other school. The list of Clemson honorees shows the balance of the program over the years, as every area of a football team (by position) was represented. The nine players on the team are Joe Bostic, Jerry Butler, Bennie Cunningham, Jeff Davis, Steve Fuller, Terry Kinard, Michael Dean Perry, William Perry, and Anthony Simmons. All nine players were All-Americans for at least one season and played in the NFL.

Bowl History

- Clemson has been to 28 bowl games in its history. Clemson's 15 wins in those games are tied for 17th-most in the history of college football.
- Clemson's first bowl game was a 6-3 victory over Boston College and Frank Leahy in the 1940 Cotton Bowl. Leahy is still second in college football history in winning percentage.
- Clemson won five straight bowl games between the 1986 and 1990 seasons, tied for the seventh-longest winning streak in NCAA history in consecutive seasons. Clemson defeated Stanford, Penn State, Oklahoma, West Virginia, and Illinois during the stretch.
- Clemson has beaten some of the top coaches in college football history in bowl competition. Among the list of celebrated coaches who have lost to Clemson in bowl games since the ACC was founded are Joe Paterno (#2-winningest coach in Division I on a total victories basis), Barry Switzer (#4-winningest Division I coach on a winning percentage basis), and Tom Osborne (#5-winningest Division I coach on a winning percentage basis). Hall of Fame Coach Woody Hayes suffered his final loss against Clemson in 1978 at the Gator Bowl. Overall, Clemson has defeated eight coaches in bowl games who are in the College Football Hall of Fame.
- The Gaylord Hotels Music City Bowl is Clemson's 18th bowl appearance since 1985, a tangible representation of the program's consistency. Clemson is in the top 10 in the nation in bowl appearances since the 1985 season.

Championship Tradition

- The Tigers were named National Champion by every service in 1981, as they were the only school in the nation with a perfect record (12-0) that season. The year included three wins over top-10 teams (Georgia, Nebraska, North Carolina), the only team in college football to beat three top-10 teams in 1981. It was just the second national title for an ACC school.
- The 1981 team had five All-Americans on its roster, including first-team selections Jeff Davis, Terry Kinard, and Perry Tuttle. Thirty-one players on the 1981 squad were eventually drafted by the NFL, and 22 players eventually played in the NFL. Twenty-three different players on the 1981 roster were First-Team All-ACC selections at one time or another during their careers.

- Since the ACC was formed in 1953, Clemson has more overall wins (363) and wins in ACC games (223) than any other school.
- Clemson has won 13 ACC titles (12 outright and one tied) in its history, still the all-time conference record.
- Clemson won the Southern Conference title in 1940 and 1948, giving the program 15 conference crowns over the years.

Coaching Success

- Clemson has a legendary history when it comes to coaching. Three former Tiger mentors (John Heisman, Frank Howard, Jess Neely) are already in the College Football Hall of Fame. Howard was Clemson's coach when the ACC was founded and promptly took the Tigers to six ACC titles. No coach had more league titles than Howard during his 30-year tenure at Clemson. He concluded his career with 165 victories, and his 30-year tenure still ranks third in NCAA history for a coach serving at one school.
- Danny Ford coached Clemson to the National Championship in 1981 and won six bowl games in his Clemson career, second on the all-time ACC coaching list. His 76-percent winning mark is also second-best in ACC history. He was the consensus national coach-of-the-year in 1981, and remains the youngest coach (33) to win a national title.
- Current Head Coach Tommy Bowden has continued the tradition of outstanding Tiger coaches by leading the team to bowl games each of his first five years, the only coach in Clemson history to do that. He has had a winning season each of the last seven years, the longest streak by one coach in Clemson history and one of the top five streaks in ACC history.
- Tommy Bowden has been named ACC Coach-of-the-Year twice in his eight years at Clemson. In 2003, he became the second Tiger coach to defeat three top-25 teams in the same year, and the second to record at least two top-10 wins in the same year. He duplicated the feat in 2005 by defeating three top-20 teams, the first time that had been done since 1981. Bowden was named National Coach-of-the-Year by the FCA in 2005 and was a semifinalist for the George Munger National Coach-of-the-Year Award in 2006.

First-Round Draft Selections

- Tye Hill was the #15 selection of the 2006 NFL draft by the Saint Louis Rams. The All-America cornerback became the 21st first-round selection in Clemson history, and the fourth to be the exact #15 pick in the NFL draft. Hill became the ninth player in Clemson history and first since Rod Gardner (2001) to be a first-round draft pick, a first-team All-American, and earn a degree in the same year. Current Tiger Gaines Adams should join that list in April of 2007.
- Clemson had 10 players drafted in 1983, an ACC record for players drafted in one year.
- Clemson has had 187 players drafted over the years. In addition to Tye Hill, quarterback Charlie Whitehurst (third round by San Diego) and defensive end Charles Bennett (seventh round by Tampa Bay) were also chosen in the 2006 draft. Five members of the 2005 Clemson team are on NFL rosters this year.

Hall of Fame

- Former Clemson All-American Terry Kinard was enshrined in the College Football Hall of Fame in 2001 in New York City. He was also inducted into the Clemson Ring of Honor in 2001.
- Terry Kinard was the first Tiger football player to win a national individual award. He was named the 1982 national defensive player-of-the-year by CBS. That year (his senior season), he was a first-team, unanimous All-American, the first unanimous All-American in Clemson history. He was named to the ACC's 50-Year Anniversary team in 2002, and was also listed among the top-50 athletes in the history of the ACC, regardless of sport. Gaines Adams joined him as the only unanimous Clemson All-American this season.
- Clemson had a special night in New York City on December 11, 2001. That evening, Terry Kinard was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame and Kyle Young was a recipient of a National Football Foundation Scholar-Athlete Award. Clemson was the only school in the nation with one of each in 2001.
- Three former Clemson coaches are in the College Football Hall of Fame. The list includes John Heisman (1900-03), Jess Neely (1931-39), and Frank Howard (1940-69).
- Banks McFadden, Clemson's greatest all-around athlete and a First-Team AP All-American in 1939, was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1959.

NFL Influence

- Clemson has had 21 former players in the NFL during the 2006 season, the 22nd-consecutive year Clemson has had at least 18 former players on NFL rosters.
- Over the years, 20 former Tigers have combined to win 28 Super Bowl Championship rings. Chris Gardocki was added to the list in 2006 as the starting punter with the World Champion Pittsburgh Steelers. The leader is Jeff Bostic, who was a starter on three Super Bowl Championship teams with the Washington Redskins.
- Clemson has had an alum on the Super Bowl Championship team in five of the last eight years. Clemson was one of six schools to have a representative on each of the four teams involved in the conference championship games at the end of the 2005 season.
- Linebacker Leroy Hill started in the 2006 Super Bowl for the Seattle Seahawks. He had 7.5 sacks during the season, third among NFL rookies in 2005.
- Trevor Pryce, an All-ACC player at Clemson in 1996, has won two Super Bowl Championship rings and been a four-time Pro Bowl selection. He became the highest-paid defensive lineman in NFL history in 2001. He was one of eight former Tiger defensive linemen on NFL rosters in 2006.
- Brian Dawkins is one of the stars of the NFL among defensive players. A 1996 Clemson graduate, Dawkins was an All-American on Clemson's 1995 team when he finished the season 10th in the nation in interceptions. He became the first player in NFL history in 2002 to have a sack, interception, recovered fumble, and touchdown reception in the same game. He has been named to the Pro Bowl five times in the last seven seasons, including the 2006 Pro Bowl. Dawkins is second among Clemson players in Pro Bowl appearances, as Michael Dean Perry made a Clemson-best six appearances. Chester McGlockton and Trevor Pryce have had four apiece as well.

Poll Presence

- The 2005 season marked the 22nd time Clemson has been ranked in the final top 25 of the AP poll. Clemson's highest ranking is #1, a mark that was achieved on November 30, 1981 and in the final poll of that season (January 4, 1982).
- Clemson once had a streak of 46 consecutive weeks ranked in the AP poll during the 1980s.
- Clemson was ranked in 11 of the weekly polls in 2006, including a #10 ranking on October 22 after a 31-7 win over #13 Georgia Tech.
- Clemson finished in the top 20 of all final polls from 1986-91, a six-year streak. The Tigers had exactly two losses in each of those six seasons.
- Clemson was ranked in the final top 20 of the AP poll six times in the 1980s. The Tiger program was fifth in the nation in winning percentage in that decade.
- Beating ranked opponents has been a hallmark of Clemson's success. Clemson has beaten an AP-ranked opponent 18 of last 21 years, including three ranked wins in 2003, three top-20 wins in 2005, and two more in 2006. Clemson has four top-10 wins over the last four years, including a win at #9

Florida State in 2006. Clemson has won its last four games against top-20 teams.

- Clemson has eight top-20 wins and four top-10 wins in the last four years, tying a Clemson record in each category for a four-year period. Clemson is one of 11 schools nationally to defeat two top-15 teams this year.

Prominent Former Tigers

- Dwight Clark was the NFL MVP in 1982. He was the recipient of "The Catch" for the San Francisco 49ers against the Dallas Cowboys in the 1981 NFC Championship game. It is still replayed on ESPN Classic every night when it introduces its "Sports Century" feature.
- Charlie Waters was a three-time Pro Bowl selection with the Dallas Cowboys. He played on two Super Bowl Championship teams before going on to a college coaching career at Oregon.
- * Charlie Waters and Jeff Bostic were both named to ESPN's 40-Man Roster of Greatest Super Bowl Players, a roster that was released prior to Super Bowl XL.
- The Perry Brothers, William and Michael Dean, were starters on Clemson's 1984 defense. Both were named to the ACC's 50-Year Anniversary team in 2002. William played on Clemson's national championship team as a freshman, then on the Super Bowl Champion Chicago Bears of 1985. Michael Dean played in six Pro Bowls with Cleveland and Denver, more than any other former Tiger. Both were named ACC Player-of-the-Year during their Tiger careers, including William in 1984 and Michael Dean in 1987. They are the only brother combination in ACC history that can make that claim.

2006 Clemson Personnel Overview

Overview

The 2006 season has been a year of significant accomplishments and close calls. The Tigers have an 8-4 record, but three of the losses have been by three points or less. The Tigers were just one offensive or defensive possession from playing in the ACC Championship game. The Tigers lost by one point on the road to Boston College in September and by one point at home to Maryland in November.

In the Boston College game, the Tigers had the ball at the Eagle three with a first-and-goal needing a touchdown to win the game in the first overtime. But the Tigers could not punch it in the endzone and had to settle for a field goal. A missed extra point after a second-overtime touchdown proved to be Clemson's undoing, leading to a 34-33 loss in two overtimes in a game in which the Tigers gained 479 yards of total offense.

In the Maryland game, Clemson kicked a field goal with two minutes left to take a 12-10 lead, but allowed the Terrapins to come back and kick a field goal on the last play of the game to upset the Tigers 13-12 in Death Valley. A win in either game would have given Clemson a 6-2 conference record, the same as Wake Forest, who the Tigers defeated by 10 points on October 7. The Tigers finished with a 5-3 record, tied for second in the Atlantic Division of the ACC. Clemson's eight conference opponents had a combined record of 33-23, the best among the 12 league teams and seven wins more (26-30) than ACC champion Wake Forest's league opponents.

Clemson's season demonstrates how close the ACC is from a competition standpoint. Over the last 30 games, the Tigers have lost by more than six points just once, and that was at Virginia Tech this year on a Thursday night when the Tigers had just four days to prepare after an emotional victory over #13 Georgia Tech.

The accomplishments of this 2006 team were noteworthy because of the injuries the team had to overcome. Starting linebacker Tramaine Billie, Clemson's #2 tackler in 2005, was lost for the season with a broken ankle suffered in an August practice. Then, starting linebacker and preseason All-America candidate Anthony Waters suffered a torn ACL in the first game of the year and was lost for the season. His leadership was a big loss. An indication of what the players thought of him was demonstrated after the season when he was named one of the permanent team captains even though he played in just one game.

Starters Michael Hamlin, Rendrick Taylor, Chansi Stuckey, and Roman Fry all missed three games or more to further handicap the Tigers. A total of seven starters missed 40-player-games during the 2006 regular season.

Tommy Bowden's Tigers have had many significant team accomplishments this year. The team got off to a 7-1 start and was ranked #10 in the nation after defeating the Yellow Jackets, Clemson's highest ranking since 2000. They had recently defeated Virginia Tech and had lost by just four points to Notre Dame in the season-opener. Clemson defeated both teams (Wake Forest, Georgia Tech) that played in the ACC title game by double-digits. Clemson was the only team to defeat both teams.

Statistically, Clemson had one of its most impressive seasons in history. The Tigers and top-ranked Ohio State are the only teams in the nation in the top 15 in scoring offense, scoring defense, total offense, and total defense. Clemson and Louisiana State are the only schools in the country in the top 10 in the nation in yards per play on offense and yards per play allowed on defense.

The Tigers have outgained the opposition by 141.6 yards per game, the seventh-best margin in the nation. Clemson is also eighth in the nation in scoring margin (+18.6).

Clemson defeated #9 Florida State in Tallahassee in September, the first win for the Tigers at Florida State since 1989. The Tigers also downed #13 Georgia Tech on October 21, a weekend in which ESPN's College GameDay came to Tigertown for the first time. Clemson is one of 11 schools nationally to defeat two or more top-15 teams this year.

Offense

Clemson has had one of its most productive offenses in history. In fact, the Tigers lead the ACC in scoring offense, total offense, and rushing offense, the first time since 1978 that Clemson has led the ACC in those three categories in the same season. The Tigers average 33.8 points per game, a figure that is on pace to be the third-best average in school history. The total offense figure of 411 yards per game is on pace to be the fifth-best mark in Tiger history.

Clemson's most impressive offensive numbers are in terms of yards per play. The Tigers averaged 6.52 yards per play for the year, on pace to break the school record that has stood for over 50 years, and the seventh-best yards-per-play figure in the nation entering the bowl season. The existing standard is 6.16 yards per play (1950).

Clemson's rushing game has been outstanding, gaining 225.2 yards per game, fifth-best in the nation. It has been 11 years since Clemson was in the top 10 in the nation in rushing. The Tigers have had four 300-yard rushing games and six games with at least 200 yards. Clemson's 5.75 yards per carry is also at a record pace. Clemson is not only 6-0 this year when rushing for at least 200 yards, but 28-1 under Tommy Bowden.

Offensive Coordinator Rob Spence has used the talents of running backs James Davis and C.J. Spiller to his advantage. Davis was a First-Team All-ACC running back with 1,134 yards and an ACC-best 17 touchdowns. Spiller, a Second-Team All-ACC selection, has gained 914 yards on the ground and has 210 more on receptions. The duo has combined for 2,048 rushing yards, and the 170.7 yards per game is third-best in the nation and just eight total yards from setting a Tiger season record for two backs combined.

The duo hit its high point in the win over Georgia Tech. Davis had 216 yards on 21 carries and scored two touchdowns, while Spiller had 116 yards rushing on 16 carries and added a 50-yard touchdown reception. It marked the first time in school history that Clemson had a 200-yard rusher and a 100-yard rusher in the same game. Spiller became the first player in school history to have a 50-yard rushing touchdown and a 50-yard receiving touchdown in the same game. Davis was named the National Player-of-the-Week by the Walter Camp Foundation as well.

Davis needs just two rushing touchdowns to tie the ACC record for rushing touchdowns in a season. Spiller has a 7.4-yards-per-carry average, best by an ACC player since 1995 when Warrick Dunn, Spiller's favorite player growing up and the reason he wears #28, had a 7.5-yard average at Florida State. Spiller has six touchdown plays of 50 yards or more this year, a Clemson record for a season and just one off the school career record.

Reggie Merriweather is a senior running back who has been injured with an ankle problem much of the year, but the native of North Augusta, SC has over 1,600 career rushing yards, and he is in the top 20 in school history in rushing yards and total touchdowns (20).

While Clemson is known for its rushing game, it has had a solid passing game as well in 2006. The Tigers have a passing efficiency of 136.3, a figure that is third-best in Clemson history and best since 1989. The quarterback is Will Proctor, the starter in all 12 games. Proctor has a 135.0 passing efficiency for the season, sixth-best in school history, but his career mark of 136.9 is best in Clemson history.

Proctor, who graduated on December 21, is in his first year as a starter, but is a fifth-year senior. He threw for 343 yards in the overtime loss at Boston College, tied for the second-most passing yards in school history. He has thrown for 2,081 yards and 13 touchdowns along with a 60.4 completion percentage, all marks that are in the top six in school history for a season.

Proctor's favorite target is Stuckey, a graduate student. He is a two-time, First-Team All-ACC receiver, the first two-time, first-team Tiger since Perry Tuttle (1980,81). Stuckey had 45 receptions for 607 yards and three scores during the regular season even though he missed three games with a broken foot. He is second in the ACC in receptions per game and reception yards, and is in the top 10 in Clemson history in both categories.

The second-leading receiver is 6'5" target Aaron Kelly, a sophomore who is already in the top 25 in school history in career receptions (71). Kelly has 24 catches for 289 yards and two touchdowns in 2006. One of the scores was the game-tying score in the fourth quarter at Wake Forest on October 7, a score that led to Clemson's eventual victory.

Tyler Grisham is a sophomore who has 20 catches and two touchdowns, while Jacoby Ford is the top long threat with 14 catches for 179 yards, including a 76-yard touchdown reception from Proctor against South Carolina in the season-finale. Ford is also Clemson's top kick-return man.

Tight end Thomas Hunter had an outstanding senior year with 305 receiving yards, most by a Tiger tight end since Bennie Cunningham had 312 yards during the 1975 season. But, Hunter suffered a broken foot in practice on December 10 and will not play in the bowl game. Akeem Robinson, who has started nine games but does not have a reception, and Michael Palmer, a first-year freshman, will receive more playing time against Kentucky.

The offensive line would probably be characterized as the strength of the Clemson team. That was reflected in the All-ACC team this year, which included Barry Richardson and Nathan Bennett on the first team, and center Dustin Fry on the second team. It marked the first time since 1996 that Clemson had three offensive linemen on the two teams. Roman Fry, starting offensive guard, had made two midseason All-America teams and was on his way to a selection, but he suffered a torn ACL on the third play of the Georgia Tech game and was lost for the rest of the season.

Bennett was named a Third-Team AP All-American, the first Tiger offensive lineman in 10 years to be named to an AP All-America team. He has a team-best 91.5 knockdown blocks this year and was Clemson's highest-graded offensive lineman in five of the last six games. Richardson has 70.5 knockdown blocks, second-most on the team. The native of Mount Pleasant, SC will be an All-America candidate in 2007.

Dustin Fry is one of the leaders of the team from the center position. He played 666 snaps during the regular season, more than any other Tiger offensive lineman, and had 68.5 knockdown blocks. He has played the most snaps on the offensive line in 11 of the 12 games this year.

Marion Dukes and Chris McDuffie round out the starting line that has allowed just 11 sacks all year, third-best in the nation on a sacks-per-game-allowed basis. Dukes has started 35 consecutive games at tackle, the longest active streak by any Tiger. McDuffie took over at guard when Roman Fry was injured. McDuffie had 33.5 knockdown blocks over the last five games of the regular season, second only to Bennett.

Defense

Clemson's defense is in the top 15 in the nation in pass efficiency defense (4), total defense (12), and scoring defense (15). They are numbers the Tigers take pride in because Clemson has started just two seniors on defense for the course of the season (Adams at defensive end and Duane Coleman at cornerback).

The Tigers have held eight opponents under 300 yards of total offense, and Clemson has a perfect 8-0 record in those game. Nine teams have scored two touchdowns or less against the Tiger defense, and only one team (South Carolina) has gained over 332 yards against Clemson all year. Clemson has allowed just six touchdown passes all year, including just one in the last four games.

The leader of the defense is Adams. The native of Greenwood, SC is just the second unanimous All-American in Clemson history, joining Terry Kinard (1982), who is in the College Football Hall of Fame. Adams was a finalist for the Bronko Nagurski Award and the Ted Hendricks Award, and was named ACC Defensive Player-of-the-Year.

Adams has had a strong, consistent season. He leads the ACC and is ninth in the nation in sacks (10.5). He also has 15.5 tackles for loss to go with his 56 total tackles. At one stretch this year, he had at least one sack in eight straight games, a Clemson record by three games.

Most importantly, he repeatedly has come up with the big play in big games. He had 2.5 sacks in the win at #9 Florida State. He had a caused fumble, recovery, and then 66-yard run for a touchdown that turned the Wake Forest game in Clemson's favor on October 7. He had a pass deflection that led to an interception in the fourth quarter of the N.C. State game, and had another pass deflection that led to an 82-yard interception return for a touchdown against South Carolina.

Joining Adams up front are a group of young players, mostly sophomores. Phillip Merling is a starting defense end in his second year in the program. He has started all 12 games and has 41 tackles, including nine tackles for loss and 17 quarterback pressures. His tackle-for-loss total is third-most on the team, and his quarterback-pressure total is second-most.

The defensive interior features sophomore Dorell Scott, who has 45 stops for the year, second only to Adams among front-four players. Jock McKissic has also started all 12 games on the line and was the benefactor of Adams' deflection on his 82-yard interception return for a score against South Carolina, the longest interception return in Clemson history by a lineman.

Also seeing plenty of time on the defensive front are Rashaad Jackson (23 tackles and nine quarterback pressures), Donnell Clark (18 tackles in 12 games as a reserve), and Brandon Cannon (13 tackles, including three sacks). Two first-year freshmen are also in the mix at defensive end in Jamie Cumbie and Ricky Sapp. Sapp has four sacks this season, including a game-ending sack in the win over N.C. State. His four sacks have tied William Perry's school record for a first-year freshman.

The linebacker corps features two of Clemson's top-three tacklers. Nick Watkins leads the team with 108 stops for the season, including six tackles for loss. He has finished with a flurry, recording double-figure tackle games in each of his last three contests, including a 17-tackle performance against N.C. State. He is a very active player who has three interceptions, most by a Tiger linebacker in four seasons.

Antonio Clay has 93 stops for the year, including 9.5 tackles for loss, second-most on the team. He had 13 tackles in the win over #13 Georgia Tech, including three tackles for loss, and was named ACC Defensive Lineman-of-the-Week. Maurice Nelson is the third starter at linebacker and has 65 tackles this season.

The secondary is led by Coleman, an aggressive tackler and defender who has 81 tackles and three recovered fumbles. He is tied with Adams for second in the ACC in recovered fumbles. He was named ACC Defensive Back-of-the-Week for his 10-tackle performance at #9 Florida State. Coleman is a former running back who scored a rushing touchdown in the win over #6 Tennessee in the 2004 Peach Bowl.

Chris Clemons is a standout at safety as a sophomore. The native of Florida finished the year with 98 tackles, including 17 in the win over N.C. State to tie for the high-tackle figure by a Tiger in 2006.

C.J. Gaddis and Hamlin round out the starting lineup in the secondary. Gaddis played safety in 2005, but has moved to cornerback this year, and has two interceptions and 27 tackles to his credit. One of his interceptions came against South Carolina. Hamlin missed three games with a broken foot suffered on the artificial surface at Boston College.

He has 49 tackles, two interceptions, and two recovered fumbles this season.

Crezdon Butler is also a factor in the secondary as a first-year freshman. He has four takeaways for the season, including three interceptions to tie for the team-lead in both categories. Butler was named to the All-ACC freshman team by Sporting News.

Special Teams

Clemson returned starting punter Cole Chason and starting placekicker Jad Dean for a fourth year. Chason is one of the most improved punters in the nation, as he helped the Tigers to a #18 national ranking in net punting, up from 114th in 2005.

Chason is Clemson's career leader in punts (221), and his 41.1-yard average this year is an improvement of 4.7 yards per punt, the second-best, single-season improvement in Clemson history. He finished the regular season strong with a 44.5-yard net average against South Carolina in his final home game, the best net punting figure in his career (given a minimum of three punts). The Music City Bowl will be his 46th career start, a school record for a punter.

Dean has made 15-20 field goals this season and leads the ACC in kick scoring for the second consecutive year. He has 250 career points, sixth-most in Clemson history, and his 51 career field goals are fifth-most. He needs just three extra points in the Music City Bowl to reach 100 for his career and needs nine points to become the first player in school history with two 100-point seasons.

One area of concern for the Tigers on special teams has been kickoff coverage. Clemson is last in the ACC in that category and gives up an average of 24 yards per return. The opponents' average starting field position this year has been the 30, six yards worse than the 2005 season.

Ford leads the return game and is a big reason Clemson is third in the nation in kickoff returns. He had a 92-yard punt return for a touchdown against Florida Atlantic in his first career game and a 94-yard kickoff return for a touchdown against Louisiana Tech. He is the only player in the nation with a 90-yard punt return and a 90-yard kickoff return this year. Two services named him a second-team freshman All-American as a kick returner this year. Ford is also tied for second on the team in special teams tackles (9) and has averaged 17.6 yards every time he has touched the ball this season.

Clemson Bowl Notes

Bullet Notes on the 2006 Tigers

Overall

- Clemson is the only ACC team and one of just 11 teams nationally to record two wins over top-15 teams (at time of the game) in 2006. Tigers defeated #9 Florida State on the road and #13 Georgia Tech at home. Clemson was ranked #10 in the nation with a 7-1 record after a 31-7 win over Georgia Tech on October 21.
- Rated #24 in the Sagarin computer ratings entering the bowl season, including second among ACC teams (behind Virginia Tech).
- Only ACC team to defeat both teams that played in the 2006 ACC Championship game. Clemson handed Wake Forest and Georgia Tech two of their combined three league losses this year.
- Scored has 52 touchdowns (including six on returns), the second-highest total in school history.
- First ACC team to defeat Florida State three out of four years.
- Clemson and Ohio State are only teams in the nation in the top 15 in total offense, total defense, scoring offense, and scoring defense. It is the first Clemson team since 1978 to be in the top 15 in all four categories in the same season.
- Clemson and Louisiana State are only teams in the nation to be in the top 10 in the nation in fewest yards per play allowed on defense and most yards per play on offense.
- Has 14 touchdowns of 50 yards or more (offense and returns), a Clemson single-season record.
- Suffered just one loss by more than six points in 2006. Clemson has had just one loss by more than six points in the last 30 games. This 29-of-30 stretch is the best by Clemson since the 1980-84 era. Clemson had a streak of 26 ended by Virginia Tech. That was the best streak in 100 years.

Clemson-Kentucky Series

Kentucky holds a 7-4 advantage in the series with Clemson, but the Tigers have won two of the last three. Kentucky won the last regular-season meeting 26-7 in 1985, but Clemson won the meeting in the Peach Bowl 14-13 in Atlanta in 1993. Clemson won the regular-season meetings in 1981 and 1982, a two-year home-and-home series.

The first meeting took place in 1925 and the Wildcats won in Lexington 19-6. The first six games of the series were played in Lexington, and Kentucky won five of the six. The greatest upset in the series took place in 1929 when Kentucky defeated a 6-0 Tiger squad 44-6 in Lexington.

In the 1985 game, Clemson had seven turnovers, including four fumbles and three interceptions. It tied for the most turnovers by a Danny Ford-coached Clemson team in his 11 years as head coach. The Tigers gained just 230 yards of total offense that October 5 night in Lexington, while Kentucky had 309 yards. Reserve quarterback Kevin Dooley completed 15-23 passes for 142 yards and a touchdown to place the Wildcat offense, while Joe Worley kicked four field goals. Brian Williams returned a punt 57 yards for a score as well.

Ray Williams provided the only spark for Clemson on offense with a 25-yard run for a third-quarter touchdown. Randy Anderson and Rodney Williams, Clemson's young quarterbacks, completed just 10-24 passes for 92 yards. Clemson dropped to 1-3 with the loss, then Ford moved Williams, a freshman, into the starting lineup the next week against Virginia. Williams went on to win 32 games as the starting quarterback, most in ACC history.

Clemson defeated Kentucky in 1982 at Clemson by a 24-6 score and in 1981, Clemson's National Championship season, by a 21-3 score. Cliff Austin scored three touchdowns and ran for 116 yards on the ground to pace the offense to the 1982 win. Mike Eppley made his first career start and completed 9-13 passes for 95 yards.

Kentucky stymied the Clemson offense for the first half in 1981 and led 3-0 at halftime. But the Tigers stormed back for 21 second-half points behind touchdowns by Kevin Mack, Homer Jordan, and Chuck McSwain. Clemson held Kentucky to 97 second-half yards. The Tigers ran their record to 4-0 with the win and moved into the top 10 in the polls for the first time since 1959 after the victory.

Last Meeting in Peach Bowl

Heading into the 1993 Peach Bowl against Kentucky, Clemson owned the seventh-best bowl winning percentage in history (61.1). The Tigers upped that percentage in an exciting way, with a 14-13 victory over the Wildcats. Tommy West also became the first coach in NCAA history to win his first game for a school in a bowl game without serving as a coach in that program during the regular season.

A tandem of running backs who hailed from Pensacola, FL led the Tiger rushing attack, as starting tailback Rodney Blunt rushed for a season-high 58 yards on 15 carries to lead the team. But, it was red-shirt freshman fullback Emory Smith who was named the Tigers' Offensive MVP, as he rushed for 45 yards, including a two-yard touchdown run.

After taking over at its own two, quarterback Dexter McCleon engineered a 98-yard scoring drive that culminated in a one-yard run by Smith.

The Wildcats drove back down the field on their next possession, this time reaching the Clemson one again, where they decided to go for it on fourth down. The Clemson defense held once again, as defensive tackle Brentson Buckner stopped the ball carrier for no gain. Buckner was named Defensive MVP of the Peach Bowl after tallying 12 tackles, including three tackles for loss, in his final game at Clemson. Buckner became just the fourth Tiger defensive lineman in the last eight years to total at least 12 tackles in a game.

The Tigers were forced to punt after taking over at the one, and Kentucky got on the scoreboard with a 34-yard field goal by Nicky Nickles. The score heading into the half stood at 7-3.

Neither squad scored in the third quarter, and barely into the fourth quarter, Kentucky took the lead with a 46-yard touchdown drive. After an interception, the Wildcats upped their lead to 13-7 on a 43-yard scoring drive, culminating in another field goal.

With time running down in the fourth quarter, quarterback Patrick Sapp came off the bench. The two teams exchanged punts before the Tigers got the ball at their own 18 with 3:50 left. On the first play of the drive, Sapp threw a screen pass to Emory Smith, who rumbled for 57 yards.

With under a minute left, Kentucky linebacker Marty Moore intercepted Sapp's pass. But on the return, Stacy Seegars jarred the ball loose and Brent LeJeune recovered for Clemson. With 20 seconds left, Sapp connected with Terry Smith on a 21-yard score and Nelson Welch kicked the PAT for the win. Smith finished with four receptions for 56 yards and that final touchdown of his career.

Clemson Won Two of Last Three on Hardwood

Clemson and Kentucky have not met in football since 1993, but the two teams have met in basketball since then. Kentucky has a 12-4 advantage in the basketball series, but most fans would be surprised to know that Clemson has won two of the last three meetings on the basketball court. Both the wins were in overtime and are among the landmark victories in Clemson history.

Clemson won in the 1979 NIT in Rupp Arena by a 68-67 score in the first round of that event. A crowd of 23,522 fans attended the game, still the largest crowd to witness an NIT game. Clemson was coached by Bill Foster and the Wildcats by Joe B. Hall. Kentucky was the defending NCAA Champion, but Clemson pulled off the upset behind Billy Williams, who had 16 points.

Clemson won the next meeting in the opening game of college basketball in 1996-97. The Tigers gained a 79-71 overtime win in the Hoosier Dome in Indianapolis in front of 32,250 fans. Harold Jamison led the Tigers with 20 points, while Greg Buckner, currently with the Dallas Mavericks, had 13 points and seven assists. Kentucky was again the defending NCAA Champion and ranked #3 in the nation entering the contest. It is the highest-ranked, non-conference victory in Clemson history. That Kentucky team went on to the NCAA finals.

Kentucky won the last meeting (76-61) on the hardwood between the two schools, a meeting of top-12 teams in Phoenix, AZ in November of 1997.

Clemson's Bowl History

Clemson has a rich bowl tradition. The Tigers have a 15-13 record in bowl games, and the 15 bowl victories are in a tie for 17th-most in NCAA history with Florida and Washington. Clemson's first bowl game was the 1940 Cotton Bowl when the Tigers defeated Frank Leahy and Boston College 6-3.

Clemson's appearance in the Music City Bowl will be the 12th different bowl game the Tigers have played in. Clemson has a 7-4 record the first time it appears in a bowl.

Clemson has beaten some of the top programs in college football history in bowl games. The list of schools Clemson has beaten in a bowl game includes prominent programs Colorado, Miami (FL), Nebraska, Ohio State, Oklahoma, Penn State, Stanford, Tennessee, and West Virginia.

Clemson won its first three bowl games, wins over Boston College, Missouri, and Miami (FL). The three coaches Clemson defeated in those games were Leahy, Don Faurot, and Andy Gustafson, and all three are in the College Football Hall of Fame.

Clemson has a football program that has been steady over the years in bowl games, no matter who has been head coach. No less than six different head coaches (Jess Neely, Frank Howard, Danny Ford, Ken Hatfield, Tommy West, and Tommy Bowden) have won bowl games for the Tigers.

Overall, eight of Clemson's 15 bowl victories have come against coaches who are in the College Football Hall of Fame. Clemson has four bowl victories over coaches who are in the 200-victory club. Woody Hayes of Ohio State, Tom Osborne of Nebraska, Joe Paterno of Penn State, and Don Nehlen of West Virginia are all coaches with at least 200 wins who lost bowl games to Clemson.

Clemson has bowl wins over some of the greatest coaches in college football history:

- Frank Leahy, the second-winningest coach in college football history on a winning-percentage basis, when Clemson defeated Boston College in the 1940 Cotton Bowl.
- Joe Paterno of Penn State, the second-winningest coach in Division I history on a total-wins basis, when Clemson defeated Penn State 35-10 in the 1988 Citrus Bowl. It is still his largest margin of defeat in a bowl game, who is the winningest coach in history in terms of victories in bowl games.
- Woody Hayes of Ohio State, the ninth-winningest coach in college football history (Division I) on a total-victories basis, when Clemson defeated the Buckeyes 17-15 in the 1978 Gator Bowl, Hayes' last game as a coach.
- Barry Switzer of Oklahoma, the fourth-winningest coach in Division I college football history on a winning-percentage basis, when Clemson defeated Oklahoma in 1989 Citrus Bowl, Switzer's final game as a college coach.
- Tom Osborne of Nebraska, the seventh-winningest coach in college football (Division I) history on a total-wins basis, when Clemson defeated the Cornhuskers in the 1982 Orange Bowl, which gave the Tigers their only national title.
- Don Nehlen of West Virginia, the 14th-winningest coach in Division I history when the Tigers downed the Mountaineers 27-7 in the 1989 Gator Bowl.
- Phillip Fulmer of Tennessee, the fourth-winningest active coach on a percentage basis in Division I, when the Tigers defeated #6 Tennessee 27-14 in the 2004 Peach Bowl.

Clemson in Nashville for First Time Since 1960

This will be Clemson's first appearance in Nashville since the 1960 season. The Tigers have played four games at Vanderbilt over the years (1905, 1908, 1958, 1960). Clemson's only win in Nashville came in 1958, an exciting 12-7 victory over the Commodores. Harvey White scored the game-winning touchdown with just three seconds left for the win. It is still the latest game-winning touchdown in Clemson history in a game decided in regulation. James Davis' score with eight seconds left to beat #9 Florida State this year is the second latest.

Tigers Have a Nashville Native

Clemson has one player on its team from Nashville, TN...safety Chris Russell, who attended Hillsboro High. He helped that high school to a 50-6 record during his career when he was a PrepStar All-American. He was rated as the top defensive back in Tennessee by SuperPrep coming out of high school. He attended Colorado and Coffeyville (KS) Community College before coming to Clemson.

This year, Russell has 11 tackles in 160 defensive snaps. He has played in all 12 games for the Tigers' top-15 total defense. He has three pass breakups. He had three tackles in 34 plays in the opening game against Florida Atlantic.

Clemson & Nashville/Vanderbilt Connections

The following list is courtesy of former Clemson Executive Secretary of IPTAY George Bennett, who worked for many years in the Nashville area, first as the athletic fundraiser at Vanderbilt, and later as a fundraiser for a hospital in Nashville.

- Jess Neely coached football at Clemson from the 1931-39 seasons and was later the athletic director at Vanderbilt. Neely is one of three Clemson football coaches who were Vanderbilt graduates. The others are John Stone, Clemson head coach in 1908 who was Vanderbilt class of '08, and Josh Cody, Clemson head coach from 1927-30 who was Vanderbilt class of '17. Neely was from the Vanderbilt class of '23.
- Clemson has played Vanderbilt four times in Nashville. The Tigers are 1-3 in the city, with the only win coming in 1958.
- Current Vanderbilt Head Coach Bobby Johnson played football as a Tiger and is a 1972 Clemson graduate.

- Current Nashville businessman Stuart McWhorter was the Tiger mascot in 1988.
- Ashley Gatlin, daughter of Steve Gatlin (The Gatlin Brothers), was president of her Tri-Delta sorority her senior year at Clemson and was "The Greek-of-the-Year."
- George MacIntyre, former Vanderbilt football coach, was an assistant coach at Clemson under Hootie Ingram.
- Mark Fellers was the quarterback on the 1974 Clemson football team that went 7-4. He is also a resident of Nashville.
- Dr. Ed Glenn, a Nashville orthopedic surgeon, was a tight end on the 1993 Clemson Peach Bowl team that beat Kentucky. He was also the recipient of the Jim Tatum Award, which is annually awarded to the ACC's top all-around student-athlete (football player).
- John Scott, son of Clemson Assistant Head Coach Brad Scott, is a first-year medical school student at Vanderbilt. He also graduated from Harvard, where he played football.

Dabo Swinney Coached in Music City Bowl

One member of the Clemson coaching staff has coached in the Music City Bowl. Clemson Wide Receivers Coach Dabo Swinney was an Alabama assistant coach when the Crimson Tide met Virginia Tech in the first Music City Bowl during the 1998 season. The game was played in an ice storm and did not bring fond memories that night for Swinney, as his Crimson Tide team lost to Frank Beamer's Hokies.

Tigers Who Have Played in a Bowl Game

Clemson will have the advantage in this game in terms of bowl participation. Clemson has 38 players on its roster who have played in a bowl game, while Kentucky has none. This will be the Wildcats' first appearance in a bowl game since the 1999 season.

The list of active Tigers who have played in a bowl game includes 13 players who have participated in two different bowl games. The 13 players who have played in two bowl games are Gaines Adams, Nathan Bennett, Cole Chason, Duane Coleman, Jad Dean, Dustin Fry, Roman Fry, Sergio Gilliam, Thomas Hunter, Reggie Merriweather, Maurice Nelson, Brandon Pilgrim, and Anthony Waters. Roman Fry, Hunter, and Waters will not play in the Music City Bowl against Kentucky due to injury.

Clemson has 15 players on its roster who have started a bowl game. All 15 players started in last year's Champs Sports Bowl. The only active Tiger who has started two is punter Cole Chason, who started in Clemson's win over #6 Tennessee in the 2004 Peach Bowl and last year's Champs Sports Bowl.

Clemson has eight players on offense (Barry Richardson, Dustin Fry, Bennett, Marion Dukes, Aaron Kelly, La'Donte Harris, James Davis, and Chansi Stuckey) who started in last year's Champs Sports Bowl against Colorado. There are five defensive players on the current Tiger roster who started last year (Jock McKissic, Adams, Nick Watkins, Michael Hamlin, and Coleman). Chason and Dean also started in last year's Champs Sports Bowl.

Tigers Have Two Top-15 Wins

Clemson had two victories over top-15 teams this year, one of 11 schools across the nation who can make that claim. The Tigers won at #9 Florida State on September 16, then defeated a #13 Georgia Tech at Memorial Stadium on October 21. The Tigers were the only ACC team to defeat Georgia Tech in the regular season.

Clemson also had a 27-17 victory at Wake Forest, the 2006 ACC Champion, on October 7. Wake Forest is 11-2 and ranked in the top 15 in the nation entering the bowl season. It marked the second straight year Clemson defeated the ACC Champion by double digits. Clemson downed Florida State last year 35-14 during the regular season before they beat Virginia Tech for the ACC title.

Clemson and Virginia Tech were the only ACC teams to gain a pair of wins over top-15 teams during the regular season.

Clemson has now won four consecutive games against top-20 opponents over the last two seasons. Clemson defeated top-20 teams from Florida State (#16) and South Carolina (#19) to end the 2005 regular season.

Clemson in the Polls

Clemson was ranked #24 in the nation in both polls entering the regular-season finale against South Carolina, but the Tigers fell out of the rankings when it lost to the Gamecocks by three points.

Clemson was the highest-ranked ACC team in all three polls for four weeks at midseason, a streak that ended with Clemson's 24-7 loss at Virginia Tech. The Tigers were #10 in the nation in the polls and #12 in the BCS standings entering the Virginia Tech game. Clemson's top-10 ranking after the win over #13 Georgia Tech was its first since October 29, 2000, when Clemson was #10 in the AP poll.

The win on September 16 over #9 Florida State was the second-highest ranked team Clemson has ever beaten on the road. The only win that is ranked higher is the 10-8 win over #8 North Carolina in 1981.

Clemson was ranked in the top 25 in 11 of the 15 polls in 2006. The Tigers are looking for a third top-25 finish in the last five years.

Clemson's ACC Stat Champions

Clemson leads the ACC in 11 different team categories and four individual categories this year. Clemson leads the league in total offense, scoring offense, and rushing offense, the first time since 1978 that Clemson has led the ACC in all three areas in the same year. It is the first time Clemson has led the ACC in scoring since 1988 and the first time Clemson has led in total offense since 1991.

On special teams, Clemson leads the ACC in kickoff returns with a 26.5-yard average. This marks the fourth time in the last six years that Clemson has led the ACC in kickoff returns.

Individually, James Davis, Jad Dean, and Gaines Adams lead the league in at least one category. Davis leads the conference in touchdowns (17) and in scoring (8.5). Dean leads the ACC in kick scoring (7.6) for the second straight year, while Adams leads in sacks (0.88).

Clemson Played Toughest ACC Schedule

Clemson played the toughest ACC schedule in 2006. The combined record of Clemson's conference opponents when not playing against the Tigers was 33-23, one game better than Maryland's 32-24 mark. The Tigers had to play each of the Atlantic Division schools, plus had to face Georgia Tech and Virginia Tech, the top two teams in the Coastal Division.

Clemson was the only Atlantic Division team that had to play Georgia Tech and Virginia Tech, and the Tigers had to do it five days apart in October. Clemson was the only ACC team in the regular season to defeat the Yellow Jackets, a game it won on October 21 at home. The Tigers lost at Virginia Tech the following Thursday night on the road, a difficult task for all ACC teams this year. The road team was 0-6 this year in conference games played on Thursday nights.

Clemson defeated both Wake Forest and Georgia Tech this year, the only ACC team to defeat the two teams who played in the ACC title game. Those two teams had just three ACC losses in the regular season, and two were to Clemson.

Clemson's league opponents won 33 of 56 games when not playing Clemson, seven fewer than conference champion Wake Forest, whose opponents had a 26-30 record when not playing the Demon Deacons.

ACC's Toughest Conference Schedules

Tigers Suffered One-Point Losses

Clemson suffered a 13-12 loss to Maryland in Death Valley on November 11 when the Terrapins' Dan Ennis booted a 31-yard field goal on the last play of the game. This marked the second time this year that Clemson lost a game by one point. Boston College defeated the Tigers in double overtime 34-33 in the second game of the season.

This is the first time in Clemson history that the Tigers have lost two games by one point in the same season. It is the second straight year Clemson has played two one-point games. In 2005, Clemson won the season-opener 25-24 over #17 Texas A&M, then lost at midseason at Georgia Tech 10-9. Prior to the loss at Georgia Tech last year, Clemson had won five consecutive games decided by one point dating to a 1985 loss at North Carolina (21-20).

Prior to the Maryland game, Clemson had not lost a game decided by one point at Memorial

Clemson Bowl Notes

Stadium since a 22-21 loss to South Carolina in the final game of the 1984 season. Clemson has a 23-18 all-time record in games decided by one point, including a 5-3 record at home.

The run of games decided by one-point is unusual. Clemson has just five losses over its last 19 games, and three of the five have been by one point. Clemson went 130 consecutive games between 1994-05 without a game decided by one point and now has had four over the last two years, including three over the last 17 games.

Clemson now has nine losses over the last 30 games, and eight of the nine have been by six points or less. This is just the second time in the last 100 years that Clemson has gone a 30-game stretch with just one loss by seven points or more. The only other time was a 39-game streak between 1980-84. That includes Clemson's National Championship season of 1981.

Tigers Pitch Shutout Against Louisiana Tech

Clemson's defense pitched a shutout in the 51-0 win over Louisiana Tech. That was the first shutout for Clemson since the 2000 season-opener when it shut out The Citadel 38-0. It was also the first shutout by the Tigers against a Division I opponent since a 23-0 victory against Maryland in 1998.

Who Was the Top Freshman vs. Louisiana Tech?

Clemson played 21 freshmen in the win over Louisiana Tech, including 13 red-shirt and eight first-year freshmen. Many made significant contributions to the 51-0 Tiger victory. Here is a rundown of some of the accomplishments by the Tiger rookies against the Bulldogs:

- Running back C.J. Spiller had 15 rushes for 127 yards and a touchdown
- Running back Demerick Chancellor had 11 rushes for 113 yards
- Wide receiver Jacoby Ford had a 94-yard kickoff return for a touchdown and had two special teams tackles on kickoff returns
- Offensive guard Thomas Austin graded 92 percent and had 5.5 knockdown blocks in just 12 plays
- Linebacker Kavell Conner led Clemson in tackles with seven even though he was on the field for just 16 snaps
- Cornerback Crezdon Butler had two interceptions for 35 return yards, had three total passes defended and five unassisted tackles; he also led the team in first hits
- Defensive end Ricky Sapp had a 15-yard sack

Tigers Overcome 14-Point Deficit

Clemson overcame a 14-point fourth-quarter deficit to defeat Wake Forest 27-17 on October 7 in Winston-Salem. It marked just the third time in Clemson history that the Tigers overcame a 14-point deficit in the fourth quarter to gain victory. The other two occurrences took place on the road as well, including at Duke in 2002 and at Virginia in 1980. Two of the three 14-point, fourth-quarter comebacks have come under Tommy Bowden.

Clemson scored 24 points in the fourth quarter at Wake Forest, its highest-scoring fourth quarter since the 2002 Duke game when it also had 24 points.

Gaines Adams began the comeback when he jarred the ball loose from Wake Forest holder Jon Temple. The ball popped into the air, then Adams caught the ball in midair, and raced 66 yards for a touchdown to bring Clemson within 17-10. After a Wake Forest fumble that was forced on a sack by senior Brandon Cannon and recovered by senior Donnell Clark, Clemson drove 43 yards in five plays to tie the score 17-17 with 11:09 left on a 20-yard touchdown pass from Will Proctor to Aaron Kelly.

Clemson then took the lead with 7:22 remaining on a 72-yard touchdown run by freshman C.J. Spiller. Jad Dean added a 23-yard field goal with 1:12 left to account for the final 10-point margin.

The 14-point comeback tied for the fourth-biggest in Clemson history based on total points trailed at any time in a contest. The record is a 28-point comeback at Virginia in 1992. Clemson trailed in the first half of that game 28-0, then won the game 29-28.

Clemson has nine comebacks from at least a 14-point deficit at any time in a game, and four of the nine have been coached by Bowden.

Tigers, Buckeyes in Top 15 in Offense & Defense

One statistic shows Clemson's outstanding performance on offense and defense this year. Clemson is in the top 15 in the nation in scoring offense, total offense, scoring defense, and total defense, the four major statistical categories. Clemson is ninth in the nation in scoring offense, 13th in total offense, 12th in scoring defense, and 15th in total defense. This is the first time since 1978 that Clemson has been in the top 15 in all four areas in the same season, and that is the only other season it has happened in Clemson history.

Only one other school in the nation is in the top 15 in all four categories this year. That is top-ranked Ohio State. The Buckeyes are seventh in scoring, 15th in total offense, 13th in scoring defense, and second in total defense.

Offense Over 2,000 Yards in Both Areas

Clemson went over the 2,000-yard passing mark in its win over N.C. State on November 11. This year's team has over 2,000 yards passing and over 2,000 yards rushing entering the bowl game. This is just the third Tiger team in history to record over 2,000 yards rushing and 2,000 yards passing in the same year. Clemson now has 2,702 rushing and 2,238 passing.

The only other teams to go over 2,000 yards in both categories in the same year are the 2000 and 2001 teams. All three teams that have had at least 2,000 yards of each have been coached by Tommy Bowden.

If Clemson can total 262 yards passing against Kentucky, it would give Clemson just its second season of 2,500 yards in both categories. The 2000 team accomplished that feat.

In terms of total offense, Clemson has 4,940 yards for the season and needs just 60 yards in the bowl game to reach the 5,000-yard mark. It will be just the fifth team in Clemson history to reach 5,000 yards. The others were the teams of 2003 (5,467), 2000 (5,242), 2001 (5,184), and 1978 (5,134). Clemson would need 528 yards against Kentucky to establish a school record for total offense in a season on a total yardage basis.

Top 10 in Yards Per Play on Offense & Defense

Clemson is in the top 10 in the nation in yards per play on both sides of the football this year. Clemson and Louisiana State are the only two schools in the nation in the top 10 in nation in most yards per play accumulated on offense and fewest yards per play allowed on defense. Clemson has a better yards per play on offense and defense than both of the teams in the BCS National Championship Game (Ohio State, Florida).

Clemson has allowed just 4.16 yards per play on defense, fourth-best in the nation, trailing only Virginia Tech, Louisiana State, and Wisconsin. On offense, Clemson is seventh in the nation, averaging 6.52 yards per play. That figure is far ahead of the Clemson record pace of 6.16 yards per play in 1950.

Clemson Averaging 33.8 Points Per Game

Clemson opened the season with a 54-6 win over Florida Atlantic, then defeated North Carolina in the ACC opener by a score of 52-7. The Tigers downed Louisiana Tech 51-0 the next game, then scored a season-high 63 points in a 63-9 win over Temple in Charlotte, NC.

The previous record for 50-point scoring games in a season was three, set by the 1950 Tigers who finished the year with a 9-0-1 record and top-10 ranking, and the 2000 Clemson team under Tommy Bowden, who finished 9-3 with a #14 national ranking. That was a 50-year time span for the 50-point scoring record until this year.

Clemson is near its record scoring average of 34.7 set in 2000. If the season ended today, that would be the third-best scoring average in the modern era. Clemson is currently ninth in the nation and first in the ACC with 33.8 points per game. Clemson's best national finish in scoring offense in fifth, a finish the 1978 Tigers had when they averaged 31.9 points per game in the regular season.

Clemson has scored 52 touchdowns, the second-most in school history behind the 55 scored in by the 2000 team. Clemson has 31 touchdowns rushing, 15 passing, and six on returns.

Tigers Had Consecutive 50-Point Games

Clemson was first in the nation in scoring five games into the 2006 season with 42.4 points per game. The Tigers have four 50-point games in the bank this season, including a 54-6 season-opening victory against Florida Atlantic, a 52-7 victory over North Carolina, a 51-0 triumph over Louisiana Tech, and a 63-9 win over Temple. This is the first Clemson team in history with four 50-point games in one season.

The victories over North Carolina and Louisiana Tech came in consecutive games, the first time Clemson has scored at least 50 points in consecutive games since the 2000 season when the Tigers defeated Missouri 62-9 and Wake Forest 55-7. That was Tommy Bowden's second season as Clemson's head coach, and the wins took place during the Tigers' 8-0 start to that season. This was just the second time in Clemson history the Tigers have scored at least 50 points in consecutive games. Obviously, Tommy Bowden has been the head coach both times it has occurred.

Clemson has scored at least 50 points in three home games this season, the first time the Tigers have had three consecutive 50-point scoring games at home since the last two games of 1950 and the first home game of 1951. Clemson defeated Duquesne 53-20 and Furman 57-2 in the last two home games of 1950, then downed Presbyterian 53-6 in the home-opener of 1951.

Clemson #7 in Nation in Total Offense Margin

Clemson is in the top 10 in the nation this season in scoring margin and total offense margin. The Tigers are seventh in total offense margin, outgaining the opposition by 141.6 yards per game. That would be the third-best total offense margin over the course of a season if the season ended today. Clemson has outscored its opposition by 18.6 points per game this year, best in the ACC and eighth-best in the nation.

Clemson on Record Pace in Yards Per Play

Many expected offensive production to go down across the nation this year due to the changes in the use of the clock in college football. With anticipated reduction in the number of plays, teams would have a reduction in offense and production according to statistical logic.

But, Clemson has averaged 411 yards per game this year, a figure that would be fifth-best in Clemson history if the season ended today. Clemson has averaged 63 plays per game this year, down from 69 per game last year. Clemson has averaged 6.52 yards per play this season, a figure that would be the best in Tiger history if the season ended today. The existing record is 6.16 yards per play in 1950, so we are talking about a 56-year-old record.

It is interesting to note that five of the six best yards-per-play seasons in Clemson history have come under Tommy Bowden's watch.

Tigers Averaging 6.52 Yards Per Play

Clemson has averaged 6.52 yards per play on offense this year, a school-record pace. Breaking that mark would be quite an accomplishment considering the existing record was set in the 1950 season when Frank Howard's Tigers averaged 6.16 yards per play.

Clemson is also on a record pace in terms of rushing yards. It is averaging 5.7 yards per carry this season, led by C.J. Spiller's 7.4 average, Demerick Chancellor's 6.1 figure, and James Davis' 5.8 mark. The existing record is 5.25 set by the 1950 team.

Twice this year Clemson has averaged over nine yards per play, the fourth and fifth-best games in school history. Clemson averaged 9.07 yards a play against Louisiana Tech and 9.6 yards per play in the win over Temple. The record is 11.18 yards per play when Clemson had 615 yards on 55 plays in 1903 against Georgia Tech. John Heisman was in his last year as Clemson head coach before leaving to go to Georgia Tech.

Clemson's rushing game was the big contributor to that high per-play average against Louisiana Tech. Clemson had 41 rushes for 393 yards, an average of 9.59 yards per carry. Clemson averaged more yards per rush than it did per pass attempt in that game.

Clemson's 9.59 yards per rush was the third-best figure in Clemson history and the best since 1945 when Clemson averaged 10.3 yards per rush in a victory over Presbyterian.

Clemson Rushing Among Top Five in the Nation

Clemson jumped into the 10 in the nation in rushing after its back-to-back 300-yard performances in victories over North Carolina and Louisiana Tech, and a 214-yard game against Wake Forest.

Clemson had 324 yards rushing against North Carolina on September 23, then trumped that with 393 yards rushing against Louisiana Tech. That was the best rushing performance by a Tiger team since the 2000 season, when the Tigers rushed for 436 yards against Wake Forest. This was the first time since that same 2000 season that Clemson had back-to-back 300-yard rushing games. The four consecutive 200-yard games was also a first since a seven-game streak in 2000.

The Tigers had 321 yards rushing against #13 Georgia Tech, a team that was seventh in the nation in rushing defense entering the game. Clemson is fifth in the nation in rushing entering the bowl season. The Tigers average 225.2 yards per game.

Rushing for 300 yards usually means victory for the Tigers. Over the years, Clemson is 103-3-1 when rushing for at least 300 yards. Actually, gaining just 200 yards is a very positive sign for the Tigers under Tommy Bowden. The Tigers are 28-1 under Bowden when they rush for at least 200 yards and have won 25 consecutive games when rushing for at least 200 yards. The only loss took place at Georgia Tech in 1999.

Clemson Has Many Big Plays

Clemson has been a team of big plays this year. Counting offensive plays and all returns, Clemson has 14 touchdown plays of 50 yards or more this year. They have been accomplished on six running plays, four pass plays, a fumble return, and interception return, a punt return, and a kickoff return. The 14 touchdown plays of 50 yards or more is a Clemson single-season record. The previous record was 10 in 2001.

Clemson had three such plays in the loss to South Carolina. Jacoby Ford scored on a 76-yard touchdown pass from Will Proctor on Clemson's first possession of the game. C.J. Spiller then raced 80 yards for a touchdown on Clemson's second possession. It was the longest run by a Tiger in 13 years. Later in the first half, Jock McKissic ran 82 yards on an interception return for a touchdown. It was the first time in history that Clemson scored three touchdowns of 50 yards or more in a half.

A look to the offensive play chart shows that Clemson has had 58 plays of 20 yards or more this season, compared to just 18 for the opposition. The Tigers have 25 runs of 20 yards or more compared to just seven for the opposition. The Tigers have 33 pass plays of 20 yards or more compared to 14 for the opposition.

James Davis leads the team in plays of 20 yards or more with 13, including 11 rushes and two receptions. Chansi Stuckey and C.J. Spiller are tied for second with nine plays of 20 yards or more.

Spiller has seven rushes and two receptions, while all nine of Stuckey's are receptions.

Clemson Productive in Red Zone

Clemson has scored a touchdown 63.6 percent of the time this year when it has a red zone possession. Clemson has had 44 red zone possession and have scored a touchdown 28 times. That 63.6 percentage is second-best by the Tigers under Tommy Bowden. The 2001 team with Woodrow Dantzler had a 71.1-percent figure. The Tigers have also scored 12 field goals, meaning Clemson has scored on 40 of its 44 red zone possessions this year.

Tigers Third in the Nation in Sacks Allowed

Clemson has a veteran offensive line, starting three seniors and two juniors. Barry Richardson was the only non-senior in the group, but when Roman Fry suffered a torn ACL against Georgia Tech, junior Chris McDuffie moved into the lineup. The group is a big reason Clemson is in the top five in the nation in rushing offense and scoring offense, and is third in fewest sacks allowed. Clemson quarterbacks have been sacked just 11 times all year.

Fry, one of the seniors, suffered a torn ACL against Georgia Tech and was lost for the season. He has been replaced by McDuffie, who has been first or second in knockdown blocks in each of the four games he has started since Fry's injury.

The line was honored with three players named to the two All-ACC teams. Nathan Bennett and Barry Richardson were both named First-Team All-ACC, while center Dustin Fry was a second-team pick. It marked the first time since 1996 that Clemson had three different offensive linemen named to All-ACC teams. That was also the last time Clemson had two first-team selections on the offensive line.

Many Happy Returns

Twice this year, Clemson has had two returns for touchdowns in the same game. In the season-opener against Florida Atlantic, Jacoby Ford raced 92 yards for a touchdown on a punt return, the longest punt return in Clemson history. In the same game, senior Sergio Gilliam took a fumble back 31 yards for a score.

In the fifth game of the year against Louisiana Tech, Ford had a 94-yard kickoff return for a touchdown and Nick Watkins ran back an interception 26 yards for a score. Then in the most important return of the year and possibly in many seasons, Gaines Adams returned a fumble 66 yards for a score in the victory at Wake Forest.

A sixth return for score came against South Carolina in the season-finale. Adams tipped a Blake Mitchell pass at the line of scrimmage, and Jock McKissic intercepted and raced 82 yards for a touchdown. It was the longest interception return for a score by a Tiger lineman in history.

With the six returns for touchdowns, this 2006 Clemson team is second in school history in this category for a season. Only the 1990 team that led the nation in total defense had more with seven returns for touchdowns.

Accomplishments of Clemson's Seniors

The Gaylord Hotels Music City Bowl is the final game for Clemson's 20 seniors. Here is a rundown of some of the accomplishments for this senior class of 2006:

- The group has a four-year record of 31-17. The 64.6 winning percentage associated with that record is the best by any Clemson senior class since Brentton Buckner's senior class had a 71.3 winning percentage (33-13-1) between 1990-93. That 1993 senior class finished their careers with a Peach Bowl win over Kentucky.
- A victory in the Music City Bowl would give the group 32 wins, tied for the most by a senior class since 1993. The 2003 Clemson seniors posted a 32-18 record for their four seasons combined, but they have the opportunity of playing 50 games. This class will play just 49.
- The Tigers have already won eight games this year, and combined with the eight wins in 2005, this is the first time since the 1986-91 era that Clemson has won at least eight games in consecutive seasons. Clemson and Georgia Tech are the only two ACC schools who have not had a losing season in conference play over the last four years. (Of course we are only counting the ACC schools who have been in the league for all four years.)
- A bowl victory this year would give the group a 3-0 record in bowl games. No Clemson class has won three bowl games since the seniors of 1991, and it has a chance to be the first Clemson class since 1990 to go undefeated in bowl games.
- This senior group has already been a part of two teams that have finished the year in the top 25 of both polls, and a third top-25 finish would also be a first for a Clemson class since the 1993 seniors.
- This class was the first class in ACC history to defeat Florida State three times.
- Has a 3-1 record against state-rival South Carolina.
- This class stands out when it comes to wins over ranked opponents. The class has nine wins over top-25 teams in its four years, just one shy of the

Clemson Bowl Notes

Tiger record for top-25 wins in a four-year period. The seniors of 1989, 1990, and 1991 had 10 top-25 wins apiece. However, this group has eight top-20 wins and four top-10 wins. This class is tied for the school record in each category. The seniors of 1983 and 1989 had eight top-20 wins, and the seniors of 1983 and 2004 had four top-10 wins. How impressive is four wins over top-10 teams in one four-year period? Danny Ford's last six senior classes in the 1980s, when Clemson had the nation's fifth-best record, never had more than one. This group has actually won each of its last four contests against top-20 opponents. It is the first time in 17 seasons that Clemson has won four straight games over top-20 teams. The recent run of top-20 wins includes the win at #9 Florida State this year, Clemson's first win in Tallahassee since 1989.

Clemson Played 20 Freshmen in Opener

Clemson's 2006 freshman class was regarded as among the best at Clemson in many years and among the best in the nation according to many services. Eight first-year freshmen played in the opener against Florida Atlantic and 12 more red-shirt freshmen saw playing time. Clemson played seven first-year freshmen at Boston College and six against Florida State.

In the last 25 years (including 2006), Clemson has played 140 first-year freshmen, an average of 5.6 per year. Fifty-nine of the first-year freshmen have been offensive players, while 77 have been defensive players and four have been kickers.

Since Tommy Bowden came to Clemson in 1999, the Tigers have played 42 first-year freshmen, including 15 on offense, 25 on defense and two special teams. That is an average of 5.3 first-year freshman per year, so Bowden is a bit below the Clemson average for the last 25 years.

The record for first-year freshmen played in one season is 11 in 1985. That year, Danny Ford played six first-year freshmen on offense and five on defense. The 1994 Clemson team under Tommy West played 10 first-year freshmen, including a record nine on offense.

The most wins for a Tiger team that has played at least eight first year freshmen is 10, set in 1989, a team that played eight first-year freshmen in a 10-2 season.

The most first-year freshmen Clemson has played in the Bowden era is nine (2001). That year, Bowden played three on offense and six on defense on the way to a 7-5 season.

Clemson has played at least one first-year freshman for all 25 years of the rule. The fewest was the one in 2002 (Justin Miller).

Clemson 5th Among Top-25 in Graduation Rate

Clemson's football graduation rate for student-athletes who entered the Clemson program between the 1996 and 1999 seasons was fifth-best in the nation among Associated Press top-25 teams according to data released by the NCAA on September 27, 2006. The Tigers had a four-year rate of 77 percent, 12 points ahead of the national average for football and equal to the national average for all student-athletes.

Notre Dame had the top graduation rate for the period examined among top-25 schools with a 95-percent mark, while Nebraska was second in the nation at 88 percent. Florida was third at 80 percent and Texas Christian was fourth at 78 percent. Clemson's 77-percent rate was fourth among ACC school, trailing only Boston College, Duke, and Wake Forest.

Twelve Tigers Have Degrees

Three Tigers had their Clemson degrees prior to the beginning of the 2006 season. Punter Cole Chason earned his degree last May in marketing, wide receiver Chansi Stuckey earned his degree in August in sport management, and defensive end Brandon Cannon earned his degree in May in management.

Nine more seniors graduated on December 21, 2006, meaning Clemson will have 12 graduates on the field when the Tigers face Kentucky on December 29.

A total of 36 student-athletes have played for Clemson under Tommy Bowden (eight seasons) with their undergraduate degree already in hand.

In the seven years Bowden has completed at Clemson, he has had 121 senior lettermen. Ninety-four of those 121 (78 percent) have earned their degrees. Some of those former players are still in school pursuing their degree, so that number should increase. Between 1999 and 2003, Bowden had 83 senior lettermen, and 70 have their degrees (84 percent).

Last year, Clemson was fourth among Division I football institutions in graduation success rate (GSR) with a 94-percent figure for the four years examined. Only Navy, Notre Dame, and Wake Forest had higher figures.

Five Tigers Named First-Team All-ACC

Chansi Stuckey was named First-Team All-ACC for the second straight year, highlighting the selection of five Clemson players to the first-team all-conference squad. It marked the first time since 2000 that Clemson had five first-team selections.

Stuckey was one of four Tigers on the first team. The graduate from Warner Robins, GA was joined on the first team by sophomore running back James Davis, senior offensive guard Nathan Bennett, and junior offensive tackle Barry Richardson. Gaines Adams was a first-team selection at defensive end, Clemson's only first or second-team selection on the defensive side of the ball. Clemson is 12th in the nation in total defense and 15th in scoring defense this year.

Senior center Dustin Fry and freshman running back C.J. Spiller were both named to the second team, while tight end Thomas Hunter and cornerback Duane Coleman were honorable mention selections.

Clemson tied Wake Forest for the most first-team selections with five. Clemson, Georgia Tech, and Virginia Tech all had seven first or second-team selections to tie for the most in the conference. The Tigers had four first-team selections on offense, two more than any other ACC team and the most first-team selections on offense for a Tiger team since 1978, when Clemson had five.

As far as the offensive line is concerned, this marked the first time since 1996 that Clemson had three first or second-team offensive linemen.

Bennett and Richardson were keys to Clemson's offensive line, a major reason Clemson leads the ACC in total offense for the first time since 1991 and leads the conference in scoring offense for the first time since 1988. Bennett finished the regular season with a team-best 91.5 knockdown blocks, while Richardson had 70.5. Bennett was named ACC Offensive Lineman-of-the-Week for his performance against Georgia Tech. Richardson is the first Clemson underclassman offensive lineman to make First-Team All-ACC since Jim Bundren in 1996.

Fry has started every game the last two seasons, and he has played more snaps than any other Tiger on offense or defense in 2006. He has 68.5 knockdown blocks this year and has been a major reason the Tigers are fifth in the nation in rushing offense with an ACC-best 225 yards per game.

Stuckey was named to the first team for the second consecutive year, the first Clemson wideout named First-Team All-ACC in two different seasons since Perry Tuttle in 1980,81. Stuckey missed three games with a broken foot, but finished the regular season with an average of 5.0 receptions per game, best in the conference. He has 45 catches overall for 607 yards and three touchdowns. He was second in the ACC in yards per game to Georgia Tech's Calvin Johnson.

Davis was named First-Team All-ACC running back after he was named second team last season. Davis rushed for 1,134 yards and 17 touchdowns this season. His touchdown total is best in the ACC, and he tied a Clemson record for rushing touchdowns in a season. The 1,134 rushing yards are sixth-most in Clemson history for a single season. He had 216 yards rushing in Clemson's victory over #13 Georgia Tech and was named National Offensive Player-of-the-Week by the Walter Camp Foundation.

Adams leads the ACC in sacks from his defensive end position and is 10th in the nation. The senior from Greenwood, SC has 10.5 sacks this season, tied for the second-best figure in Clemson history, and his 26 career sacks are third-most in school history behind the Perry brothers.

Spiller, in making Second-Team All-ACC as a freshman, is fourth in the ACC in rushing with 76.2 yards per game, but he is coming off consecutive 150-yard rushing performances. He was a three-time ACC Rookie-of-the-Week selection. He has a Clemson freshman record five 100-yard rushing games this year and has scored 12 total touchdowns, more than any other freshman in Clemson history. His 7.37-yards-per-carry figure is the best by any ACC running back since Warrick Dunn had a 7.5-yard average in 1995.

Clemson Record By Uniform

Clemson has used eight different uniform combinations since Tommy Bowden became head coach in 1999. That includes the all purple attire Clemson wore for the Georgia Tech game. Clemson seniors recommended the uniform because they wanted to "make history." They did with a win over #13 Georgia Tech by a score of 31-7.

In 2003, the Tigers broke out purple jerseys for the Georgia Tech game in Atlanta on September 20, and the Tigers gained a convincing 39-3 victory. It was the first time Clemson had worn purple jerseys since the 1991 season when Clemson wore them in a regular-season game against N.C. State and for a bowl game against California. Clemson is a perfect 6-0 under Bowden in purple jerseys and orange pants, including the recent win over N.C. State.

Injuries Mounting

Clemson has had 11 different players miss a total of 57 player-games so far in 2006. Seven of the 11 who have missed time would be considered starters, including four of the seven who are out for the year. Thus, the 57 total player-games are the most in the Tommy Bowden era.

The run of injuries began August 18 when starting linebacker Tramaine Billie suffered a broken ankle. He was lost for the year and will red-shirt. He has one more year of eligibility. Returning leading-tackler Anthony Waters suffered a torn ACL in the season-opener against Florida Atlantic and was also lost for the season. The vocal leader had 109 tackles last season to lead the Tigers, and he was a preseason candidate for several awards.

Starter Rendrick Taylor (WR) suffered a broken arm at Wake Forest, an injury that required surgery. Starting offensive guard Roman Fry, a preseason candidate for the Outland Trophy and a midseason first-team All-American by Sports Illustrated, suffered a season-ending torn ACL against Georgia Tech. He had surgery on November 1.

Then on a December 10 practice, starting tight end Thomas Hunter suffered a broken foot, which has ended his career as a Tiger. He also missed the Virginia Tech game due to a shoulder injury.

Starters Michael Hamlin and Chansi Stuckey have also missed three games due to foot injuries, but have returned. Stuckey's first game back was at Virginia Tech.

Adams, Stuckey, Waters Permanent Captains

Seniors Gaines Adams, Chansi Stuckey, and Anthony Waters were named permanent captains of the Clemson football team for the 2006 season. The captains were voted on by the members of the 2006 team. The selection of Waters, who played in just one game due to a torn ACL suffered in the season-opener against Florida Atlantic, was unprecedented. Never before had a Tiger appeared in just one game during a season in which he was voted one of the captains.

"The results of this vote by the team tells you all you need to know about Anthony Waters and the level of respect the players have for him," said Tommy Bowden. "This is a well-deserved honor for Anthony, one that I know means a lot to him."

Waters was a preseason All-American and Butkus Award candidate after leading Clemson in tackles (109) in 2005. But, he suffered a torn ACL in the second half of the Florida Atlantic game on September 2. He has undergone rehabilitation this year, and he has been omnipresent at practice and on the sidelines during games exhorting the team and tutoring the young linebackers.

Adams is a first-team All-American defensive end who leads the ACC in sacks (10.5). He was a semifinalist for the Lombardi Award, and was also a finalist for the Bronko Nagurski Award and the Ted Hendricks Award. The senior from Greenwood, SC was named the ACC Defensive Player-of-the-Year as well.

Stuckey was named First-Team All-ACC for the second consecutive year. It marked the first time in 25 years that a Clemson wide receiver was named First-Team All-ACC in consecutive years. He finished the regular season with a team-best 45 receptions for a team-best 607 yards. He enters the bowl game with a streak of 30 consecutive games with at least one reception, the second-longest streak in school history.

Three Tigers Rush For 100 Yards in One Game

Clemson gained 393 yards rushing on 41 carries in the victory over Louisiana Tech on September 30. What was noteworthy was the performance of running backs James Davis, C.J. Spiller, and Demerick Chancellor. All three players had at least 100 rushing yards in the contest, the first time a Tiger team has had three 100-yard rushers in the same game since 1982.

Davis led the way with 11 rushes for 143 yards and two scores, including a 64-yard touchdown run in the first quarter that was his longest run as a Tiger. Spiller, the ACC Rookie-of-the-Week for his two-touchdown performance in the win over North Carolina, more than doubled that performance with 127 yards on 15 carries and one touchdown. Chancellor, a red-shirt freshman from Miramar, FL, had 113 yards rushing on 11 carries.

Clemson actually now has five players on its current roster who have rushed for 100 yards in a game. Reggie Merriweather was injured against North Carolina and sat out the Louisiana Tech game. He has had five 100-yard rushing games in his career, including three in a row during the 2005 season, the only time any Tiger has done that in the last 10 years. Duane Coleman, a starting cornerback for the Tigers, had a pair of 100-yard rushing games as a freshman in 2003. He moved to the secondary last year.

The performance against Louisiana Tech marked the first time Clemson had three 100-yard rushers in the same game since October 9, 1982 when Cliff Austin (105), Jeff McCall (103), and Chuck McSwain (103) all had over 100 yards in a 48-0 Clemson win at Virginia.

Overall, it was the fifth time in Clemson history the Tigers had three 100-yard rushers in the same game. The first two times it occurred, it happened on consecutive games in 1950 against Presbyterian and Missouri. It also happened in 1978 in a victory over South Carolina.

It also should be noted that Chansi Stuckey had a 100-yard receiving game against Louisiana Tech (four catches for 100 yards), making it the first time in history Clemson had three 100-yard rushers and a 100-yard receiver in the same game.

Two New Coaches on Staff

Clemson has two new coaches on its staff, and both played college football in the state of South Carolina, but not for Clemson. Billy Napier, a former Furman quarterback, is Clemson's tight ends coach, while Chris Rumph, a former Gamecock defensive lineman, is the Tigers' defensive line coach.

Napier is a 2003 Furman graduate, who at 27 is one of the nation's youngest full-time Division I coaches. He played at Furman from 1999-02, and was a finalist for the 2002 Walter Payton Award when he completed 68.5 percent of his passes and was team captain. Napier had been at S.C. State in 2005.

Rumph played at South Carolina from 1991-94. He played in 1994 under Brad Scott, Clemson's offensive line coach. Rumph had a strong senior year when he had 52 tackles and helped the Gamecocks win their first-ever bowl game. Rumph coaches the Tiger defensive line. Among his protégés is Phillip Merling, a sophomore who is Rumph's nephew. Rumph had coached under former Tiger Head Coach Tommy West at Memphis the last three seasons before coming to Clemson.

Thunder & Lightning

Running backs James Davis and C.J. Spiller have both gone over 100 yards rushing in the same game twice this year. The first game was in the win over Louisiana Tech when Clemson actually had three 100-yard rushers. Spiller and Davis combined for 270 yards in that contest.

That combined 270 yards by Davis and Spiller was trumped in the win over #13 Georgia Tech when they combined for 332 on 37 carries and scored a combined four touchdowns. Davis had 216 yards in the contest, his career high, and had a pair of runs over 50 yards. Spiller added 116 yards, including a 50-yard touchdown run and added a 50-yard touchdown reception off a short pass in the flat from Will Proctor. It marked the first time in Tiger history that the Tigers had had a 200-yard rusher and 100-yard rusher in the same game.

The combined 332 yards rushing by Spiller and Davis against Georgia Tech is second in history for two Clemson players in the same game, including the most since Raymond Priestler and Nealon Greene had a combined 358 against Duke in 1995. It was quite an accomplishment considering Georgia Tech was seventh in the nation in rushing defense entering the game, allowing just 72 yards per contest.

During the ESPN broadcast of the Georgia Tech game, Todd Blackledge referred to Davis and Spiller as "Thunder & Lightning" because of their respective running styles. Davis has more of the power game, while Spiller has lightning-quick speed. The players were interviewed on the ESPN set at Death Valley immediately after the game.

So far this year, Davis and Spiller have combined for 2,048 yards in 12 games, an average of 170.7 yards per game. That is the third-best average for a running back duo in school history.

The record is a 172.4-yard average by Raymond Priestler and Emory Smith in 1995. The yardage total is the second-most by a Clemson combination in school history. The record is 2,055 yards by Woodrow Dantzler and Travis Zachery in 2000. Thus, Davis and Spiller need just eight yards in the bowl game to break that record.

Spiller and Davis have a combined 27 rushing touchdowns, a Clemson record by two backs combined. Dantzler and Zachery had 26 in 2000.

Davis-Spiller Third-Best Rushing Duo

Clemson's running back combination of James Davis and C.J. Spiller has averaged 170.7 yards per game rushing, the second-best running back combination in the nation and third best two-person average in the nation. West Virginia running back Steve Slaton and quarterback Pat White averaged 233.9 yards per game, while Arkansas's running back duo of Darren McFadden and Felix Jones have a 198.2-yard rushing average per game.

Davis and Spiller are third at 170.7, just ahead of the 170.2-yard average by Northern Illinois running backs Garrett Wolfe and Cas Prime. Wolfe leads the nation in rushing with 1,900 yards, while Prime has 142 yards for the year. Their inclusion on the list is similar to the Major League Baseball record for home runs by a brother combination. Hank Aaron has 755 and his brother Tommie Aaron has 13 for a record 768 total.

Spiller, Ford Named Freshman All-Americans

C.J. Spiller was named a 2006 first-team freshman All-American by Sporting News. This is the third freshman All-America team for Spiller, who has established seven Clemson freshman records this season. He was earlier named a first-team freshman All-American by both Rivals.com and Scout.com.

Teammate and classmate Jacoby Ford was named a second-team freshman All-American as a kick returner by Rivals.com and Scout.com. The Florida native used his speed to also help him be named an honorable mention freshman All-American by Sporting News.

Spiller, who was named Second-Team All-ACC by the Atlantic Coast Media Association, is fourth in the conference in rushing with 914 yards in 12 games, an average of 76.2 yards per contest. He has an ACC-best 7.37-yards-per-carry figure, which is the best by any ACC running back since Warrick Dunn averaged 7.5 yards per rush in the 1995 season. The 7.37 average is fourth best in ACC history as well.

The native of Lake Butler, FL, who was a First-Team USA Today and Parade All-American out of Union County High School, has rushed for at least 150 yards in each of the last two games, including a 155-yard effort in just 10 carries against South Carolina in the regular-season finale. He scored two touchdowns in that game, including an 80-yard run that was the longest by a Tiger running back in 13 years.

Spiller is first in the conference in yards per carry (7.37), second in all-purpose yards (111.9), seventh in scoring (6.0), and third in total touchdowns scored (12). Spiller is first among all freshmen in rushing and all-purpose yards in the conference as well.

Spiller was also named to the All-ACC freshman team by Sporting News. He was joined on that first team by Tiger defensive back Crezdron Butler. Butler is tied for first on the team in interceptions this season with three. He finished the regular season with 34 tackles and three pass breakups. He did not start a single game, but played in every contest for an average of 10 snaps per game. Butler had a career-high seven tackles in the 63-9 victory over Temple in Charlotte, NC and two interceptions in the 51-0 win over Louisiana Tech.

Ford is the only player in the nation with a 90-yard punt return for a touchdown and a 90-yard kickoff return for a touchdown in the 2006 season. He is not listed in the national statistics because he does not have enough attempts in either category to qualify. But, Ford is averaging 33.1 yards per kickoff return, a figure that would lead the ACC, and his 11.8-yard average on punt returns would be second-best in the conference. His stats in the bowl game against Kentucky will count towards his qualification.

Spiller and Davis have combined for 10 touchdowns of 50 yards or more this season. Spiller has six, including an 82-yard reception at Boston College that is the longest catch in Clemson history by a freshman. Ford has four, including a 76-yard touchdown reception against South Carolina in November.

Two Starters Products of Eight-Man Football

Clemson has been noted for its outstanding recruiting in recent years, but sometimes outstanding players appear from unusual sources. Two of Clemson's starting players, tight end Thomas Hunter and defensive end Gaines Adams, played eight-man football in high school in the state of South Carolina. In fact they played against each other at the eight-man level.

Adams played at Cambridge Academy in Greenwood, SC for Steve Tannehill, the former South Carolina quarterback. Adams was a three-year starter and led his team to the 2000 state title of eight-man football. He had 158 career receptions for 4,394 yards and 65 touchdowns during his eight-man football career. Adams then went to Fork Union Military Academy where he played defensive end for the entire 2001 season.

Adams leads the ACC in sacks with 10.5 and is ninth in the nation. He needs two sacks to tie the Clemson career record held by Michael Dean Perry. He was named a unanimous All-American this year and should be a first-round draft pick.

Hunter played his eight-man football at Pee Dee Academy in Marion, SC. He caught 61 passes for 960 yards during his senior season. The biological sciences major came to Clemson as a walk-on and leads Clemson tight ends so far this year with 16 catches for 305 yards, a healthy 19.1 average. A veteran of 44 career games, his reception yardage total is the most by a Clemson tight end since 1975. However, his Tiger career came to an end during a December 10 practice when he suffered a broken foot.

Anniversary Season at Clemson

This is an anniversary season for the Clemson program in many ways. First, this is the 25-year anniversary of Clemson's 1981 National Championship, the only national title in the program's history. That team finished 12-0 under Head Coach Danny Ford and defeated Nebraska in the Orange Bowl 22-15. That anniversary was celebrated on September 23 at the North Carolina game. That squad was inducted as a team into the Clemson Ring of Honor at Memorial Stadium.

This is also the 50-year anniversary of Clemson's 1956 team that played in the Orange Bowl. The last two seasons Clemson has been to the Orange Bowl have been the 1981 and 1956 teams, squads celebrating their 25th and 50th anniversaries, respectively. The 1956 team was honored at the Maryland game on November 4 and was featured on the game program.

As far as Clemson tradition, this is the 40-year anniversary of Howard's Rock and its placement at the top of the Hill at Memorial Stadium. Clemson players rub Howard's Rock before they run down the Hill prior to each home game. It was first placed on the pedestal for the Virginia game in 1966.

From a campus standpoint, this is the 100th year of The Tiger student newspaper, the 40-year anniversary of the Cooper Library, and the 200-year anniversary of the birth of Thomas Green Clemson, the university's founder. Clemson just had its 50th Tigerama, the annual pep rally prior to the homecoming game. That homecoming contest was October 21 against Georgia Tech.

Tigers in the NFL

Clemson has 21 former players on NFL rosters this year, including 19 on active roster and two on practice squads. The list includes four players who were on Clemson's 8-4 team of 2005. Tye Hill was a first-round draft pick of the Saint Louis Rams, and he has played in every game so far this year. He also had an interception in his first career game. Charlie Whitehurst became the first former Tiger quarterback to play in an NFL game since Steve Fuller retired in 1988. Whitehurst scored a touchdown for San Diego in the second game of the year. Jamaal Fudge is on the active roster for Jacksonville, and Charles Bennett has been on the active roster for Tampa Bay.

Justin Miller has had a noteworthy season. The second-year player with the New York Jets was second in the NFL in kickoff returns with a 30.1-yard average through games of December 1. He has a pair of kickoff returns for touchdowns, one of two NFL players with two kickoff returns for scores so far this year. He was named AFC Special Teams Player-of-the-Week for the month of October.

Chris Gardocki is the dean of former Tigers in the NFL. The punter for the World Champion Pittsburgh Steelers is in his 16th year in the NFL. That is the most years of NFL experience for any former Tiger in history.

Miller, McGlockton Contribute to WestZone

Jet cornerback Justin Miller and former All-Pro defensive tackle Chester McGlockton each contributed $50,000 to the Clemson WestZone project one week apart in November. Miller made his contribution during the Clemson-Maryland game on November 4, and McGlockton presented a check to Jeff Davis during the Clemson-Maryland game on November 11.

Miller is in his second season with the New York Jets. A starting cornerback, he had 48 tackles through games in November. He is currently second in the NFL in kickoff returns with a 30.1-yard average and has two returns for touchdowns, joining Devin Hester as the only NFL players with two kickoff returns for scores this year. He was named the AFC Special Teams Player-of-the-Month for October.

Miller's success is of no surprise. During his Tiger career (2002-04), Miller averaged 30.7 yards per kickoff return, the best average in ACC history and fourth-best in NCAA history. He had two kickoff returns for touchdowns at Florida State in 2004 when he set an NCAA record with 282 kickoff return yards.

Miller was a three-year starter for the Tigers between 2002-04. He was a freshman All-American in 2002 when he had eight interceptions to tie a school record. His 13 career interceptions are third-most in Clemson history on a career basis. He was a second-round draft pick of the Jets in 2005, as he turned professional after his junior year.

McGlockton was a 12-year NFL veteran who was named to the Pro Bowl four times.

Tommy Bowden To Coach in 15th Bowl

Clemson Head Coach Tommy Bowden will coach in the 15th bowl game of his career, including his seventh at Clemson and his seventh as a head coach, when the Tigers take on Kentucky in the Music City Bowl. He was the first ACC coach to lead a league team to a bowl game in each of his first five years. He has had the Tigers bowl eligible in each of his eight years with the Tigers.

Bowden is 3-3 as a head coach in bowl games, including wins in each of his last two appearances, a 27-14 win over #6 Tennessee in the Peach Bowl in 2003 and a 19-10 win over Colorado in the Champs Sports Bowl last year. He also has a win over Louisiana Tech in the 2001 Humanitarian Bowl.

Bowden guided Tulane to a perfect 11-0 regular season in 1998, but resigned shortly after the regular season in order to start his Clemson career. He did not coach Tulane in its Liberty Bowl victory over Brigham Young that year. However, current Assistant Coaches Ron West and Burton Burns were on the sidelines for Tulane in that game.

Bowden coached in three bowls as an assistant coach at Florida State, including three as an assistant at Alabama and two as an assistant at Auburn for a total of eight previous bowls. His teams were 4-4 in those games.

Bowden's 12 Wins Over Championship Coaches

Head Coach Tommy Bowden defeated Bobby Bowden and Steve Spurrier in 2005. He became just the third coach to do it in the same year, joining Phillip Fulmer of Tennessee (1998) and Butch Davis of Miami (FL) (2000).

Both of the aforementioned coaches (Bowden, Spurrier) have won the national title. Tommy Bowden has 12 wins over six coaches who have won the national title in their careers since he became the head coach at Clemson in 1999. He had three of the 12 wins in a four-game span to end the 2003 season and has two this year in Howard Schnellenberger of Florida Atlantic and his father. Five of the wins came against Lou Holtz.

Bowden had four consecutive wins over national championship coaches prior to Spurrier's victory with South Carolina over the Tigers in the final regular-season game.

Tommy Bowden Third in Tiger Coaching Wins

Tommy Bowden has a 60-37 record as Clemson's head coach, and he is already third in total victories among the 24 Clemson mentors in history. Bowden trails only Frank Howard (165) and Danny Ford (96) on the Clemson list. When Bowden defeated South Carolina in the final game of the 2004 season, he moved ahead of Hall of Fame coach Jess Neely, who had 43 wins for the Tigers in his nine seasons (1931-39). Bowden gained his 50th victory at Clemson last year when the Tigers defeated #16 Florida State and his father Bobby Bowden.

Tommy Bowden Clinches Another Winning Year

Clemson has clinched its seventh consecutive winning season. This is the longest stretch of winning seasons for the Tiger program since the 1977-84 era.

Charley Pell (two years) and Danny Ford (last six) combined for that eight-year streak of winning seasons. Bowden has broken the individual coaching record for consecutive winning seasons with the winning campaign in 2006. Ford had the six-year streak mentioned above, and Frank Howard had six consecutive winning seasons between 1955-60.

On the ACC level, Bowden's current streak of seven straight is fifth-best in ACC history. Bobby Bowden of Florida State has an active streak of 14 in a row (as an ACC school, but 29 in a row overall), while former Virginia Head Coach George Welsh had a 13-year streak from 1987-99. Jerry Claiborne of Maryland (1973-80) and Mack Brown of North Carolina (1990-97) both had eight-year streaks.

Virginia Tech Head Coach Frank Beamer has a 14-year streak, but only three as an ACC school.

Tommy Bowden Up for George Munger Award

Head Coach Tommy Bowden was one of 15 semifinalists for the George Munger National Coach-of-the-Year Award presented by the Maxwell Football Club of Philadelphia this year. Bowden was the only ACC coach on the list of semifinalists and was joined by Mack Brown (Texas), Lloyd Carr (Michigan), Pete Carroll (Southern California), Phillip Fulmer (Tennessee), Urban Meyer (Florida), Chris Peterson (Boise State), Bobby Petrino (Louisville), Rich Rodriguez (West Virginia), Greg Schiano (Rutgers), Jeff Tedford (California), Jim Tressel (Ohio State), Tommy Tuberville (Auburn), Dave Wannstedt (Pittsburgh), and Charlie Weis (Notre Dame).

Rob Spence Offensive Coordinator-of-the-Week

Offensive Coordinator Rob Spence was named national offensive coordinator-of-the-week by Master Football Coaches of Atlanta, GA for Clemson's 52-7 win over North Carolina. Spence guided the Tiger offense to 52 points in the 52-7 victory over North Carolina, Clemson's largest victory margin in history over the Tar Heels. The Tigers gained 324 yards rushing, Clemson's high total in an ACC game in five years. Clemson had 504 yards of total offense.

Spence was named national offensive coordinator-of-the-week by Rivals.com after the Tigers defeated #13 Georgia Tech 31-7.

Gaines Adams Needs Two Sacks to Tie Perry

Gaines Adams had a career-high 10 tackles and a key pass deflection that led to a Nick Watkins interception in the 20-14 win over N.C. State on November 11. However, Adams did see his sack streak end at eight consecutive games. Adams has 26 career sacks entering the bowl game and needs three to break Michael Dean Perry's record of 28. William Perry, a three-time Clemson All-American and Michael Dean's older brother, had 27.

Adams was named as one of five finalists for the Bronko Nagurski Award. That honor is presented to the nation's top defensive player by the Football Writers of America. The other four finalists for that honor are Leon Hall, a defensive back from Michigan, James Laurinaitis, a linebacker of Ohio State, Reggie Nelson, a defensive back from Florida, and Patrick Willis, a linebacker from Mississippi. Adams was also one of six finalists for the Ted Hendricks Award, which is given to the top defensive end in the nation. He was named a first-team All-American by the Football Coaches Association, the Football Writers Association, and the Walter Camp Foundation.

Adams has 10.5 sacks so far this year to lead the ACC, which is also ninth-most in the nation. The 10.5 sacks are tied for second-most in Clemson history for a single season behind the 16-sack season turned in by Keith Adams in 1999.

Gaines Adams is among the best players in college football from a pro potential. He is rated as the fourth-best NFL prospect according to ESPN's Mel Kiper in his November 16 ratings.

Gaines Adams a Walter Camp All-American

Senior Gaines Adams was named a first-team All-American by the Walter Camp Foundation. It marks the second consecutive year that Clemson has had a First-Team Walter Camp All-American, as Tye Hill was named last year.

Adams, a defensive end from Greenwood, SC, was one of two ACC players named to the first team. He was joined by Calvin Johnson, a wide receiver from Georgia Tech.

Adams leads the ACC in sacks (10.5), ninth in the nation. He had 56 tackles, including 15.5 tackles for loss, to lead the Tiger defense to a #12 ranking in total defense and a #15 ranking in scoring defense. His top play of the year was a 66-yard fumble return for a touchdown against Wake Forest, a play that was named the Pontiac Game-Changing Play-of-the-Week for the weekend of October 7.

Adams was named a semifinalist for the Lombardi Award, and he was a finalist for the Nagurski Award and the Hendricks Award.

Adams was also named a first-team All-American by the American Football Coaches Association and Rivals.com. He was also named a first-team All-American by SL.com and the Football Writers Association along with AP and Sporting News. He became the first unanimous first-team All-American at Clemson since Terry Kinard (1982).

Crezdon Butler Picks Off a Pair

First-year freshman Crezdon Butler had two interceptions for 35 yards in Clemson's 51-0 victory over Louisiana Tech. The rookie from Asheville, NC played 28 snaps and had five tackles, plus another pass deflection, giving him three passes defended in the game.

Butler was the first Tiger freshman to have two interceptions in a game since Justin Miller had a pair against Maryland in 2002. He was just the fifth freshman to record two interceptions in a game since freshman eligibility returned to college football for the 1972 season, joining Miller, Robert O'Neal, Henry Walls, and Terry Kinard.

Butler came to Clemson from Asheville High where he was a first-team all-state performer. He was rated as the #14 cornerback in the nation by Rivals.com and the #17 defensive back in the nation by SuperPrep. He finished his career with 5,030 rushing yards, breaking the school's 63-year-old rushing record that had been held by Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice (North Carolina) by over 1,000 yards.

Antonio Clay Coming on Strong

It has not taken Antonio Clay long to become a prominent player on Clemson's top-15 total defense. Clay, a sophomore from Jeffersonville, GA, moved into the starting lineup at weakside linebacker when Tramaine Billie suffered a broken ankle during the preseason. When Anthony Waters suffered a torn ACL in the first game of the year, he moved again, this time to Waters' middle linebacker position.

Despite the moving around, Clay is third on the team in tackles (93), including 54 over the last five games. He had 13 in the win over #13 Georgia Tech on October 21 and was named ACC Defensive Lineman-of-the-Week. He followed that up with 15 stops at Virginia Tech. He also added 11 tackles in the loss to Maryland and 10 against N.C. State.

Clay has had five double-figure tackle games this year, the three listed previously and 12 stops in the second game of the year at Boston College. Clay is not too far behind the pace set by Waters last year. Waters averaged 9.9 tackles per game in 2005 and had 13.5 tackles for loss. Clay has 9.5 tackles for loss and 7.8 tackles per game in 2006.

Duane Coleman Having a Strong Senior Year

Clemson is fourth in the nation in pass efficiency defense and 15th in pass defense (yards allowed) this season. Senior Duane Coleman has been a big reason for those strong stats. The senior from Naples, FL is fourth on the team in tackles with 81 and also has three recovered fumbles to tie Gaines Adams for the team lead. He had his first career interception in the win over N.C. State.

Coleman has had an interesting career against Maryland. He started against the Terrapins in College Park in 2003 and had 11 carries for 36 yards in 57 plays. In 2004, he had nine carries for 27 yards as a reserve. In 2005, he did not play in the game as a running back. On the trip back, he started meeting with Clemson coaches about switching positions. That initial conversation led to Coleman's position as a starting cornerback today.

He finished his 2006 regular season with 11 tackles against South Carolina. It was his third double-figure tackle game of the season. He had a career-high 13 tackles against Wake Forest in Clemson's victory in October.

Coleman has 116 career tackles and 50 career receptions. He is the only player in Tiger history with at least 50 receptions and 50 tackles in a career.

James Davis Goes Over 1,000-Yard Mark

Sophomore running back James Davis gained 90 yards on 20 carries against Maryland on November 4 and went over the 1,000-yard mark for the season. He accomplished the feat in his 156th carry of the season. The Clemson (and ACC) record for swiftness to 1,000 yards in a season is 140 carries by Clemson's Terrence Flagler in 1986. C.J. Spiller has a chance to break that record in the Music City Bowl. He has 914 yards on 124 carries this year.

Davis has 1,134 yards so far this season in 12 games, the sixth-highest single-season total in Clemson history. This is the 12th different 1,000-yard rushing season in Clemson history, and Davis is the 10th different individual to do it. Raymond Priestier (1996,97) and Woodrow Dantzler (2000,01) are the only players to reach it twice. Dantzler is the last Tiger to reach 1,000 yards, as he had 1,061 yards in his senior season of 2001. The last running back to do it is Travis Zachery, who had 1,027 yards rushing in 2000. However, Zachery was not Clemson's leading rusher that year, as Dantzler gained 1,028 yards from the quarterback position.

Davis now has 2,013 rushing yards his career. He is just the 16th player in school history to reach 2,000 yards in a career. The last to reach it was Dantzler, who went over the 2,000-yard mark in his senior season.

Davis has 17 rushing touchdowns, tied for the Clemson single-season mark. Lester Brown, who has a son on the Clemson track team this year, had 17 rushing touchdowns in 1978. One more touchdown will tie the overall touchdown record held by Zachery, who had 18 in 2000 on 13 rushing touchdowns and five receiving.

Davis is creeping up on some ACC standards. The ACC record for rushing touchdowns in a season is 19 held by Robert Lavette of Georgia Tech in 1982, his sophomore year, and 19 by Don McCauley of North Carolina in 1970, his senior year. McCauley holds the total touchdowns record with 21 in that same 1970 season (19 rushing and two receiving).

James Davis a Semifinalist for Doak Walker

James Davis was among the 10 semifinalists for the Doak Walker Award. The sophomore from Atlanta, GA leads the ACC in touchdowns and total points per game this year with 17 touchdowns for 102 points. He is third in the league in rushing yards per game (94.5) and fifth in all-purpose yards (103.0).

Davis finished the season with 1,134 rushing yards, the sixth-best single-season figure in Tiger history. He had 216 yards against Georgia Tech on October 21 for his career high, helping the Tigers to a convincing 31-7 win, the only ACC loss for Georgia Tech this year. He was named national offensive player-of-the-week by the Walter Camp Foundation for that performance.

Davis was joined on the semifinal list of Walker Award candidates by Mike Hart of Michigan, P.J. Hill of Wisconsin, Ian Johnson of Boise State, Marshawn Lynch of California, Darren McFadden of Arkansas, Adrian Peterson of Oklahoma, Ray Rice of Rutgers, Steve Slaton of West Virginia, and Garrett Wolfe of Northern Illinois.

James Davis National Player-of-the-Week

Running back James Davis was named the national offensive player-of-the-week by the Walter Camp Foundation for his 216-yard rushing game against Georgia Tech on October 21. Davis rushed for a career-best 216 yards and two touchdowns, as #12 Clemson thrashed #13 Georgia Tech 31-7 on Saturday evening at Death Valley. Davis scored on runs of two and five yards, and had a pair of runs over 50 yards in gaining the most yards rushing by a Tiger running back since Raymond Priestier totaled a school-record 263 yards against Duke in 1995.

Jad Dean Has Kicked 51 Career Field Goals

Jad Dean had some challenges as Clemson's placekicker early in the season, but the senior from Greenwood, SC has had a strong finish to his college career. Against Maryland, he was 4-4 on field goals in the 13-12 loss. He gave Clemson a 12-10 lead with 2:25 left, and all Tiger fans certainly hoped that would be the difference. He was 2-2 in the win over N.C. State. He did miss his final field-goal attempt in Death Valley against South Carolina, but he has still made 8-9 entering the bowl game.

Over the last nine games, Dean is 11-13 on field goals and 36-37 on extra points. His only field-goal misses were a 53-yard attempt at Wake Forest and a 39-yard try on the last play of the game against South Carolina. So, Dean has missed just three of his last 50 kick attempts.

With his four field goals against Maryland, Dean moved ahead of David Treadwell on two Clemson kicking charts. Dean now has 250 points for his career. Dean is fifth in kick scoring in school history and sixth in overall scoring.

In terms of field goals, Dean also moved ahead of Treadwell on the all-time list in the Maryland game. He now has 51 career field goals, fifth on the all-time list. The ironic aspect of his performance against Maryland is that Treadwell was present for the Maryland game. He lives in Denver, CO, so he does not make it to a lot of games.

Jacoby Ford Establishes a Clemson First

It has not taken Jacoby Ford long to have an impact on the Clemson recordbooks. The freshman wideout had a 92-yard punt return for a touchdown in the season-opener against Florida Atlantic, then had a 94-yard kickoff return for a touchdown against Louisiana Tech in the fifth game of the year. The punt return was the longest in Clemson history, breaking the original record by two yards. He is the first player in school history to have a punt return and a kickoff return for a touchdown of at least 90 yards in a career, nevermind a season, and nevermind over a five-game period.

Ford now joins Bobby Gage (1945-48) and Justin Miller (2002-04) as the only players in Tiger history to record a punt return for a touchdown and a kickoff return for a touchdown over a career. Ironically, Miller also had a kickoff return for a touchdown (103 yards) for the New York Jets against the Indianapolis Colts on October 1, just one day after Ford's return against Louisiana Tech.

One other note on Ford's kickoff return for a touchdown against Louisiana Tech concerned Clemson's radio network. The network had a promotion with a South Carolina car dealer that awarded a new Chrysler 300 to a lucky person if a Tiger returned a kickoff for a touchdown on the opening kickoff of the game or the second half. The winner was Mary Lee Barton of Lancaster, SC. Interesting to note that a kickoff return by a guy named Ford gave the winner a new Chrysler.

Ray Ray McElrathbey Receives Award

Clemson freshman wide receiver Ray Ray McElrathbey received the Keith Jackson Award of Excellence at the Cingular ESPN All-America show in Orlando, FL on December 8.

McElrathbey received national notoriety this year when he was granted custody of his 12-year-old brother Fahmarr in August. The native of Atlanta, GA has cared for his brother with the help of an NCAA ruling that allows the wives of assistant coaches to give Fahmarr rides to school and care for him. The NCAA has also allowed Clemson to establish a fund for Fahmarr through First Citizens Bank in Clemson.

In presenting the award, Jackson, the veteran sportscaster of over 40 years with ABC, said, "The story of Ray Ray McElrathbey is an amazing one. He had to overcome a great deal of hardship during his youth to earn a football scholarship at the Division I level at Clemson. Now he cares for his younger brother in addition to all his responsibilities as a student-athlete."

McElrathbey was appreciative of the award. He accepted the award from Fahmarr and noted television personality Regis Philbin, who was the master of ceremonies for the program.

"It is a great honor to receive the Keith Jackson Award of Excellence," said McElrathbey. "I want to thank everyone at Clemson who has helped me in this process. I have great support from my teammates, coaches, and their families. I also want to express my gratitude to the NCAA for what they have done in allowing me to have Clemson coaches' family members help me in getting Fahmarr to and from school, and the establishment of a fund to help with his daily expenses."

"I have been struck by the generosity of so many people, and it has taught me that there are people out there who care. There are a lot of good people in this world."

This is the second major honor for McElrathbey this year. On September 15, 2006 he was named the Person-of-the-Week by ABC World News Tonight. The initial article was written by Larry Williams, Clemson beat writer for the Charleston Post & Courier. His remarkable story has already been featured in Sports Illustrated, The New York Times, ESPN's College GameDay, Philadelphia Inquirer, USA Today, ESPN.com, and the Oprah Winfrey Show.

Will Proctor Atop Career Pass Efficiency List

Quarterback Will Proctor was 13-19 for 191 yards and a touchdown against South Carolina. That was a passing efficiency of 159.7 for the game for the senior who graduated on December 21. With that performance, he is now first in Clemson history in career passing efficiency (136.9). He is ahead of Woodrow Dantzler on Clemson's career list, as Dantzler had a 132.5 career passing efficiency.

Proctor has a 59.5 career completion percentage, which is second in school history behind only Charlie Whitehurst and ahead of Dantzler (57.8). Proctor's 7.90 yards per attempt is third-best in school history, trailing only Bobby Gage (1945-48) and Jackie Calvert (1948-50).

Proctor has had a strong senior season. His passing efficiency of 135.0 is sixth-best in school history and just 0.6 rating points off Charlie Whitehurst's best year, a 135.6 rating in 2003. Proctor's 60.4 completion percentage this year is sixth-best in school history, his 13 touchdown passes are fifth-best, and his 2,081 passing yards are fifth-best in school history for a season.

Proctor has thrown for at least 150 yards in seven of the 12 games and has thrown for at least one score in nine of the 12 games. His passing yardage high was 343 at Boston College. He completed 20-30 passes for 214 yards in the win over ACC Champion Wake Forest as well.

Clemson Has Had Successful Senior QBs

Clemson is led at quarterback this year by senior Will Proctor. Having a senior in his first year as the starting quarterback is not necessarily a bad thing. There have been examples in Clemson history where the Tigers have had a very successful season with a first-year senior starter at quarterback. The last time it happened was 1989 when Chris Morocco led the Tigers to a 10-2 record and a #12 final national ranking by AP.

Billy Lott was in the same situation in 1979, and he guided Clemson to an 8-4 record, including wins over Notre Dame and Georgia. Proctor has taken Clemson to the same record this season. Charlie Bussey was technically a first-year senior starter at quarterback in 1956, and he led Clemson to the Orange Bowl that season.

Since 1978, Clemson has had a senior as its starting quarterback during 12 seasons (including this year), and the combined final record for the Tigers in those seasons is 101-40-2 (71.3 percent).

Clemson has been to a bowl nine of those 11 seasons it has had a senior quarterback since 1978, and the two years it did not go to a bowl, it was due to NCAA probation, not because of a poor record.

C.J. Spiller Breaking Freshman Records

Clemson freshman running back established eight Clemson records this year, five that were just freshman records, but three that were all-time Clemson records. He is on the verge of setting some more if he has an average game against Kentucky. Spiller has already set the Clemson record for touchdown plays of 50 yards or more this year with six, including his 80-yard touchdown run against South Carolina and an 82-yard pass reception at Boston College. That reception against the Eagles was the longest reception in Clemson history by a freshman and the longest reception by a running back in school history.

Spiller already has the freshman touchdown record and the freshman rushing touchdown mark, and his five 100-yard games lead the team and are a record for a Tiger freshman. His most impressive mark might be his 1,343 all-purpose yards, a school mark for freshmen and ninth-best figure in Clemson history, regardless of class.

Spiller still has some records in range. He has 914 rushing yards and needs just 60 yards to break Terry Allen's freshman record of 973 set in 1987. He has scored 72 points on his 12 touchdowns and needs just four points to break Aaron Hunt's record for a first-year freshman. Of course, he needs just 86 yards rushing to become the first freshman in Clemson history to reach 1,000 yards rushing.

Spiller's Clemson Freshman Records Set in 2006

- Most total touchdowns in a season (12)
  - Most rushing touchdowns in a season (10)
  - Most 100-yard rushing games in a season (5)
  - Most all-purpose yards in a season (1,343)
  - Most Touchdown plays of 50 yards or more in a season (6)
  - Longest reception by a freshman (82 yards vs. Boston College)
  - Longest reception by a running back (82 yards vs. Boston College)
  - Yards per carry in a season (7.37)
- Note: Bold denotes all-time Clemson record.

C.J. Spiller Averaging 7.37 Yards Per Carry

Clemson freshman running back C.J. Spiller has a 7.37-yards-per-carry average this year. That is not only the best in the ACC, it is the best by any ACC running back in 11 years. You have to go back to the 1995 season when Warrick Dunn had a 7.48-yard average for Florida State to find the last ACC back with a yards-per-carry average that high. That is an interesting note, because Spiller's favorite NFL player is Dunn, and that is why he wears #28.

Spiller's 7.37-yard average is the best in ACC history by a freshman. The ACC record for yards per carry in a season is 9.78 held by Chet Hanulak of Maryland in 1953. Given a minimum of 100 carries, the mark is Dunn's 7.48. Hanulak had 753 yards rushing on 77 carries in 10 games for the National Champion Terrapins in 1953.

Spiller jumped over the 7.0 mark for the season when he had 155 yards rushing on just 10 carries against South Carolina in the regular-season finale for a 15.5-yard average for the contest. His day included an 80-yard touchdown run and a 31-yard touchdown run. Spiller has come on strong at the end of the season with consecutive 150-yard rushing games, the first Tiger to do that since Woodrow Dantzler in 2001. Spiller is the first running back to do it since Terry Allen in 1988.

C.J. Spiller Breaking Davis' Records

James Davis established many freshman records in 2005 when he led the Tigers in rushing with 879 yards and nine scores. He established Clemson freshman records for touchdowns, yards per carry, all-purpose yards, and 100-yard games.

A year later, those records have been broken by freshman C.J. Spiller. He is second on the team in rushing with 914 yards and 10 rushing scores. He has 12 total touchdowns this season.

Spiller has already beaten Davis' record for total touchdowns by a freshman (12) and rushing touchdowns by a freshman (10). He has a freshman record 7.4 yards per rush and a freshman record 1,343 all-purpose yards. His five 100-yard rushing games have tied Davis' production as a freshman.

Spiller came on strong at the end of the year, posting consecutive 150-yard rushing performances, the first time any Tiger has done that since Terry Allen in 1988. He had 154 rushing yards on 18 carries against N.C. State, then had 10 carries for 155 yards against South Carolina. That is 28 carries for 309 yards over the last two games, an average of 11.0 yards per carry.

As one can see by the chart below, his last two games are the fourth and fifth-best rushing performances by a Tiger freshman. He needs 60 yards against Kentucky to set a Tiger freshman rushing record and 86 yards to become the first 1,000-yard rusher as a freshman in school history.

C.J. Spiller Has Season Record for Long TDs

C.J. Spiller and Jacoby Ford have combined for 10 touchdown plays of 50 yards or more this year. Spiller has six, the most in one season in Clemson history, and Ford has four, tied for the second-most in Clemson history. Obviously, they hold the record for a duo in one season, nevertheless the fact that they are freshmen. This was not a surprise to the Clemson coaching staff, as Ford was the Florida state 100m champion in 2005, and Spiller was the champion in 2006. Both plan to run track for Bob Pollock's Clemson track team this spring.

Spiller's first long play as a Tiger was an 82-yard pass reception at Boston College in the second game of the season. That was the longest reception by a running back and by a freshman in Tiger history. He also had a 72-yard run for a touchdown at Wake Forest, the go-ahead score for the Tigers in that fourth-quarter comeback. He had a pair of 50-yard touchdowns against Georgia Tech, a 50-yard run and a 50-yard touchdown reception on a swing pass.

His performance against Georgia Tech marked the first time in Clemson history that one player had a touchdown run and a touchdown reception of 50 yards or more in the same game. He was the fifth Tiger in history to have a pair of 50-yard touchdown plays in the same game. Derrick Hamilton was the last to do it when he had a 69-yard reception and a 100-yard kickoff return for a touchdown against North Carolina in 2003. Spiller had an 80-yard touchdown run against South Carolina, and thus he became the first Tiger in history with an 80-yard run an 80-yard reception in the same season.

It should be noted that Ford is not far behind Spiller. Ford has four touchdowns or 50 yards or more this year, a 55-yard pass reception for a score against Temple, a 76-yard touchdown reception against South Carolina, a 92-yard punt return for a score against Florida Atlantic, and a 94-yard kickoff return for a touchdown against Louisiana Tech. He is the first Tiger in history with a 50-yard touchdown in three different scoring means (reception, punt return, kickoff return) in the same season.

Spiller leads the team in all-purpose yards with a freshman school record 1,343 yards, while Ford is third with 830 yards. Ford has touched the ball just 47 times this year on runs, receptions, and returns. That computes to 17.7 yards per touch.

C.J. Spiller Opening-Game Starter

C.J. Spiller was in the starting lineup along with James Davis in a two-back set on the opening play of the Florida Atlantic game, making him a starter in his first game as a first-year freshman. Davis and Spiller are the only running backs in the last 12 seasons to start the opening game of the year.

Spiller was just the eighth freshman to start the season-opener under Tommy Bowden and just the eighth running back to make the opening-game start since 1953. The other freshman starters in the opening game under Bowden were Jermy Chester (OG) and Aaron Hunt (PK) in 2000, Roscoe Crosby (WR) and Derrick Hamilton (WR) in 2001, Cole Chason (P) and Nathan Bennett (OG) in 2003, and Davis last year at running back in 2005.

Overall, Spiller was the 37th freshman to start the opening game for Clemson since freshman eligibility was adopted for the 1972 season. That is 37 freshmen in 35 years of freshman eligibility.

C.J. Spiller Goes the Distance

Freshman running back turned a pass in the right flat into an 82-yard touchdown reception from Will Proctor in the second quarter of the Boston College game. It was a breathtaking run that featured a traverse across the entire width of the field. He showed why he was the Florida state 100m champion in 2006 and the Golden West National Champion in Sacramento, CA last summer.

That was just his second career reception, but the 82-yarder set a record for the longest catch in Clemson history by a freshman and the longest pass reception in Tiger history by a running back. Overall, it was the fourth-longest pass reception in Clemson history and the longest since Airese Currie had an 83-yard scoring catch from Charlie Whitehurst at North Carolina in 2002.

Spiller had a productive day at Boston College. He finished the day with 82 receiving yards on three catches, the most receiving yards by a Tiger running back since Travis Zachery had 86 receiving yards against Wake Forest in 2000. There has been just one 100-yard receiving game by a running back in Clemson history. Jackie Calvert had three receptions for 100 yards against Duquesne in 1950.

Spiller also had five carries for 31 yards and three kickoff returns for 58 yards for 171 all-purpose yards in just his second college game.

Spiller, who attended Union County High in Lake Butler, FL, narrowed his choices of schools to Clemson, Florida, Florida State, and Southern California coming out of high school. He wears #28 in honor of former Florida State running back Warrick Dunn, his idle growing up.

Chansi Stuckey 9th in Tiger History in Catches

Chansi Stuckey had a career-high-tying 11 catches for 124 yards in the loss at Boston College in September. His reception yardage total included 62 yards in regulation and an incredible 62 receiving yards in the two overtimes. The 11 receptions tied for second in school history, trailing only the 12 catches Airese Currie had against Middle Tennessee in 2003. The reception total is tied for the most by an ACC player this year.

Stuckey has now caught at least one pass in 30 straight games, the second longest streak in Clemson history, the second-best mark behind the record 35 games in a row by Jerry Butler between 1976-78.

Stuckey had 11 catches in the win over #16 Florida State last year, so he tied his career high in the performance against Boston College. Phil Rogers had 11 catches against North Carolina in 1965 and Rod Gardner had 11 against Marshall in 1999, the first game of the Tommy Bowden era. Stuckey's 11 receptions against Boston College tied his own Clemson record for an ACC game.

Stuckey was named First-Team All-ACC for the second straight year along with Calvin Johnson of Georgia Tech. This marked the first time a Tiger wideout has been a First-Team All-ACC selection in consecutive years since 1980,81, when Perry Tuttle was a two-time selection.

Stuckey has 136 receptions for his career, ninth-most on the Clemson career list. In terms of reception yards, Stuckey has 607 yards for the season and 1,667 yards for his career, 10th-best in school history. So he is now in the top 10 in both categories heading into his final game.

Anthony Waters Has Torn ACL

Clemson senior linebacker Anthony Waters, the Tigers' top tackler in 2005 and the ACC's top returning tackler for 2006, suffered a torn ACL during Clemson's 54-6 victory over Florida Atlantic and was lost for the season. An MRI revealed that Waters had a torn ACL. Waters is a fifth-year senior who does not have another year of eligibility. He had the surgery on Monday, September 18.

In January, Waters had contemplated turning professional, but decided to return to Clemson and finish requirements towards his degree. He reached that goal when he received his undergraduate degree earlier in December.

Waters led Clemson in tackles in 2005 with 109, including 13.5 tackles for loss and one sack. He added seven pass breakups. The native of Lake View, SC was listed as a first-team preseason All-American by Phil Steele, and a second-team All-American by Street & Smith and Sporting News.

He was also listed on the preseason list for the Bronko Nagurski Award and the Butkus Award. He was rated as the #2 linebacker in the nation by Phil Steele and the #6 linebacker in the nation by Scout.com entering the 2006 season.

"This is difficult to accept with this being my senior year," said Waters. "I will just have to do whatever I can to help this team from the sidelines from a leadership standpoint this year."

"Many players have come back from this injury to play again. I look at some of my current teammates who have gone through this injury (Donnell Clark) and see players from other ACC schools, like Antonio Cromartie (Florida State), who overcame the same injury to become a first-round draft pick just last year."

Nick Watkins the Top Tackler

Nick Watkins is Clemson's leading tackler with 108 tackles, including six tackles for loss. He had a career-high 17 stops against N.C. State and was named ACC Defensive Lineman-of-the-Week. He has been one of the most consistent players on the team with at least five tackles in every game. He also had 10 tackles in the win at Wake Forest and has had five double-figure tackle games this year.

Watkins entered the season as one of three returning starters on Clemson's second line of defense, but he is now the only one standing from last year. Tramaine Billie and Anthony Waters are both out for the year with injuries. Watkins has played 601 snaps this year, second on the team to Chris Clemons. Nine of Watkins' tackles have come on special teams, tied for second-most on the team.

The native of New Orleans, LA has gone over of the 200 mark in terms of career tackles. He has 260 for his career, including 18 tackles for loss. Another strong season in 2007 will move him among the top-20 tacklers in school history.

Head Coach Tommy Bowden

When one looks at Head Coach Tommy Bowden's resumé, the first thing that comes to mind is consistency. Bowden has completed 10 seasons as a Division I head coach, and all 10 of his teams have been bowl eligible at the conclusion of the regular season.

Each of his last seven teams have finished with a winning record. A winning season in 2006 gives him a Clemson coaching record seven consecutive winning seasons, and he became just the fifth head coach in ACC history to record seven straight winning seasons with the same program, the first time it has been done at Clemson by one coach.

Bowden has also shown consistency in terms of improvement over the course of seasons. From 2003-05, his teams won at least five of its last six games. The 2003 team won its last four games, including wins over top-10 Florida State and Tennessee to finish ranked in the top 25. The 2005 team won six of its last seven games, a first for a Tiger team since 1991.

There has also been consistency in terms of success against Clemson's in-state rival (South Carolina). The Tigers have won six of the eight meetings since Bowden became Clemson's head coach in 1999, and the 75.0-percent winning mark is the best of any Tiger head coach in history against the Gamecocks given a minimum of five games. He has an average victory margin of 10.4 points per game in the state-rivalry game, and all six wins have been recorded against future Hall of Fame Head Coaches Lou Holtz and Steve Spurrier.

In 10 seasons as a Division I head coach, Bowden has a 78-41 record, a 65.5-percent winning. In conference games, he has never had a sub-.500 record, and his overall conference record stands at 48-28 for a 63.2-percent winning mark.

In eight years at Clemson, he has a 60-37 mark and seven bowl appearances. He has 37 ACC wins as well. The only programs with more ACC wins during this time are Florida State and Georgia Tech. The 60 overall victories are third-most in Clemson history. The 29-7 victory over South Carolina in the 2004 season-finale was not only the 600th win in Clemson history, it moved Bowden ahead of Hall of Fame Coach Jess Neely into third place on Clemson's coaching victories list. Only Frank Howard and Danny Ford are ahead of Bowden.

Twice Bowden has been named ACC Coach-of-the-Year (1999,03), joining Howard, Charley Pell, and Ford as the only two-time recipients of that award in Tiger history. In January of 2006, he was given the Grant Teaff National Coach-of-the-Year Award by the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Off the field, Clemson has graduated nearly 80 percent of its seniors in his eight years. Clemson's graduation success rate of 94 percent in 2005 was fourth-best among the 119 Division I-A programs. In 2003, Clemson was #11 in the nation, including second among public institutions, in the NCAA graduation-rate study for scholarship football signees who entered Clemson in 1996. Clemson was first in the nation in graduation rate among African-Americans (100 percent). Each of the top-six semester team GPAs have been recorded under Bowden.

His 2006 squad has set numerous offensive records on its way to scoring 52 touchdowns and scoring nearly 34 points per game. Clemson has four First-Team All-ACC selections on offense, including 1,000-yard rusher James Davis, and the Tigers lead the ACC in a majority of offensive categories.

Despite starting 7-1 and losing three of its last four regular-season games, Clemson lost three of its games by a total of five points, including single-point losses to Boston College and Maryland. However, the 2006 senior class became the first one in ACC history to beat Florida State three times in a four-year span.

The Tigers also had a landmark 31-7 victory over #13 Georgia Tech at Memorial Stadium. Clemson dominated the Yellow Jackets thanks in part to 332 combined rushing yards by James Davis and C.J. Spiller. That same weekend, ESPN College GameDay made its first-ever appearance in Tigertown.

In December of 2006, Bowden was named a semifinalist for the Maxwell Club George Munger National Coach-of-the-Year Award. A big reason for his naming was the fact that Clemson overcame numerous injuries, including the loss of linebackers Anthony Waters and Tramaine Billie, to reach as high as #10 in the national polls.

Defensive end Gaines Adams is regarded as one of the top defensive linemen in the nation. He was named a finalist for the Bronko Nagurski Award and Ted Hendricks Award as well as earning unanimous first-team All-America honors. He was also named ACC Defensive Player-of-the-Year.

In 2005, Clemson had a record of 8-4, including a 3-2 mark against top-25 ranked teams. All four of the losses were by six points or less and by a total of 14 points. Two of those losses came in overtime, therefore the Tigers lost the four games by a combined five points at the end of regulation.

The 2005 team also won six of its last seven games, including a 19-10 win over Colorado in the Champs Sports Bowl. The Tigers had the best record among the 12 ACC teams over that time period.

The Tigers earned close victories to start the year against #17 Texas A&M and Maryland, then lost three nailbiters in a row. But just like the two previous years, Clemson won five of its last regular-season six games, including wins over #16 Florida State (eventual ACC Champion) and #19 South Carolina in the final two regular-season games. It was the first time since 1983 that Clemson defeated top-20 teams in consecutive games.

Clemson was in the top 25 in four national defensive rankings, including 11th in scoring defense. After the victory over Colorado in the Champs Sports Bowl, the Tigers were ranked #21 in the final Associated Press and USA Today polls. Clemson had three victories over top-20 ranked teams, the most in one season by a Clemson team since the 1989 season.

Both placekicker Jad Dean (Lou Groza Award) and cornerback Tye Hill (Jim Thorpe Award) were finalists for their respective awards in 2005. Hill was a Walter Camp First-Team All-American as well.

Personal Data

Born July 10, 1954...married to the former Linda Joan White...the couple has a son (Ryan 25, a 2004 Clemson graduate and current law student at Regent University) and a daughter (Lauren 21, a senior at Clemson).

In four years at Clemson, Charlie Whitehurst became the most prolific signal-caller in school history. He set 46 Clemson records, including records for passing yards (9,665), completions (817), completion percentage (59.5), and touchdown passes (49). He directed Clemson to 25 wins as a starting quarterback, the second-most wins in school history.

Consistency in his approach is one reason Clemson went from a 1-4 start to bowl eligibility in 2004. It marked the first time since 1963 that a Tiger team had overcome such a deficit to finish with a winning season.

His 2004 Clemson team featured a defense that ranked 11th in the nation in pass efficiency defense. The unit had 42 sacks to rank in the top 10 in the nation. Leroy Hill was named the ACC Defensive Player-of-the-Year and a Third-Team AP All-American. Cornerback Justin Miller was a semifinalist for the Jim Thorpe Award and was a second-team All-American as a kick returner. Wide receiver Airese Currie led the ACC in receptions and reception yards.

Clemson played a complete game at #10 Miami (FL) on November 6, 2004 and defeated the Hurricanes in the Orange Bowl by a score of 24-17 in overtime. It was the second overtime win of the season for the Tigers, who are 4-2 in extra-session games under Bowden.

Clemson overcame a 14-point halftime deficit, not to mention overcoming a fourth-quarter deficit, a rarity against Miami. The Hurricanes had been 174-2 when leading going into the fourth quarter since 1985.

The win over Miami gave Bowden and the Tigers three wins over top-10 programs in a 13-game span, something that had been done at Clemson just once previously (1981 National Championship team). All three of those programs (Florida State, Tennessee, Miami) have won the national championship within the last eight seasons.

Over the last four seasons, Bowden has won nine games over coaches who have won the national title (Bobby Bowden (three times), Phillip Fulmer, Larry Coker, Holtz (twice), Spurrier, and Howard Schnellenberger). These big wins have stimulated interest in the program. The Tigers averaged 81,000 fans per home game in 2006. Clemson has ranked in the top 20 in home football attendance each of the eight seasons Bowden has been at Clemson, and six of the top-10 average attendance seasons have come during his tenure.

With Clemson's selection to the 2004 Peach Bowl, Bowden became the first head coach in Clemson and ACC history to take a team to a bowl game in each of his first five seasons. In fact, no coach had ever done so more than twice to open his career at Clemson. Under Bowden's direction, Clemson had also appeared in the Peach Bowl in 1999, the Gator Bowl in 2000, the 2001 Humanitarian Bowl, the 2002 Tangerine Bowl, the 2004 Peach Bowl, and the 2005 Champs Sports Bowl prior to its invitation to the 2006 Music City Bowl.

The 2004 Peach Bowl appearance meant that it was the first time since the senior class of 1991 that Clemson went to a bowl game five consecutive years. Clemson's red-shirt seniors of 2003 were the first group he recruited, so it is an indication of the firm foundation his first group set. In December of 2003, Bowden cemented his place at Clemson by signing a seven-year contract, which will go through 2010.

The 2003 season was a breakthrough year in many ways. Clemson earned its highest-ever victory over a ranked team with a 26-10 win over #3 Florida State. The Tigers also defeated #24 Virginia in a thrilling overtime contest. The 39-3 victory over a bowl-bound Georgia Tech team was Clemson's largest victory margin in the series since 1900 as well.

The 2003 victory over Florida State, Clemson's first in 12 tries since the Seminoles joined the ACC, was the beginning of a four-game winning streak to close the season. In those four games, Clemson outscored its opponents 156-48, an average score of 39-12. Clemson defeated arch-rival South Carolina in Columbia by a score of 63-17. It was the most points ever scored by a team in the 101-game series and the Tigers' largest victory margin in the series since 1900.

The season concluded with a 27-14 win over #6 Tennessee, the highest-ranked team Clemson has defeated in a bowl game since 1981, when the Tigers defeated #4 Nebraska in the Orange Bowl to claim the National Championship. As a result, Clemson finished the season with nine wins and a #22 final national ranking.

Over the final four games of the season, Bowden defeated two coaches (Bobby Bowden, Holtz) who had already earned 200 wins to become the first coach in NCAA history to beat a pair of 200-game winners in a month's time. He also registered wins over three coaches (Bowden, Holtz, Fulmer) who had previously won a national title.

The 2002 season included victories over bowl teams Georgia Tech and Wake Forest, and a third victory in four years over arch-rival South Carolina. Clemson gained 434 yards of total offense in the 27-20 win over the Gamecocks, the most yards against Holtz's defense all season.

The 2002 Clemson defense featured two of the top 21 players in the nation in terms of interceptions per game. Miller had eight interceptions, best among all freshmen nationally, and Brian Mance had six in an All-America season. The defense was one of the most improved units in the ACC and ranked in the top 10 in the nation in interceptions (21).

Clemson had another record-setting season in 2001, a season that culminated with a Humanitarian Bowl victory over Louisiana Tech. Clemson set school records for points scored, touchdowns, and total offense in a bowl game in the victory.

The 2001 season demonstrated Bowden's ability to win in the long run, as he had the second-youngest "two-deep" in the ACC. Thirty-four of his top 44 players were underclassmen. Only Duke had a younger group of top 44 players. Fourteen different freshmen saw action in 2001, including 10 who played in at least 10 games.

Bowden has a 60-37 record (.619) as the Tigers' head coach and is 78-41 (.655) overall. He has recorded that ledger against a difficult schedule. In his first year, Clemson's schedule was ranked in the top 10 in the nation. In 2001, his team defeated five teams that finished with a winning record, tied for the third-highest single-season figure in school history. One of the victories was a 47-44 overtime triumph at #9 Georgia Tech. It was the highest-ranked road win in 20 years for the Clemson program. In 2003 and 2004, Clemson's schedule strength once again ranked in the top 25 by the Sagarin rating. The 2005 team faced five top-25 teams in the regular season, a first in school history.

When Bowden came to Clemson in 1998, he inherited a team with a 3-8 record. By late October of 2000, just 14 months after his first game, Clemson was ranked #3 in the nation in the USA Today poll after an 8-0 start. That ranking was the highest for the program in 16 years. The final #14 ranking in that same poll was the highest final listing for the program since the 1990 season.

Making a swift improvement is nothing new for Bowden. In 1997, he took over a 4-7 Tulane program and brought the Green Wave to a 7-4 mark in his first year. In 1998, the improvement continued with an 11-0 regular season and #7 national ranking. In 1999, Bowden elevated the Tigers from 3-8 to a bowl game and a 6-6 final record. The 2000 Tigers concluded the season with a 9-3 record, their highest win total since 1993.

Considerable improvement is a common phrase for Bowden-coached teams. In each of his first four years he coached at the Division I level, his team showed at least a three-win improvement over the previous year, believed to be a first in Division I history. Bowden is just the third coach in history to bring the Tigers to a three-win improvement in consecutive years and was one of just two Division I coaches to do it over the 1999 and 2000 seasons.

In 2000 and 2001, his dynamic offense produced a Heisman Trophy contender in quarterback Woodrow Dantzler, who placed his name next to 52 school records. In 2001, Dantzler became the first quarterback in Division I history to accumulate 2,000 yards passing and 1,000 yards rushing in a single season. Dantzler was named a semifinalist for the Davey O'Brien Award in 2000 and 2001.

Center Kyle Young was a finalist for the Rimington Award in 2000 and 2001, and won the ACC's Jim Tatum Award, presented to the league's top student-athlete. He was one of eight players nationally to receive a National Football Foundation Scholarship and became just the second offensive lineman in college football history to become a three-time first-team Academic All-American. Linebacker Chad Carson also performed well in the classroom and on the gridiron. He and Young were first-team Academic All-American selections in 2000 and 2001.

Bowden's second Clemson team was one of the most decorated in history. Six different Tigers were finalists or semifinalist for national position awards, including linebacker Keith Adams, who was one of three finalists for the Butkus Award.

When Bowden arrived at Clemson, he had one simple goal - improvement. Bowden warned Tiger supporters that Clemson was unlikely to be a bowl participant in 1999, but his main focus was to improve. Bowden's goal of improvement was reached, and he was happy to be wrong about his preseason prediction, as the Tigers were invited to the 1999 Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl.

In 1999, Bowden accomplished a personal milestone that no Clemson coach had attained since 1981, the year the Tigers won the National Championship. He became the first Clemson coach since Ford to be named ACC Coach-of-the-Year.

Bowden led the Tigers to a 6-6 record and 5-3 mark in the ACC against the nation's seventh-toughest schedule according to the Sagarin rating. The Tigers finished tied for second with Georgia Tech and Virginia in the final ACC standings, a six-place improvement over the previous season, the greatest one-season jump in ACC history in league play.

The Tigers also made a four-game ACC-win improvement in 1999. It was just the fifth time in ACC history that a team made that big of a league victory jump. Bowden had taken over a team with a losing record and brought it to a bowl game in his first season, just the sixth coach in ACC history to accomplish that feat.

The Clemson program set or tied 41 school records in Bowden's first year, including 26 on offense. Ironically, Bowden's first Tulane team set or tied 26 offensive school records.

The improvements in the ACC standings were thanks in large part to an innovative offensive attack. The Clemson offense ended the season averaging 402.6 yards per game, nearly a 100-yard per game improvement over 1998. The Tigers scored 26.8 points per game in 1999 compared to 19.8 in 1998. Clemson's 42 touchdowns in 1999 were fifth-most in school history.

Under Bowden, Clemson continued its strong defensive tradition. With 47 sacks, Clemson was first in the ACC in that category for the second-straight season, and the final total established a school record. Three players (Adams - 15.5, Carson - 12.0, Robert Carswell - 10.8) all had nearly 11 tackles per game in 1999 to rank among the top-four tacklers in the league.

Adams, a sophomore that season, finished with 186 tackles, highest in the nation, and broke the Clemson single-season tackle record held by Anthony Simmons. They all contributed to the 17th-best pass efficiency defense in the nation, a unit that had 19 interceptions, ninth highest in the country.

Thanks to the wide-open offensive attack, several Clemson players made their presence felt in the national rankings and the Clemson record book. Junior wide receiver Rod Gardner became the school's first 1,000-yard receiver. Gardner had 80 receptions for 1,084 yards, Tiger single-season records in both areas. He was 17th in the nation in receptions per game, with a 6.6 mark. He had another 1,000-yard season in 2000 when he was a first-round draft choice of the Washington Redskins.

Four of Clemson's losses in 1999 came against teams ranked in the top 15 of the final AP poll. Bowden Bowl I, the first-ever meeting between father and son head coaches in college football history, took place on October 23, 1999. Bowden faced his father Bobby's top-ranked Florida State team in Death Valley in front of a national television audience. The Tigers lost a tough battle to the eventual National Champions, 17-14, the closest margin of victory for the Seminoles and the fewest points they recorded all season by two touchdowns.

Making strong improvement in his first year with a program was nothing new for Bowden. In the two seasons he was the head coach at Tulane, Bowden took a team that had been 4-18 in the two years previous to his arrival, and emotionally and numerically reversed the team's fortunes with an 18-4 record, posted an 11-1 conference mark, and finished the 1998 season ranked #7 in the nation by both polls. Tulane and Tennessee were the only undefeated teams in college football in 1998.

His Tulane team averaged 39.7 points, 5.1 touchdowns, 463 yards of total offense, 270.5 yards passing, and 192.6 yards rushing. The Green Wave averaged 6.3 yards per play, and converted on third down 47 percent of the time. Some say the most telling statistic in terms of wins and losses along with the most telling statistic when it comes to coaching ability is turnover margin. They were fifth in the nation in turnover margin each of his seasons at Tulane.

It did not take Bowden long to put Tulane back on the college football landscape. In his first year, Tulane was picked last in the preseason polls of Conference USA. But he led the New Orleans-based school to a 7-4 record, a second-place conference standing with just one league loss, and set 33 school records in the process, including 26 on offense.

Tulane's accomplishments on offense were noteworthy in 1997, but its offensive numbers reached uncharted areas in 1998. Tulane stood as the only school in the nation that averaged over 300 yards per game passing and 200 yards per game rushing. The team was fourth in the nation in total offense (507.1 per game) and second in scoring (45.4 points per game).

The Green Wave scored 40 or more points in eight games in 1998, including each of the last seven games. In one game, the Green Wave scored 72 points and rolled up 704 yards of total offense. They converted 52 percent of their third-down opportunities for the season and had just 11 turnovers in over 800 plays. The 1998 season saw the program post a perfect 11-0 regular season under Bowden, its first perfect regular season since 1931. The Green Wave won Conference USA, its first league title since Tulane won the SEC in 1949. Bowden was named Conference USA Coach-of-the-Year.

His team ranked #7 in the final AP poll and was a mainstay there from the third week of the season. Tulane had not been ranked at any time since 1979, and had not been ranked in a final poll since 1973. After Bowden accepted the job at Clemson, Tulane defeated Brigham Young in the Liberty Bowl.

Head Coach Tommy Bowden

A look to the list of coaches who had undefeated seasons in the 1990s shows two other men named Bowden. His father, Florida State Head Coach Bobby Bowden, had a perfect regular season in 1996 and 1999, while his brother Terry posted a perfect regular season in 1993. Obviously, the Bowdens are the first family of college coaching, and this "Wonder Years" environment had a lot to do with Tommy Bowden's decision to enter coaching.

The fatherly influence of a college coach who reached 300 career wins against his son in 1999, also had an influence on other members of the family. Bobby Bowden is the winningest coach in Division I history. Terry has been a head coach at Samford and Auburn, posting a 47-17-1 record at the latter. He also serves as a commentator for Westwood One's radio college football package.

Tommy Bowden began his college football experience as a walk-on wide receiver at West Virginia. He played for his father between 1973-75 and then for Frank Cignetti during the 1976 season.

As a junior, he caught 15 passes for 189 yards and one score. Bowden remained at West Virginia for the 1977 season and began his coaching career, serving as a graduate assistant on Cignetti's staff. His interest in coaching only became more intense after that first year as a graduate assistant. His father then hired him as a secondary coach at Florida State for the 1978 season.

That experience confirmed to Bowden that he was in a profession that would be his life's work. The Seminoles posted a 19-4 mark in his two seasons at Florida State.

In 1980, Bowden joined the staff at East Carolina, where he coached for the spring-practice session of 1980. That spring, he moved to Auburn and served as the Tigers' running backs coach for the 1980 season. Among the players he coached was James Brooks, who went on to a 13-year NFL career and is still second in Auburn history in rushing.

In 1981, Bowden returned to Tallahassee as the tight ends coach. In two more years at Florida State, the Seminoles posted a 15-8 mark. The 1982 team ranked #13 in the final poll, claimed a 9-3 record, and won a Gator Bowl championship.

From 1983-86, Bowden served under Steve Sloan at Duke as the quarterbacks coach, and was named coordinator in 1985. In 1984, he made his first trip to Death Valley as a coach. Among the players he tutored was future NFL player Anthony Dilweg.

After four years at Duke, Bowden became the wide receivers coach at Alabama under Bill Curry. It was there that Bowden refined his offensive coaching prowess under noted offensive mind Homer Smith, then the Tide offensive coordinator.

In 1990, Bowden returned to a coordinator role, serving as Kentucky's offensive coordinator and wide receivers coach. That year, he helped the Wildcats to their first upper division SEC finish since 1984.

In 1991, Bowden joined Pat Dye at Auburn. He remained with the Auburn program for six years, his longest stint as a college assistant. During his tenure, Auburn had a combined record of 46-20-2, including a perfect 11-0 season in 1993. Auburn had four Associated Press top-25 seasons, including a #4 final ranking in 1993 and a #9 final ranking in 1994. The SEC Tigers were 20-1-1 in 1993-94 combined. Bowden worked under his brother Terry

Born on July 10, 1954 in Birmingham, AL, Bowden is married to the former Linda Joan White, who he first met when the two were in school together at Morgantown (WV) High School. The couple has two children, Ryan (25), a 2004 Clemson graduate and currently a law student at Regent University, and Lauren (21), a senior at Clemson.

Florida Atlantic 6

Clemson 54

September 2, 2006 • Memorial Stadium • Clemson, SC

Clemson scored its most points in a season-opening game since the 1995 season in a 54-6 victory over Florida Atlantic at Memorial Stadium on September 2. It was the first meeting between the two schools.

The #18 Tigers scored seven touchdowns on the afternoon, including two rushing, three passing, and two on returns, while the Clemson defense held the Owls out of the endzone, allowing just two field goals. Both field goals came off Tiger turnovers in Clemson territory.

The win, however, was marred by a season-ending injury by one of the leaders of the Tiger defense. Senior linebacker Anthony Waters, who was the ACC's leading returning tackler, was lost for his collegiate career when he tore an ACL in the third quarter.

Senior quarterback Will Proctor, who made his second career start, was 13-20 for 166 yards and three touchdowns. He hit Chansi Stuckey, Rendrick Taylor, and Aaron Kelly for scores, as Stuckey had five catches for 66 yards, both game-highs.

James Davis rushed for 94 yards and a score on 14 carries, while Reggie Merriweather rushed for 75 yards and a touchdown on only nine carries. The duo combined for 169 yards on 23 carries, good for 7.3 yards per carry.

Clemson outgained the Owls 372 to 263 despite Florida Atlantic's 77 plays to Clemson's 62. The Tigers, who did not punt in the game, were aided by eight third-down conversions on 13 attempts, an average starting field position of the 49-yard line, and 222 return yards.

Jad Dean got the Tigers on the scoreboard with a 25-yard field goal after a 12-play, 63-yard drive in the first quarter.

The Tigers took a 10-0 lead late in the first quarter on a 30-yard pass from Proctor to Stuckey in the back of the endzone.

After a second quarter fumble by the Owls, the Tigers took over at the Florida Atlantic 26. Merriweather's one-yard plunge on fourth down from the one gave the Tigers a 17-0 lead.

Florida Atlantic sustained its first drive of more than three plays later in the second quarter, keyed by Sean Clayton's 13-yard pass to Jamari Grant on third-and-11. But on the next play, Michael Hamlin stepped in front of Clayton's pass at the six and returned it for a touchdown. However, Clemson was flagged for a block in the back and took over at the Owl 30. The 74-yard interception return was the longest by a Tiger since 1978.

The Tigers converted two third downs on the ensuing drive to go ahead 24-0. The latter was a 14-yard pass from Proctor to Kelly, as the sophomore stretched across the goal line for six points.

Proctor's first career interception on the first drive of the second half set up a Warley Leroy 24-yard field goal. On the following kickoff return, a Tiger fumble allowed Leroy to kick his second field goal of the quarter on the ensuing drive, this time from 32 yards.

The Tigers responded with a nine-play, 83-yard drive. Davis had four carries of at least 10 yards on the drive, capped by his 22-yard run around left end for a touchdown.

Clemson upped its lead to 38-6 late in the third quarter. Punter Mike O'Neill's knee touched the ground as he attempted to catch a low snap at the Owl 18. On the next play, Proctor hit Taylor for a touchdown, Taylor's first as a Tiger.

After Dean made a 45-yard field goal early in the fourth quarter, Florida Atlantic moved the ball near midfield before being forced to punt. O'Neill's punt backed freshman Jacoby Ford inside of the Tiger 10, and the ball went through his hands and rolled in the direction of the Tiger sideline. But Ford scooped the ball and raced 92 yards down the sideline for a touchdown. It was the longest punt return in Clemson history.

Another freshman, defensive end Ricky Sapp, was key in Clemson scoring again on a return. Sapp hit Rusty Smith just before attempting a pass. Sergio Gilliam picked up the fumble and sprinted 31 yards for a touchdown.

The Tiger third-string defense kept the Owls out of the endzone after Florida Atlantic drove 79 yards in the last 5:19 of the game. Clemson's defense held from the one-yard line on the last two plays of the game.

Clemson scored 30 points in the second half despite totaling just 21 plays on offense and a time of possession of 8:07. Clayton and Smith combined to pass for 216 yards on 20-43 passing, as each totaled at least 100 yards through the air. Eleven different Owls had at least one reception as well.

Hamlin and Duane Coleman led the Tigers with seven tackles apiece, while freshman Jeremy Campbell had six stops. Hamlin also had a recovered fumble, giving him two takeaways in the game. Phillip Merling, Maurice Nelson, and Sapp each had one sack apiece as well. The Owls had four possessions in the red zone, but the Tiger defense did not allow a touchdown.

Clemson played 73 players in the contest, including 34 on offense and 34 on defense. The Tigers also played 20 freshmen, eight of which were true-freshmen.

Game 2

(2 OT)

September 9, 2006 • Alumni Stadium • Chestnut Hill, MA

Ryan Ohliger kicked a walkoff extra point after the Tigers had their extra point blocked in the second overtime to lift Boston College to a 34-33 win over #18 Clemson at Alumni Stadium on September 9. The overtime game was the second in a row between the two ACC division foes, as the 2005 contest also ended in overtime with an Eagle victory.

The Tigers had leads of 10-0 and 17-7 in the first half and never trailed in regulation, but Boston College fought its way back thanks in part to the 213 kickoff return yards by freshman Jeff Smith, including a 96-yard return for a touchdown on the opening kickoff of the second half.

Clemson outgained the Eagles 479-322 in the game, but the Tigers were kept in bad starting field position during the last three quarters, while Boston College had good starting field position thanks to Smith. Both teams converted 50 percent of their third-down conversion attempts as well.

Will Proctor threw for 343 yards and two touchdowns on 25-40 passing. His favorite target was Chansi Stuckey, who had 11 catches for 124 yards. C.J. Spiller added three catches for 82 yards, and had 171 all-purpose yards. Clemson had eight plays of 20 yards or more, while the Eagles had none.

The Eagles' Matt Ryan completed 22-38 passes for 212 yards, including six completions for 73 yards and a score to Kevin Challenger.

James Davis rushed for 93 yards and two touchdowns on 24 carries, as Clemson rushed for 136 yards in the game. L.V. Whitworth led Boston College with 78 yards on the ground on 19 carries.

An errant shotgun snap by the Eagles' center forced them to punt from their own one early in the first quarter. Clemson took the ensuing drive into the red zone, but a costly chop block led to the Tigers settling for a 26-yard field goal by Jad Dean.

On Clemson's next drive, the Tigers drove 48 yards in eight plays, capped by Proctor's 22-yard strike to Tyler Grisham down the sideline for a touchdown. It was the sophomore's first career touchdown, and put the Tigers ahead 10-0.

Boston College responded with a 53-yard drive to cut the Tiger lead to three points. A pass interference penalty gave the Eagles a first-and-goal, then Ryan found Challenger in the endzone for a nine-yard touchdown pass.

The Eagles put together a long drive and had first-and-goal at the Tiger two. But Michael Hamlin forced a fumble, and Gaines Adams scooped up the ball and returned it 14 yards. Two players later, Spiller took a swing pass, avoided several Eagles, and raced 82 yards for a touchdown. It was his first career touchdown, as it gave the Tigers a 17-7 lead.

A 35-yard field goal by Ohliger late in the first half cut the Tiger lead to seven points. Then Smith took the opening kickoff of the second half 96 yards to tie the score. It was the first kickoff return for a touchdown against the Tigers since 2002.

Clemson missed a chance to take the lead right back after driving 75 yards in 12 plays. Stuckey caught a Proctor pass over the middle, but fumbled at the six. The score remained tied 17-17 until midway through the fourth quarter.

Ohliger missed a 36-yard field goal, then Clemson drove 80 yards to take the lead. The drive was highlighted by a 24-yard pass to Rendrick Taylor on third-and-12. Davis carried over from one yard on third down for the score with 8:20 left.

Boston College took the ball down the field on its ensuing drive to tie the score. The drive was not without controversy, however. Ryan's pass to the Tiger 14 was caught simultaneously by Challenger and Hamlin, but Hamlin wrestled the ball away and came up with the ball. The play was ruled an interception, but the replay booth overturned the call. The play was costly in another way, as Hamlin broke his foot on the play and was lost for the rest of the game. Four plays later, Ryan scored on a one-yard quarterback sneak with 4:59 remaining in the game.

Neither team mustered a scoring threat, and the game went into overtime.

Boston College took over first in the first overtime. But the Tiger defense came up big on a third-down play and forced Ohliger to make a 35-yard field goal.

On Clemson's first play, Proctor hit Stuckey down the sideline for 22 yards to the Eagle three. But on the next play, Spiller was dropped for a loss of four yards on a run around the end, and the Tigers settled for a Dean 30-yard field goal.

Clemson took over first in the second overtime and was quickly backed up to the Eagle 41 for a second-and-26. But Proctor completed back-to-back passes to Stuckey for 20 yards, and Davis carried over from one yard two plays later. However, Jolonn Dunbar plowed his way through the line and blocked the extra point.

It took Boston College five plays to go 25 yards to tie the score, capped by Whitworth's six-yard scoring run. Ohliger's successful extra point sent the Tigers home in defeat.

Antonio Clay led the Tiger defense with 12 tackles, while Chris Clemons added 10 stops. Nick Watkins and Phillip Merling also had two tackles for loss apiece. Clemson's defense did not allow a rush over 15 yards or a pass play of 20 yards, but Boston College's ball-control offense was effective.

September 16, 2006 • Doak S. Campbell Stadium • Tallahassee, FL

James Davis' one-yard touchdown run with eight seconds left in the game propelled Clemson to a 27-20 victory at #9 Florida State in Bowden Bowl VIII on September 16. It was the Tigers' first win in Tallahassee since 1989, ending Clemson's seven-game losing streak at Doak S. Campbell Stadium.

The 2006 Tiger senior class became the first in ACC history to defeat the Seminoles three times. The loss also was only Florida State's third setback in its first 57 ACC games at home.

Clemson had three touchdown-scoring drives of 80 yards or more, totaling 345 yards (5.9 yards per play), while the Seminoles amassed only 204 yards. The depleted Tiger defense withstood a late Seminole onslaught to allow the Clemson offense to score late in the fourth quarter to win the game.

Davis, who only had 20 yards rushing on 13 carries until Clemson's final drive, ran six times for 67 yards on the last drive. He rushed for 87 yards in all and caught a pass for 54 yards. Aaron Kelly was the leading receiver with five catches for 51 yards.

Will Proctor stood tall against a stingy Seminole defense. The Winter Park, FL native was 16-30 for 194 yards and a touchdown. He also scored on a 20-yard touchdown run, and was a big reason the Tigers did not commit a turnover. His offensive line did not allow a sack as well.

On Florida State's second possession of the game, Brandon Warren appeared to be headed for a first down on third-and-11 after hauling in a pass from Drew Weatherford, but Warren had the ball come loose after being hit by a teammate, and Duane Coleman recovered in Seminole territory.

On the ensuing play, Jacoby Ford took a reverse 38 yards to the eight, and Davis rushed into the endzone on the next play to give the Tigers a 6-0 lead. However, Lawrence Timmons blocked the extra-point attempt, and Tony Carter picked up the ball and went the distance for two points.

After a booming 55-yard punt (60-yard net) by Graham Gano, the Tigers took over at their own 20 midway through the second quarter. Rendrick Taylor pulled down a 32-yard catch to move the ball into Seminole territory. Eight more plays moved the ball to the 15, but the drive stalled.

Dean came on the field to attempt a 32-yard field goal. But just as Clemson looked to increase its lead, disaster struck again. Patrick Robinson blocked another field-goal attempt, and Carter once again was in the right place at the right time, scooped the ball up, and sprinted 69 yards for the touchdown.

Clemson came right back and regained the lead right before halftime. The Tigers drove 80 yards in 10 plays, capped by Chansi Stuckey's 19-yard touchdown reception from Proctor in the back of the endzone with only 23 seconds left in the first half. The Tigers elected to go for two points, and Proctor found Stuckey again in the back of the endzone for two points, giving Clemson a 14-9 halftime lead. Clemson totaled 26 offensive plays in the second quarter to Florida State's six.

The Tigers received the opening kickoff of the second half and marched 80 yards in five plays to up their lead to 20-9. Proctor lofted a touch pass to Davis out of the backfield, and the sophomore ran 54 yards before being tackled at the Seminole 26. Three plays later, Proctor faked a handoff, rolled left, and ran 20 yards into the endzone untouched for six points. The two-point conversion attempt was unsuccessful, leaving the Tigers ahead by 11 points.

Momentum shifted Florida State's way for the next 25 minutes of play. The Seminoles cut the Tiger lead to one possession with 3:19 left in the third quarter when Cismesia made a 25-yard field goal. Richard Goodman had a chance for a touchdown, but dropped a pass near the goal line on third down.

On their next drive, the Seminoles drove 53 yards in 12 plays to tie the score. A 26-yard pass from Weatherford to Chris Davis on third-and-nine helped set up Joe Surratt's one-yard touchdown plunge. Weatherford connected with Davis again for a successful two-point conversion.

After the teams traded punts, a mistake appeared to have cost the Tigers again. Proctor was unable to handle a snap deep in Tiger territory, and the officials ruled that the Seminoles came up with the fumble at the nine. But after a replay review, the ball was given back to Clemson due to dual-possession. The Tigers were forced to punt, but Florida State never penetrated inside the Clemson 40 again.

After four straight three-and-outs by the Tiger offense, Clemson began its final drive at its own 15 with 2:22 left. Davis' 14-yard rush gave Clemson breathing room, then Proctor hit Kelly on a slant pass for 18 yards. After the play, the Seminole defense was still in the process of lining up, and Proctor caught Florida State off-guard with a quick snap. Davis found a hole and raced 47 yards to the four.

Two rushes netted three yards to the one yard line, and the Tigers called timeout with 11 seconds left. Davis' number was called again, and this time he found paydirt off left guard with eight seconds remaining to give Clemson a thrilling 27-20 victory.

Nick Watkins led the Clemson defense with 11 tackles, while Coleman had 10 stops. Gaines Adams also totaled seven tackles, including 2.5 sacks. The Tiger defense allowed just one offensive play longer than 15 yards as well.

Game 4

North Carolina 7

Clemson 52

September 23, 2006 • Memorial Stadium • Clemson, SC

Clemson scored seven touchdowns, all on the ground, and amassed 504 yards of total offense on its way to a 52-7 triumph over North Carolina at Memorial Stadium on September 23. The seven rushing touchdowns were the most by a Clemson team since 1982.

It was the Tigers' largest margin of victory in the 53-game series that dates back to 1897, and also came on the day when Clemson honored its 1981 National Championship team on the 25th anniversary of the undefeated season.

The #19 Tigers scored touchdowns on their first three possessions and never looked back. Clemson built a 35-0 halftime lead and 52-0 lead at the end of three quarters before the Tar Heels finally got on the board in the fourth quarter.

Clemson rushed for 324 yards despite not having a 100-yard rusher. The Tigers also passed for 180 yards, giving the team 504 yards of total offense on 79 plays, and had 30 first downs. Clemson did not punt in the game, scored all seven of its touchdowns after having first-and-goal, and had the ball for 38:17 to the Tar Heels' 21:43.

The Tar Heels totaled just 45 plays on offense, and had 150 yards along with only eight first downs. The Tiger defense also limited North Carolina to just 7-23 passing, 1-10 on third downs, and no offensive plays longer than 19 yards.

North Carolina was hindered by poor field position the entire contest, as it did not start any of its 11 offensive drives outside its own 23. The Tar Heels' average starting field position was their own 19, while Clemson's was its own 43.

James Davis rushed for a game-high 95 yards on 15 carries and scored four touchdowns. C.J. Spiller carried 12 times for 58 yards and totaled two scores, while Demerick Chancellor (45) and Reggie Merriweather (43) posted solid rushing numbers as well. Seven different Tigers combined for 11 rushes of 10 yards or more, including four by Davis.

Will Proctor was 9-14 passing for 134 yards, including two strikes to Thomas Hunter. The tight end had catches of 47 yards and 24 yards. Chancellor had a team-tying-high three catches for 30 yards. Jad Dean was also successful on all seven of his extra-point attempts, and made his only field-goal attempt of 42 yards.

Davis got the Tigers going early on their first drive by carrying six times for 49 yards, capped by a one-yard touchdown run, to give Clemson a 7-0 lead just over seven minutes into the game.

After a three-and-out by the Tar Heels, the Tigers took over possession near midfield. Proctor's 28-yard pass to Rendrick Taylor set up Chansi Stuckey's 19-yard run on a reverse to the seven. Spiller rushed for a touchdown on the next play to give Clemson a 14-point lead. It was his first career touchdown on the ground.

Sadat Chambers stripped Brandon Tate on the ensuing kickoff, and Crezdon Butler recovered the fumble at the Tar Heel nine. After three plays moved the ball to the one, Davis scored on fourth down late in the first quarter.

Two drives later, it was Spiller's turn to tote the football. He carried six times for 37 yards on the drive, and Merriweather later scored on a one-yard plunge to give Clemson a 28-0 lead.

Another three-and-out forced North Carolina to punt, and Clemson took over at its own 28. On second down, Proctor found Hunter wide open over the middle, and the senior scampered 47 yards to the Tar Heel 24. Davis then rushed for 14 yards to the 10, and scored on the next play with 1:40 remaining in the second quarter.

The Tigers opened the second half with more points, as they marched 82 yards in seven plays. Merriweather moved the ball near midfield with runs of 17 and eight yards. After an illegal participation penalty on the Tar Heels, Proctor connected with Hunter for 24 yards to the eight. Two plays later, Davis scored on a two-yard run.

Chris Clemons' first career interception on the ensuing drive gave the ball back to the Tigers at the North Carolina 25. Five plays later, Spiller scored on a one-yard run with 7:14 remaining in the third quarter.

On Clemson's next drive, Cullen Harper was inserted at quarterback, and he led the Tigers on a scoring drive. Harper carried on back-to-back plays for 22 combined yards to move the ball into Tar Heel territory. After the drive stalled, Dean made a 42-yard field goal to give the Tigers a 52-0 lead.

North Carolina finally put points on the board with a 12-play, 80-yard drive that culminated in a four-yard touchdown run by quarterback Cam Sexton. After going 0-for-9 on third down, the Tar Heels finally converted a third down to set up his score.

Harper then led Clemson on one of the longest drives (in terms of time) in school history. After a touchback on the kickoff, the Tigers went 62 yards on 16 plays, taking 9:45 off the clock. However, Chancellor was stopped on a fourth-and-one with 45 seconds remaining in the game.

Nick Watkins led Clemson with six tackles and two tackles for loss. Clemons added five tackles, two pass breakups, and an interception. Dorell Scott and Gaines Adams contributed a sack apiece, while Adams also had four quarterback pressures.

Game 5

Louisiana Tech 0

Clemson 51

September 30, 2006 • Memorial Stadium • Clemson, SC

Behind three 100-yard rushers and five forced turnovers, #18 Clemson blanked Louisiana Tech 51-0 at Memorial Stadium on September 30. It was the Tigers' first shutout of a Division I-A school since 1998. It was also Clemson's largest margin of victory in a shutout since 1990.

The Tiger defense came up with four interceptions, all in the second half, and twice stiffened with the Bulldogs driving inside Clemson's 10 to keep Louisiana Tech off the scoreboard. The Tigers also limited the Bulldogs to only 259 yards of total offense on 75 plays, good for just 3.5 yards per play, and 33 rushing yards on 29 attempts.

But the story of the game was Clemson's dominant rushing attack. James Davis, C.J. Spiller, and Demerrick Chancellor all went over the 100-yard mark to become the first Tiger trio since 1982 to accomplish that feat. Clemson had 393 rushing yards on only 41 attempts, good for a staggering 9.6 yards per carry, and had 13 rushes of 10 yards or more.

Davis rushed for 143 yards on 11 carries (13.0 yards per carry) with two scores. Spiller rushed 15 times for 127 yards and a score, and Chancellor rushed for 113 yards. Therefore, the trio combined for 383 yards on 37 carries (10.4 yards per rush).

Will Proctor was 5-8 for 100 yards and a score, with four receptions, all 100 yards, and the touchdown going to Chansi Stuckey. Neither Proctor nor Stuckey played in the second half.

Clemson amassed 526 yards of total offense on only 58 plays, good for 9.1 yards per play. It was the Tigers' highest per-play figure in 59 years. Even the punting was excellent, as Cole Chason punted twice for a 51.0-yard average.

After Clemson's first offensive drive stalled due to a costly holding penalty, Louisiana Tech moved into Tiger territory thanks in part to a 15-yard Tiger penalty after a third-down pass fell incomplete. But Clemson's defense held and forced a punt.

On third-and-one, Clemson called on its patented "hurry-up" play, and Davis broke free for a 64-yard touchdown run.

Jad Dean put the Tigers ahead 10-0 on their next drive with a 40-yard field goal. Spiller rushed five times for 44 yards, but Stuckey was unable to catch Proctor's third-and-15 pass over the middle.

Another Bulldog punt gave Clemson the ball at its own 17 early in the second quarter. Stuckey's acrobatic 31-yard catch moved the ball into Bulldog territory. Two plays later, Davis ran 18 yards into the red zone. He also carried on the next three plays, with the last being a four-yard touchdown run.

Freshman Ricky Sapp sacked Zac Champion at the five on the first play of the ensuing drive, and the Bulldogs were forced to punt after another three-and-out. Clemson took over at the Louisiana Tech 34, and Proctor wasted no time hooking up with Stuckey on a post pattern. Stuckey's diving catch in the endzone was good for a 34-yard score.

The first of five forced turnovers by the Tigers set up another score. Patrick Jackson fumbled the handoff from Champion, and Duane Coleman picked up the ball and returned it five yards to the Tiger 45.

Proctor connected with Stuckey for 24 yards on a screen pass, then Spiller carried on the next three plays. The last went for 20 yards and a score.

Louisiana Tech mounted its longest drive, but was unable to come away with points. The Bulldogs converted two third downs of 10 yards or more and had first-and-goal at the six. But after three plays netted only two yards, Maurice Nelson and the Tiger defense stopped Johnathan Holland short of the endzone on a fourth-down desperation pass from Champion, leaving the score 31-0 at halftime.

The Tigers opened the second half with 13 points before they even ran an offensive play. Jacoby Ford opened the second half with a 94-yard kickoff return. Spiller provided a key block of Holland on the return. Ford became the first Tiger in history with a punt return and kickoff return for a touchdown of 90 yards or more.

Two plays later, Nick Watkins stepped in front of Champion's short pass and raced 26 yards for a touchdown, giving Clemson a 44-0 lead.

With Louisiana Tech driving in Tiger territory, Crezdon Butler made his first career interception. But, Spiller fumbled two plays later.

The Bulldogs drove 62 yards in 12 plays on the ensuing drive, but Cortney Vincent picked off Champion once again on third-and-goal from the six.

With Harper in at quarterback, the Tigers had one of the longest drives in school history. Spiller carried four times for 41 yards to help move the ball into Bulldog territory, then Chancellor rushed 27 yards to set up first-and-goal.

Three rushes by Chancellor set up fourth down at the two. Harper rolled right and found Alex Pearson in the corner of the endzone for a touchdown, giving Clemson a 51-0 lead with 13 seconds left in the third quarter. The drive covered 97 yards.

Despite muffing two punts inside their own territory in the fourth quarter, the Tigers did not allow any points to preserve the shutout.

Freshman linebacker Kavell Conner led the team in tackles with seven despite playing just 16 snaps on defense. Another freshman, Butler, had two interceptions, and freshman Jamie Cumbie added two tackles for loss and his first career sack.

17

October 7, 2006 • Groves Stadium • Winston-Salem, NC

With #15 Clemson trailing 17-3 entering the fourth quarter, the Tigers scored the final 24 points of the game to defeat unbeaten Wake Forest 27-17 at Groves Stadium on October 7. It was the third time in school history that the Tigers overcame a 14-point deficit in the fourth quarter to gain victory.

The turning point came on the first play of the fourth quarter. Wake Forest lined up for a field goal that would have given it a 17-point lead. But holder Jon Temple was unable to cleanly receive the snap. He got up and tried to make a play, but Gaines Adams caused a fumble, grabbed the ball out of midair with one hand, and raced 66 yards for a score.

The Tigers scored two more touchdowns and a field goal thanks in part to two more turnovers caused by the Clemson defense.

Clemson came away with a comeback win despite having an average starting field position of its own 21, while the Demon Deacons had the ball to start a drive on average at midfield. Furthermore, through three quarters, Wake Forest's average starting field position was Clemson's 45, while the Tigers was their own 14.

The Tigers started four drives inside their own five, including twice on the one. But, Clemson had a pair of 96-yard drives, the first time in Tiger history that it had two drives of 95 yards or more in a game.

Clemson outgained Wake Forest 428-219 thanks to 214 yards rushing and 214 passing. Wake Forest totaled just 31 yards rushing on 31 carries.

Thanks to a 72-yard touchdown run, C.J. Spiller rushed for 104 yards on nine carries, while James Davis carried 26 times for 95 yards. Davis was kept out of the endzone, snapping his nine-game streak of scoring at least one rushing touchdown.

Will Proctor was 20-30 for 214 yards and three interceptions, but came through with the game-tying score to Aaron Kelly when the team needed him the most. Kelly had five catches for 91 yards, both game-highs. Rendrick Taylor was lost for the year with a broken arm suffered in the third quarter.

Freshman Riley Skinner showed pinpoint accuracy, as he was 18-23 for 169 yards to lead the Demon Deacon passing attack. Nate Morton had four catches for 64 yards, and added a touchdown pass to Skinner on a reverse-pass.

Kevin Marion took the opening kickoff 93 yards to the Tiger seven before being stopped by Jacoby Ford. That tackle proved pivotal, as C.J. Gaddis stripped De'Angelo Bryant on first-and-goal from the two, and Duane Coleman recovered at the one.

Clemson marched 96 yards in 14 plays on the ensuing drive, but settled for a Jad Dean 20-yard field goal after the drive stalled at the three. Proctor's 41-yard pass to Kelly and 31-yard hookup to Davis on back-to-back plays helped set up the score.

Late in the first quarter, the Demon Deacons drove 67 yards in nine plays to take the lead. Skinner hit Morton down the sideline for 36 yards to move into Tiger territory. Then on third-and-goal, Skinner connected with Willie Idlette in the back of the endzone for a six-yard touchdown pass.

Proctor fumbled on Clemson's next drive to give Wake Forest the ball at the Tiger 32. Three plays later, Morton lofted a perfectly-thrown 19-yard strike to Skinner in the corner of the endzone on an end-around pass to put Wake Forest up 14-3.

Clemson mounted another long drive before halftime, this time 74 yards after starting at its own two, but Proctor was intercepted by Kevin Patterson.

After the Tigers drove 44 yards and Dean just missed wide a 53-yard field-goal attempt in the third quarter, Proctor was picked off again, this time by Patrick Ghee, who returned it to the Tiger 12. But Clemson's defense stiffened, and Sam Swank kicked a 22-yard field goal to put Wake Forest ahead 17-3.

Proctor's third interception on Clemson's next drive gave the Demon Deacons possession again in Tiger territory. Five plays netted 15 yards to the Tiger 24. That is when Adams came through with the play-of-the-game on the botched field-goal attempt. Adams' 66-yard fumble return on the first play of the fourth quarter was his first touchdown as a Tiger, and it changed the momentum of the game.

Brandon Cannon stripped Skinner on Wake Forest's ensuing drive, and Donnell Clark recovered at the Demon Deacon 43. Five plays later, Proctor zipped a 20-yard touchdown pass to Kelly. Dean's extra point was tipped at the line, but it just sailed over the crossbar by inches to tie the score 17-17.

Clemson's defense forced a three-and-out, but Swank pinned the Tigers inside their own five again. After Thomas Hunter's 10-yard catch on third down, Spiller broke a tackle and sprinted 72 yards for the go-ahead touchdown with 7:22 left. It was the longest run by a Tiger running back since 1993.

Wake Forest drove into Tiger territory on the ensuing drive, but was called for a costly holding penalty for the second time in the quarter. Gaddis eventually intercepted Skinner's pass on third-and-16 and returned the ball to the Demon Deacon 47.

The Tigers drove inside the 10 before settling for Dean's 23-yard field goal that gave Clemson an insurmountable 27-17 lead with 1:12 left in the game.

Coleman led the Tigers with 13 tackles. Adams totaled eight tackles, including three tackles for loss, two sacks, and two caused fumbles. Gaddis contributed four tackles for loss as well.

October 12, 2006 • Bank of America Stadium • Charlotte, NC

Clemson scored touchdowns on its first eight possessions and cruised to a 63-9 victory over Temple at Bank of America Stadium in Charlotte, NC on October 12. It was Clemson's first game in the "Queen City" since 1954.

The #12 Tigers scored 49 points in the first half, their most in a half since 1981 when they scored 49 in the first half against Wake Forest. All of the Tigers' starters were rested after halftime, allowing second and third-string players to get valuable playing time in the second half.

Clemson outgained the Owls 559-221 thanks to 337 yards rushing and 222 yards passing. The Tigers, who averaged 9.6 yards per play, completed 12-13 passes, punted only once, and converted 4-5 third-down attempts.

James Davis rushed for a game-high 138 yards and three scores on only nine carries. Demerick Chancellor rushed 21 times for 114 yards and a touchdown, and C.J. Spiller rushed 12 times for 73 yards and two scores. Tim Brown led Temple with 121 yards rushing on 23 carries.

Will Proctor completed 8-9 passes for 151 yards and two touchdowns in an efficient outing. Cullen Harper was a perfect 4-4 for 71 yards and a touchdown as well. Jacoby Ford led the receiving corps with three catches for 67 yards, including a 55-yard touchdown reception.

The Tigers were also flagged for only one penalty, scored touchdowns on all six of their red-zone possessions, did not allow a sack, and sacked Vaughn Charlton five times.

Travis Shelton took the opening kickoff 53 yards into Tiger territory, then took a reverse 30 yards on the first play from scrimmage to the 12. But Clemson's defense held, forcing a 27-yard field goal by Jake Brownell.

Clemson quickly erased the early deficit and had one of its most productive offensive halves in history. Ford returned the kickoff 49 yards to the Temple 39, then Davis carried on each of the next four plays. The last was an eight-yard jaunt into the endzone.

Duane Coleman caused a fumble on the first play of the ensuing drive, and Michael Hamlin recovered at the Owl 34. This time, it was Spiller who toted the ball. He carried on each of the five plays of the drive, with the last being a one-yard plunge for a touchdown.

Proctor connected with Thomas Hunter for 53 yards on the next drive to move the ball to the Owl eight. Two plays later, Davis carried in from three yards out to give Clemson a 21-3 lead with 4:29 left in the first quarter.

Spiller carried the load again on the Tigers' next drive. He had back-to-back 15-yard runs, with the latter for a touchdown early in the second quarter.

After a 16-yard punt, Clemson took over on its next drive at the Temple 42. On third-and-one, Davis carried 23 yards to the Owl 10. Two plays later, Proctor hit Alex Pearson out of the backfield for a six-yard touchdown pass, giving Clemson a 35-3 advantage with 8:48 left in the second quarter.

After another three-and-out by the Tiger defense, Davis came through with another long run on third-and-one. This time he sprinted 64 yards for a touchdown.

With 2:10 left before halftime, Clemson took over at its own 33. Proctor found Kelly over the middle for 17 yards to move the ball to midfield. After Clemson's only penalty of the game, Ford took a "bubble screen" near the line of scrimmage and outran the Owl secondary for a 55-yard touchdown reception, his first as a Tiger.

The Tigers scored 28 points and amassed 223 yards in the second quarter, giving the team 370 yards on only 31 total plays at the half.

On the first drive of the second half, Harper took over the signal-calling duties. On third-and-four, he lofted a pass to Andrew Diomande along the right sideline. Diomande fumbled the ball near the five, but an alert Nelson Faerber fell on the loose ball at the goal line for his first career touchdown.

Clemson's streak of scoring a touchdown on consecutive possessions ended at eight when Chancellor fumbled on the first play of the Tigers' next possession.

On Clemson's next drive, Chancellor carried 10 times for 56 yards, including a one-yard touchdown run with 1:00 remaining in the third quarter.

Through three quarters, the Tigers outgained the Owls 518-89, and averaged 10.6 yards per play.

The Owls finally reached the endzone early in the fourth quarter. Charlton found a wide-open Steve Maneri over the middle on a 30-yard touchdown pass. The two-point attempt was unsuccessful, leaving the score 63-9. Temple had 132 of its 221 yards in the fourth quarter.

The Tiger defense limited Temple to only nine points despite the Owls starting a drive in Clemson territory on four different occasions thanks in part to nine kickoff returns for 240 yards by four Owl players.

Freshmen Crezdon Butler and Chris Chancellor each had seven tackles, while Nick Watkins had five stops. Freshman Ricky Sapp totaled three tackles for loss and a sack, and Brandon Cannon had two sacks.

Game 8

Georgia Tech

Clemson

31

October 21, 2006 • Memorial Stadium • Clemson, SC

In front of a nationally-televised audience on ESPN, #12 Clemson ran away from #13 Georgia Tech 31-7 in front of an overflow Homecoming crowd at Memorial Stadium on October 21. It was the first matchup of top-15 teams in Death Valley since 1992. The crowd also witnessed a game between the two rival teams that was not decided by five points or less for just the second time in 11 years.

Clemson's running attack proved why it was one of the best in the nation, as it totaled 321 yards against a team that entered the game seventh in the nation against the run. It took only 38 carries to amass the 321 rushing yards (8.4 yards per carry).

Atlanta native James Davis rushed for 216 yards on 21 carries and two touchdowns against his hometown team, while C.J. Spiller added 116 yards on 16 carries and a score. It was the first time in history that Clemson had a 200-yard rusher and 100-yard rusher in the same game. The two also combined for 215 rushing yards in the second half.

Playing through a "banged-up" shoulder, Davis had four rushes of 20 yards or more, including two rushes of over 50 yards. Spiller also had a 50-yard touchdown run and a 50-yard touchdown catch, giving Clemson four offensive plays of 50 yards or more.

Will Proctor was 7-16 passing for 105 yards and a touchdown, giving Clemson 426 yards of total offense on only 54 plays (7.9 yards per play). Cole Chason helped Clemson win the field-position battle, as he had a 48-yard average on five punts.

Meanwhile, Clemson's defense swarmed the Yellow Jackets all night, allowing just 205 yards of total offense. For the first time in his career, junior Calvin Johnson was held without a catch. Reggie Ball was limited to 12-25 passing for 117 yards, and Tashard Choice rushed for 48 yards on 15 carries.

Clemson's defense also allowed only one carry of 10 yards or more (14-yard scramble by Ball), and one pass play over 12 yards, which was a 35-yard touchdown catch that bounced off a Tiger defender.

After the Tigers went through warmups in orange jerseys and purple pants, the team changed jerseys in the locker room and ran down the Hill in all purple. It was the first time in the modern era that Clemson wore all purple uniforms.

Clemson won the coin toss and decided to receive the opening kickoff. On the third play of the game, senior offensive guard Roman Fry suffered a torn ACL, ending his season and career in a Tiger uniform. Clemson later drove into Yellow Jacket territory thanks to a 17-yard run by Davis, but a fourth-down pass was intercepted by Djay Jones.

The Yellow Jackets put together a long drive of their own, but came away empty. After driving 55 yards, Travis Bell hooked a 36-yard field goal wide-left. Both teams traded punts on the next two drives.

Davis ran 53 yards on the first play of the second quarter to the Georgia Tech 18. After four more rushes by the sophomore, he scored from two yards out when he dodged a defender on third-and-goal.

With 3:01 left in the second quarter, Jones forced a fumble after Tyler Grisham caught a third-and-three pass at the Clemson 47, and Jones returned it four yards. But Clemson's defense held, as Ball's fourth-and-four pass was incomplete.

Neither team threatened again, leaving the Tigers ahead 7-0 at halftime. It marked the first time since 1987 that Clemson held Georgia Tech scoreless in the first half.

After back-to-back, negative-yardage plays by Ball early in the third quarter, Georgia Tech punted. A kick-catch interference penalty gave the Tigers the ball at the Yellow Jacket 42. Davis rushed 30 yards on the next play, but the drive stalled. Jad Dean made a 25-yard field goal to put Clemson up 10-0.

After both teams traded punts, Davis carried 22 yards to midfield on the first play of the ensuing drive. Spiller then dashed 50 yards up the middle for a touchdown to put Clemson ahead 17-0 with 0:58 left in the third quarter.

The Yellow Jackets responded with an eight-play, 73-yard drive to cut the Tiger lead to 10 points. After converting two third downs, James Johnson caught a 35-yard touchdown pass from Ball after the ball deflected off Crezdon Butler. Johnson had a game-high seven catches for 75 yards.

But Clemson answered and upped its lead back to 17 points thanks to a highlight-reel play. On third-and-four, Spiller took a swing pass on the right side, eluded two Yellow Jackets, and sprinted 50 yards for a touchdown. He became the first Tiger in history to have a 50-yard touchdown run and 50-yard touchdown catch in the same game.

Gaines Adams and company made sure Georgia Tech got no closer, as he sacked Ball on third-and-five on the next drive to force a punt. It was Adams' sixth-straight game with a sack, establishing a Tiger record.

Davis carried on all four plays of the ensuing drive. The second was a 54-yard jaunt to the Georgia Tech five. Two plays later, he ran five yards over right end for a touchdown, giving the Tigers a 31-7 lead with 7:29 remaining in the fourth quarter.

Antonio Clay led all Tigers with 13 tackles, including three tackles for loss and a sack. Chris Clemons and Nick Watkins added nine tackles apiece, while Adams notched two tackles for loss and a sack. Butler also added an interception.

Virginia Tech

24

October 26, 2006 • Lane Stadium • Blacksburg, VA

Brandon Ore rushed for 203 yards to lead Virginia Tech to a 24-7 victory over #10 Clemson at Lane Stadium in Blacksburg, VA on October 26. The game was played in front of 66,233 fans on a Thursday night on ESPN. It was also the first meeting between the two teams as members of the ACC.

The defeat ended Clemson's 26-game streak of not losing a game by more than six points dating back to the 2004 season, when the Tigers lost, ironically, in the same state by 20 points (30-10) at Virginia.

Virginia Tech doubled the Tigers 332-166 in total yards, including a 224-80 advantage in rushing yards. It was the fewest total yards for the Tigers by 179 yards up to that point in the season. Meanwhile, the Hokie offense totaled 58 rushing attempts and wore down the Tiger defense by game's end.

Another key statistic in the Hokies' favor was field position. On average, they started a drive at their own 35, while Clemson started at its own 25, including only once outside its own 32. That was a big reason the Hokies were able to hold on to the ball for 11:40 longer than the Tigers.

Ore's 203 rushing yards came on 37 carries, while he added two touchdowns. It was the first time in the Tommy Bowden era at Clemson that an opposing player rushed for 200 yards in a game. Sean Glennon completed 9-15 passes for 108 yards, and Josh Morgan hauled in a game-high four receptions for 23 yards.

On the other side of the ball, the Virginia Tech defense stuffed the Tiger run game all night. The Tigers did not have a run of 10 yards or more until the final drive of the game.

James Davis was held to 30 rushing yards on 12 carries, and scored the team's lone touchdown. C.J. Spiller had a team-high 41 rushing yards on 10 carries.

Will Proctor struggled the entire game, completing only 11 of 28 passes for 86 yards. Tyler Grisham and Chansi Stuckey both had three catches to pace the Tigers. It was Stuckey's first game back after missing the previous three contests due to a broken foot.

Clemson played well in certain areas, such as pass protection and lack of penalties. The Tigers did not allow a sack and committed just one penalty for five yards. But the Tigers had no answer for Bud Foster's stingy Hokie defense. Clemson totaled just 75 yards of total offense in 42 plays after its touchdown-scoring drive in the first quarter.

After three-and-outs by both teams to start the game, Clemson drove 77 yards in 11 plays to post the first points of the game. A 20-yard pass from Proctor to Grisham on third-and-nine moved the ball to the Hokie 27. After Clemson's only penalty of the game, Proctor hit Grisham for 12 yards and Stuckey for seven yards on third down. Two plays later, Davis rushed six yards for a touchdown. It was his 17th rushing score of the year, tying Lester Brown's 28-year-old school record.

But the lead was short-lived, as the Hokies drove 84 yards in 12 plays on the ensuing drive to tie the score. At their own 36, the Hokies elected to go for it on fourth-and-one, and Glennon's quarterback sneak was enough to keep the drive alive. Ore rushed for 13, eight, and 40 yards on the next three plays to move the ball to the Tiger one. Two plays later, Glennon scored on a one-yard quarterback sneak.

On the Hokies' next possession, they drove 29 yards in 10 plays to take the lead early in the second quarter. A 14-yard pass from Glennon to Eddie Royal on third-and-nine kept the drive alive. But the drive stalled when Glennon threw back-to-back incompletions in Tiger territory. Brandon Pace came on to make a 37-yard field goal to put Virginia Tech up by a score of 10-7.

With 3:32 left in the second quarter, C.J. Gaddis stripped a scrambling Glennon, and Gaines Adams scooped up the fumble and returned it five yards to the Hokie 26. But three plays later, Proctor fumbled the snap from Dustin Fry, and Barry Booker recovered to end the scoring threat.

The game got away from the Tigers in the third quarter. Xavier Adibi picked off Proctor and returned the ball to the Tiger 35. Ore carried on all five plays of the ensuing drive, including an 11-yard jaunt for a touchdown.

After three-straight three-and-outs combined by both teams, Virginia Tech added insurance points after a lengthy drive of 79 yards. Glennon connected with tight end Sam Wheeler for 41 yards to move the ball into Tiger territory. On the next play, Ore carried 21 yards to the Tiger four. Two plays later, he scored on a three-yard touchdown run to give Virginia Tech a 24-7 lead with 2:07 remaining in the third quarter.

Neither squad mounted a scoring threat the rest of the game, as the two teams combined for seven punts in the fourth quarter.

Antonio Clay led the Tiger defense with 15 tackles, including 10 first hits. Maurice Nelson added 11 stops, and Nick Watkins totaled nine tackles. Gaines Adams had seven tackles, including two tackles-for-loss and a sack, and Phillip Merling added five tackles and 1.5 tackles-for-loss.

November 4, 2006 • Memorial Stadium • Clemson, SC

Dan Ennis booted a 31-yard field goal with no time left on the game clock to lift Maryland to a 13-12 upset win over #19 Clemson at Memorial Stadium on November 4.

The Tigers had taken a 12-10 lead thanks to Jad Dean's fourth field goal of the game, a 22-yarder with 2:25 remaining in the game. But Maryland drove 52 yards to set up the game-winning three-pointer. Maryland had gained just 78 yards in the second half prior to its last drive.

Clemson lost despite outgaining the Terrapins by 93 yards (394-301). The Tigers also outrushed Maryland 143-54, but Clemson had to settle for four field goals without a touchdown on the afternoon. In fact, Clemson had three red zone possessions, but could not reach the goal line.

Four of the Tigers' 68 offensive plays resulted in 201 yards. Thomas Hunter hauled in a 71-yard catch, while Chansi Stuckey caught a 60-yard pass.

Stuckey had eight catches for 129 yards, both game-highs, and Proctor was 18-27 for 251 yards. James Davis had a game-high 90 yards rushing on 20 carries. The Tiger offensive line only allowed one sack, and the team did not turn the ball over and committed only one penalty, but it proved costly.

All four starting kickers (punters, placekickers) performed well. Dean was 4-4 on field goals, while Ennis was 2-2, including the game-winner. Cole Chason averaged 41.8 yards a punt for the Tigers, while Adam Podlesh had a 43.3-yard average.

Sam Hollenbach, who led the Terrapins on the game-winning drive, was 23-34 for 247 yards and a touchdown. His favorite target was tight end Joey Haynos, who had six catches for 52 yards. Keon Lattimore led the Terrapins with 38 rushing yards on 11 carries, as he had the longest run of the day by a Maryland player, an 11-yard gain.

Clemson took its first possession 70 yards, highlighted by Proctor's 60-yard pass to Stuckey. After the drive stalled and the Tigers set up for a field goal, Maryland was flagged for offsides, giving Clemson a first down. But the next three plays netted zero yards, and Dean kicked a 27-yard field goal.

Maryland answered on its next drive to take the lead. Hollenbach hit Danny Oquendo over the middle on third-and-seven early in the drive. Facing third-and-21, Hollenbach connected with Isaiah Williams for 15 yards to the Tiger 34. The Terrapins went for it on fourth down, and Hollenbach completed an 11-yard pass to Darrius Heyward-Bey. Then on third-and-six from the Tiger seven, Hollenbach found Oquendo near the sideline, and the sophomore backed his way into the endzone for a touchdown on the first play of the second quarter.

The two teams exchanged punts, then the Tigers went on an 11-play, 79-yard scoring drive. Davis ran 42 yards off right tackle to move the ball to the Terrapin 32. But the drive stalled, and Dean came on to make a 32-yard field goal.

Maryland drove into Tiger territory late in the second quarter, but Hollenbach's errant pass sailed high, allowing Michael Hamlin to pull down the interception. The Terrapins led 7-6 at halftime.

After the Tigers were unsuccessful on a fourth-and-one in Terrapin territory, Hollenbach side-stepped the rush and hurled the ball 57 yards to Jason Goode on the first play of the ensuing drive to move the ball to the four. But the Tiger defense stiffened behind a 10-yard sack by Gaines Adams, and Ennis kicked a 31-yard field goal.

The two teams traded punts again, with the latter punt from Podlesh returned 18 yards by Jacoby Ford to the Terrapin 42. But after having a first down on the Maryland 14, Clemson once again could not find the endzone, resulting in Dean's 25-yard field goal with 14:51 remaining in the fourth quarter to cut the Maryland lead to 10-9.

With 7:56 remaining, Clemson took over at its own 10. Proctor scrambled on the first play to the 17, but Erin Henderson stripped the ball, and it rolled towards the endzone. An alert C.J. Spiller hustled back to fall on the ball near the goal line. The officials ruled that he gained possession in the endzone for a safety, but the replay officials overturned the call and gave Clemson the ball on the one.

Two plays later, facing third-and-19 from the one, Proctor found Hunter wide-open over the middle. He raced 71 yards to the Maryland 28. Davis later carried four yards on third-and-three, giving Clemson first-and-goal at the four. Two plays later, Davis carried what looked like the go-ahead touchdown, but the Tigers only had 10 players on the field and six on the line of scrimmage. Two plays netted only four yards, but Dean still gave Clemson a 12-10 lead on his 22-yard field goal with 2:25 left.

But too much time was still on the clock for Hollenbach and company. After the senior signal-caller found Oquendo for 12 yards for a first down, the Terrapins faced fourth-and-inches at the Tiger 45. His alert off-guard quarterback sneak gained five yards, good for a first down. Hollenbach, who was 5-5 for 47 yards on the drive, connected with Williams (13 yards) and Haynos (12 yards), moved the ball to the middle of the field, then spiked the ball with three seconds left. Ennis came on and drilled the 31-yard field goal as time expired.

Chris Clemons led Clemson with 12 tackles, and Antonio Clay and Nick Watkins had 11 apiece.

November 11, 2006 • Memorial Stadium • Clemson, SC

Jad Dean kicked two fourth-quarter field goals to provide the difference in Clemson's 20-14 victory over N.C. State at Memorial Stadium on November 11. Clemson held a 14-0 lead early in the third quarter, but the Wolfpack tied the score before Dean's two field goals gave the Tigers the win.

Like the prior week, a Tiger opponent in Death Valley had a late drive to score the potential winning points. But unlike the Maryland game, Clemson withstood the late charge and held on for the victory.

Clemson outgained N.C. State 369-273 despite totaling seven less plays. The Tigers rushed for 223 yards on 39 carries, good for 5.7 yards per rush. Clemson also totaled 146 yards passing, while holding N.C. State to just 95 yards through the air.

C.J. Spiller carried the load for the Tigers. The freshman rushed for 154 yards on 18 carries and added a 52-yard touchdown run. Spiller's rushing total was the most by a Tiger freshman in 16 years. Will Proctor was 15-24 for 146 yards with a touchdown and two interceptions. His favorite target was Chansi Stuckey, who had five catches for 72 yards.

Toney Baker muscled his way to 174 yards on 34 carries and a touchdown. However, Clemson stymied Daniel Evans, who was just 10-24 for 95 yards and two interceptions.

Twice in the first quarter, N.C. State took drives into Tiger territory, but both times it was forced to punt. Neither team scored in the first quarter. Furthermore, the first seven combined drives of the game by both teams ended in a punt.

The Tigers scored the game's first points midway through the second quarter. After starting the drive at its own seven, Clemson marched 93 yards on seven plays. Spiller carried four times for 30 yards to move the ball near midfield. Then on third-and-one, he took a toss-sweep and outran the Wolfpack secondary for a 52-yard touchdown run. Spiller carried five times for 82 yards on the drive.

N.C. State came right back and threatened to tie the score. Baker's 20-yard run moved the ball to the Clemson 16, then he ran five yards on third down to give N.C. State first-and-goal at the Tiger three.

A run by Baker and two carries by Andre Brown moved the ball to the one. On Brown's third-down carry, he appeared to have the corner on Chris Clemons, but the Tiger defender was able to push Brown out-of-bounds just shy of the goal line.

N.C. State went for it on fourth down, and Clemson appeared to have stopped the Wolfpack short of the goal line, but an offsides penalty gave N.C. State another chance. This time, Evans tried to sneak up the middle, but Clemson's surge kept him out of the endzone.

On the ensuing drive, Proctor was intercepted by DaJuan Morgan, but Evans returned the favor on the next play, and Duane Coleman came up with his first career interception. The turnovers continued, however, as Jacoby Ford fumbled after catching a short pass, and the Tigers led 7-0 at halftime.

Ford atoned for his miscue on the opening kickoff of the second half. He bounced off his teammate and sprinted 77 yards to the Wolfpack 14. Two plays later, Proctor connected with Tyler Grisham for a nine-yard touchdown pass over the middle, giving Clemson a 14-0 lead.

But N.C. State answered right back on its next drive. The Wolfpack drove 78 yards in 14 plays to cut Clemson's lead in half. Evans scrambled and found Baker for a 21-yard gain on a screen pass, giving the Wolfpack first-and-goal at the eight. Three plays moved the ball to the one, and once again, N.C. State elected to go for it on fourth down. This time, Baker plowed his way to paydirt off right tackle.

Two plays later, disaster struck for the Tigers. Proctor tried to complete a quick pass to Stuckey behind the line of scrimmage. But an alert Willie Young anticipated the throw, intercepted the pass, and raced 34 yards for the game-tying touchdown.

But after a 16-play, 78-yard drive that took 7:28 off the clock, Clemson regained the lead. Proctor came through with two clutch third-down completions. But a costly holding penalty helped stall the drive, and Dean came on to make a 26-yard field goal on the first play of the fourth quarter.

On its next two drives, N.C. State had excellent field position, but both times Clemson's defense stiffened and forced a punt. Then, Nick Watkins came up with an interception on a tipped pass to give Clemson possession at the Wolfpack 16.

Four plays netted only two yards, as the Tigers again were hurt by a holding penalty. Dean made a 31-yard field goal to extend the lead to six points with 1:10 remaining in the game.

John Kane returned the kickoff to the N.C. State 43. Two plays later, Evans hit Dunlap for an 18-yard gain to move the ball to the Tiger 38. After spiking the ball, Evans scrambled right and lofted a pass to Lamart Barrett, who came down with the ball. But his foot landed inches out-of-bounds in the endzone with Clemons defending on the play.

Then, facing a fourth-and-two from the Tiger 30, Evans was sacked by Ricky Sapp to secure Clemson's six-point victory.

Clemons and Watkins each had 17 tackles to lead the Tigers. Gaines Adams' streak of eight straight games with a sack came to an end, but he still totaled 10 tackles on the afternoon.

South Carolina 31

Clemson 28

November 25, 2006 • Memorial Stadium • Clemson, SC

South Carolina overcame a 14-point second-half deficit to defeat #24 Clemson 31-28 at Memorial Stadium on November 25. The win snapped the Tigers' four-game winning streak in the series and was just the Gamecocks' second victory in the last 10 meetings.

The Tigers led 28-14 after C.J. Spiller's 31-yard touchdown run in the third quarter, but South Carolina scored the game's final 17 points, including the game-winning 35-yard field goal by Ryan Succop. Jad Dean missed a 39-yard field goal with 13 seconds left in the game that would have sent the game into overtime.

The Gamecocks racked up 492 yards of total offense against a Tiger defense that entered the game leading the nation in yards per play allowed. South Carolina totaled 284 yards passing and 211 yards rushing along with 28 first downs. It also overcame four turnovers, including three interceptions by Blake Mitchell.

Mitchell was 23-36 for 268 yards and was not sacked all day long. His favorite target was Sidney Rice, who had eight catches for 103 yards. Cory Boyd rushed for 106 yards and a score on 16 carries, while Mike Davis added 69 yards and two touchdowns on 12 rushes.

The Tigers actually had a higher yard-per-play figure (7.2 to 6.8), but they totaled 20 less offensive plays and had 372 yards of total offense. All four of Clemson's touchdowns came on long plays, including a 76-yard reception by Jacoby Ford, runs of 80 and 31 yards by Spiller, and an 82-yard interception return by Jock McKissic.

Spiller rushed for a game-high 155 yards and two scores on only 10 carries. Will Proctor was efficient, as he was 13-19 for 191 yards and a touchdown. Chansi Stuckey led the Tigers with four catches for 47 yards. Cole Chason also punted well, as he had a 44.4-yard average on five punts.

After quickly moving the ball into Tiger territory on the opening drive, Mitchell was picked off by C.J. Gaddis at the 13. Three plays later, Proctor found Ford along the sideline for a 76-yard catch and run for a touchdown.

South Carolina responded with a 12-play, 64-yard drive to tie the score. Boyd's 18-yard run moved the ball to the Tiger one. Three plays later, Mitchell reached the goal line on a quarterback sneak.

The speed of another Tiger put Clemson back on top on the next play. Spiller rushed 80 yards up the middle and outran the Gamecock secondary for a touchdown to put Clemson ahead 14-7.

Early in the second quarter, the Gamecocks tied the score again with another long possession.

This time it was a 13-play, 96-yard drive. Mitchell connected with Noah Whiteside for 27 yards, then Boyd rushed for 20 yards to move the ball into Clemson territory. Davis then rushed for 16 yards to the Tiger four, and Boyd ran up the middle for a one-yard touchdown.

The Gamecocks drove from their own 13 to have first-and-goal at the eight after a 15-yard scramble by Mitchell. But on the next play, Gaines Adams deflected Mitchell's pass right into the waiting arms of Jock McKissic. The defensive tackle raced 82 yards for a touchdown with eight seconds left in the second quarter.

Clemson led at halftime 21-14 despite being outgained 290-216 and the Gamecocks successfully converting all five of their third-down attempts.

On the Gamecocks' first possession of the third quarter, they were stopped on fourth down on their own 39 when Ricky Sapp deflected a pass. Three plays later, Spiller bounced outside and sprinted 31 yards for a touchdown that put Clemson up 28-14.

But South Carolina quickly responded with touchdowns on its next two possessions. The first was highlighted by back-to-back 18-yard completions and capped by a one-yard plunge by Davis.

After a fumble gave the Gamecocks the ball on the Tiger 34, Davis ran nine yards up the middle for a touchdown to tie the score 28-28.

The Tigers' Davis saved Clemson from losing its lead. Proctor was intercepted by Nathan Pepper, who appeared to be on his way to a 33-yard touchdown return. But Davis caught Pepper and was able to strip the ball near the goal line. The ball went out of the endzone for a touchback.

The Gamecocks made their only possession of the fourth quarter count. They drove 52 yards to the Tiger 18 and took a 31-28 lead on Succop's 35-yard field goal with 7:51 remaining in the game.

Clemson drove 58 yards on 16 plays on its last drive, but came away with no points. Spiller's 23-yard run moved the ball into Gamecock territory. The Tigers then had first down at the 13, but back-to-back runs netted only one yard. Then, Proctor was sacked for a 10-yard loss, setting up a 39-yard field goal on the left hashmark. Dean's kick hooked just wide-left with 13 seconds left in the game, preserving South Carolina's 31-28 win. Dean had made his last eight field-goal attempts.

Chris Clemons led the Tiger defense with 12 tackles, while Duane Coleman added 11 stops. Nick Watkins and Michael Hamlin also added 10 tackles apiece. The Tiger defense had three interceptions, one each by Gaddis, Watkins, and McKissic, and had 10 pass breakups as well.

Clemson Bowl History

Clemson has a rich bowl tradition. The Tigers have a 15-13 record in bowl games, and the 15 bowl victories rank in a tie for 17th most in NCAA history with Florida and Washington. Clemson's first bowl game was in the 1940 Cotton Bowl when the Tigers defeated Frank Leahy and Boston College 6-3.

Clemson has appeared in a bowl game 17 of the last 21 seasons. That is the ninth-most bowl appearances since 1985.

Clemson has beaten some of the top programs in college football history in bowl games. The list of schools Clemson has beaten in a bowl game includes prominent programs Colorado, Miami (FL), Nebraska, Ohio State, Oklahoma, Penn State, Stanford, Tennessee, and West Virginia.

Clemson won its first three bowl games, victories over Boston College, Missouri, and Miami (FL). The three coaches Clemson defeated in those games were Frank Leahy, Don Faurot, and Andy Gustafson, and all three are in the College Football Hall of Fame.

Clemson has a football program that has been steady over the years in bowl games, no matter who has led the program as head coach. No less than six different head coaches (Jess Neely, Frank Howard, Danny Ford, Ken Hatfield, Tommy West, and Tommy Bowden) have all won bowl games for the Tigers.

Overall, eight of Clemson's 15 bowl victories have come against coaches who are in the College Football Hall of Fame. Clemson has four bowl victories over coaches who are in the 200-victory club. Woody Hayes of Ohio State, Tom Osborne of Nebraska, Paterno and Nehlen are all coaches with at least 200 wins who lost bowl games to Clemson.

Clemson has bowl wins over some of the greatest coaches in college football history:

- Frank Leahy, the second-winningest coach in college football history on a winning-percentage basis, when Clemson defeated Boston College in the 1940 Cotton Bowl.
- Joe Paterno of Penn State, the second-winningest coach in Division I college football history on a total-wins basis, when Clemson defeated Penn State 35-10 in the 1988 Citrus Bowl. It is still the largest margin of defeat in a bowl game for Paterno, who is the winningest coach in college history in terms of victories in bowl games.
- Woody Hayes of Ohio State, the ninth-winningest coach in college football history (Division I) on a total-victories basis, when Clemson defeated the Buckeyes 17-15 in the 1978 Gator Bowl, Hayes's last game as coach.
- Barry Switzer of Oklahoma, the fourth-winningest coach in Division I college football history on a winning-percentage basis, when Clemson defeated Oklahoma in 1989 Citrus Bowl, Switzer's final game as a college coach.
- Tom Osborne of Nebraska, the seventh-winningest coach in college football (Division I) history on a total-wins basis, when Clemson defeated the Cornhuskers in the 1981 Orange Bowl, which gave the Tigers their only national title.
- Don Nehlen of West Virginia, the 14th-winningest coach in Division I history when the Tigers downed the Mountaineers 27-7 in the 1989 Gator Bowl.
- Phillip Fulmer of Tennessee, the second-winningest active coach in Division I, when the Tigers defeated a #6 Tennessee team 27-14 in the 2004 Peach Bowl.

Jess Neely's last Clemson team won eight games in the regular season with just one loss to a Tulane team that would finish the season with an 8-1-1 record and #5 ranking by the Associated Press. The 8-1 Tigers were rewarded with an invitation to play Boston College in the fourth Cotton Bowl, but Clemson first had to get permission from the Southern Conference, which they immediately granted. The 1939 season not only resulted in Clemson's first bowl appearance, but also the Tigers' first, First-Team Associated Press All-American, Banks McFadden.

On the last play of the first quarter, Bru Trexler punted to Boston College's Charlie O'Rourke, who fielded the punt on the Clemson 40 and returned it to the 13. Two running plays lost 10 yards, but on third down Frank Davis gained six. Alex Lukachik then kicked a 34-yard field goal to put the Eagles up, 3-0.

Clemson's scoring drive began when McFadden returned a punt to the 33. Charlie Timmons rushed for 15 yards in two plays, and two plays after that, McFadden hit Wister Jackson with a 16-yard

Boston College at its 20. The Eagles fumbled on first down and Clemson's George Fritts recovered at the 24. The Tigers could do nothing with the gift, however, as Joe Blalock fumbled after a short pass.

The game turned into a defensive struggle in the second half, although Boston College did penetrate deep into Clemson territory on two occasions. The Eagles took the opening kickoff to the Clemson 19, but a holding penalty and an incomplete pass ended the threat and BC was forced to punt.

Late in the game, the Eagles drove to the Clemson 11 yard line, but Bryant and McFadden each broke up two passes and Clemson took over possession on downs.

McFadden effectively bottled up the Eagles other than those drives with his punting. His 44-yard average on 11 kicks, including two boots for 51 and 55 yards in the second half, prevented Boston College from getting good field position, and the Clemson defense made the 6-3 score stand.

pass to the Eagle 20. Timmons ran the final 20 yards in three carries, but Shad Bryant missed the extra point.

Later in the quarter, a 51-yard punt by McFadden started

Clemson opened the 1948 season with a 53-0 shutout of Presbyterian in the Tigers' first-ever night home game and they closed the regular season with a 20-0 blanking of The Citadel in the first game played at the Bulldogs' Johnson Hagood Stadium. In between, the Tigers shut out three more opponents and beat five others on the way to a 10-0 record, a #11 ranking in the polls, and an invitation to play Missouri in the fourth Gator Bowl.

Clemson kicked off, but three plays later Missouri fumbled and Clemson's Bob Martin recovered at the 19. A pass interference call gave Clemson the ball at the one, and Fred Cone scored from there. Jack Miller added the point.

Ray Mathews recovered a Missouri fumble later in the quarter to give Clemson the ball at its 35. Mathews took the next play for 26 yards and five plays later Bobby Gage passed to Martin for 19 more. Cone scored for the second time from the one, and Miller's conversion gave the Southern Conference champs a 14-0 lead.

After a kickoff, Missouri launched an 80-yard drive to score its first touchdown. Harold Entsminger missouri 46. Missouri kept the ball on the ground and Entsminger carried over from the one for the score. Dawson added his second point after and the game was tied up at 14.

Clemson took the second-half kickoff and used up six minutes of clock on the way to its third touchdown. Gage ran and passed for 19 yards on two separate plays and the Tigers scored on a flea-flicker pass from Cone to Gage to John Poulos. Miller completed the 80-yard drive with his third PAT.

A Missouri punt rolled dead at the Clemson one, and after an incomplete pass, Gage threw a pass that hit the ground in the end zone and was ruled a safety. Clemson's lead was then cut to 21-16.

Clemson then launched an 11-play surge to the Missouri 12. Miller kicked a 32-yard field goal that would prove to be the winning points.

Dave Ashley returned the kickoff to the Missouri 40, and seven plays later, Richard Braznell passed to Kenneth Bounds for a 20-yard touchdown. Dawson added the point to bring Missouri within one point with five minutes left. Clemson took the kickoff and ran out the clock to preserve the win.

Clemson's bid for a repeat of the 1948 perfect season ended when the Tigers had to rely on the toe of Charlie Radcliff to tie South Carolina after three season-opening shutouts. Clemson regrouped, however, with a 13-12 win at Wake Forest and then won the remaining four games by convincing margins. The Tigers' 8-0-1 mark and second-place finish in the Southern Conference earned them a bid to play Miami, who was also undefeated at 9-0-1, in the 17th Orange Bowl.

After a scoreless first quarter, Clemson got on track with a 45-yard pass from Billy Hair to Bob Hudson that put the Tigers at the Miami one. Fred Cone capped the 76-yard drive with a sweep for the score and Radcliff tacked on the extra point.

Clemson mounted a six-play, 70-yard drive in the third quarter for its second touchdown. Hair threw a 31-yard pass to Ray Mathews, who, as the papers said, "made a circus catch with two men on his back," to move the Tigers to the Miami 28. Hair tossed a pass to Glenn Smith at the Miami seven and Smith scrambled in for the score.

the Tigers for unnecessary roughness. On the next play, Frank Smith ran a reverse for 45 yards to move to the Clemson five. Harry Mallios took a pitch from quarterback Bob Schneidenbach in for the score and Gordon Watson added the conversion.

Miami drove 95 yards in just five plays for its second score of the game. Ed Lutes caught a pass at midfield and rambled down to the Clemson 17 before he was stopped. On fourth down, Jack Hackett threw to Frank Smith for the score and Watson's point put Miami in the lead for the first time, 14-13.

Mallios' 80-yard punt return was called back and two clipping infractions along with one unnecessary roughness penalty put Miami in a deep hole with six minutes left in the game. Frank Smith took a pitch-out from Hackett, but before Smith could get out of the end zone, Sterling Smith, a second-team defensive guard for Clemson, tripped him up for a safety, and Clemson led 15-14. Don Wade ended the last Miami threat with an interception, his second of the game, and Clemson ran out the clock.

Miami caught fire two minutes later when Jack Delbello intercepted a pass in the Clemson end zone and returned it to the 40, and then a 10-yard penalty was assessed Clemson won the first three games of the 1951 season as well as the last four. In between, however, the Tigers dropped games to Pacific and South Carolina on the road. The Gator Bowl Committee invited Clemson with its 7-2 record to play Miami (FL) in a rematch of the 1951 Orange Bowl, but the Southern Conference had decided to ban its teams from any bowl competition that season. Clemson and Maryland accepted bowl bids anyway, and were prohibited from playing any other conference team except each other the next year.

The Tigers opened the game with a bang as Billy Hair took Elmer Tremont's kickoff and returned it 72 yards to the Miami 26, but Clemson could only make six yards in four downs and the Tigers turned the ball over.

After an exchange of punts, Miami mounted an 82-yard drive to score the game's first touchdown. The drive was highlighted by quarterback Jack Hackett's only two passes of the game - a 15-yarder to Frank McDonald and a 40-yard throw to Ed Lutes. Two plays later, fullback Harry Mallios took the pitch and ran 11 yards for the score. Tremont added the extra point and Miami led, 7-0. Miami defensive back Jim Dooley intercepted the first of four passes to kill the Clemson drive at the Miami 15. His interception total is still an NCAA record for an individual in a bowl game. Clemson got the ball back after a punt, but on fourth down, defensive end Leo Martin blocked Hair's punt at the Clemson 32. Mallios converted twice on fourth down to keep the drive going, and he scored from two yards out. Tremont converted again and Miami had all the points it needed.

The Clemson defense turned stingy in the second half, as the Tigers did not allow Miami to penetrate their 35 and the Hurricanes did not gain another first down. Miami finished the game with just five first downs and 174 yards of total offense, yet won the game. The Clemson offense moved well, but a fumble at the Miami 18 and three Dooley interceptions inside the 20 kept Clemson off the scoreboard as Miami handed the Tigers their first bowl loss in history.

Clemson claimed its first Atlantic Coast Conference championship in 1956 on the strength of a 4-0-1 league mark. The Tigers were 7-1-2 overall and were a surprise choice to participate in the 22nd Orange Bowl, as only three weeks before their selection, the Tigers had been shut out by Miami, 21-0, in the same stadium. Colorado, which was 7-2-1 and the Big-Seven runnerup, was chosen as Clemson's opponent.

After a scoreless first quarter, Colorado got on track with a seven-play, 75-yard drive. The Buffaloes' catalyst was a 26-yard run by Bob Stransky that moved the ball to the Clemson 23. Four plays later, John "The Beast" Bayuk scored from the two. Ellwin Indorf added the point after.

Clemson came out of the lockerroom and marched 69 yards in 15 plays to score on Joel Wells's three-yard run. After a punt, Clemson moved to the 29 on Bob Spooner's two runs. Three plays later, Wells ran 58 yards on a counter trap off the belly series for the Tigers' second score. Bussey's point after made the score 20-14 Colorado.

Clemson recovered the onside kick, but the Tigers were forced to punt. Colorado then fumbled at its 11 and Tommy Sease recovered. Spooner, who had been the workhorse on the first scoring drive, carried the ball in from the one, and with Bussey's third extra point, Clemson led for the first time at 21-20.

Although leading, Bussey attempted a second onside kick. Colorado recovered and marched 53 yards in eight plays to go ahead for good on Bayuk's one-yard plunge. Indorf kicked the extra point and the Buffaloes led, 27-21. The two teams traded turnovers, and Colorado ran out the clock.

Frank Howard's threatened resignation during halftime inspired the comeback in the second half. "I told them I was going to resign if they didn't play better in the second half. I told them I didn't want to be associated with any team that played like that."

When Howard met Colorado Head Coach Dal Ward at midfield, Ward asked him what was the matter with his team. Howard said "I just don't know."

Later, Howard explained that his team refused to block in the first half, but in the second half, they got down to business. He had words of praise for John Bayuk, Colorado's fullback, and said he was as good as any fullback that Clemson had faced.

South Carolina, who had been shut out by Clemson the previous two years, scored 20 second half points to take a 26-6 win over Frank Howard's 1958 team. The only other blemish on the ACC Champions' 8-2 regular season record was a 13-0 loss at Georgia Tech. For their efforts, the Tigers were invited to play the nation's number-one team, Louisiana State, in the 25th Sugar Bowl.

Louisiana State drove deep into Clemson territory three times in the first half, but two fumbles and a thwarted fake field goal killed the drives. Clemson could do no better, though, as none of its first six drives went past midfield.

Clemson moved to the Louisiana State 27 yard line on its first drive of the second half, but a fumble gave the ball back to the other set of Tigers. On Clemson's next possession, Louisiana State got the break it had been looking for. On fourth down, the ball slipped out of snapper Paul Snyder's hands and hit up-man Doug Cline in the leg and Duane Leopard recovered for Louisiana State at the Clemson 11.

Louisiana State picked up two yards on its first three tries, but on fourth down halfback Billy Cannon Clemson had one last chance late in the fourth quarter. The Tigers started at their 17 and 17 plays later were on the Louisiana State 28, but Harvey White's fourth-down pass to George Usry was incomplete. Louisiana State took over on downs and ran out the clock.

In his usual relaxed way, Coach Frank Howard of Clemson said he was pleased with his team.

"Hell! I think we'd have beat them if that boy had held onto that little screen pass," Howard said. "I was going for those two points and beat them. I didn't think we would hold them to one touchdown, but I didn't think they would shut us out, either."

"Louisiana State has a good team, they rate the #1 spot in the nation. Cannon is quite a boy. Deserves his All-American rating."

"It was a wonderful victory. They're just as fine when you win 'em, 7-0 as 30-0. I'm very happy that we won," said Louisiana State Coach Paul Dietzel, who won the national championship at age 34.

"Clemson proved tougher than most people figured. But we knew we would have to play at our top peak to beat them. They were a good team."

hit tight end Mickey Mangham in the corner of the endzone for the only score of the game. Cannon kicked the extra point and Louisiana State led 7-0.

The 1959 season was one of firsts, lasts, and other milestones. Clemson won the last "Big Thursday" game with archrival South Carolina, 27-0, one of five opponents the Tigers would whitewash, the second-highest shutout total in a Clemson season. The 9-2 team was Clemson's third ACC Championship unit, and Frank Howard's last bowl team.

After the season-ending win over Furman, Clemson was invited to play Texas Christian in the inaugural Bluebonnet Bowl, which would be the Tigers' second post-season appearance in the calendar year of 1959. The 23-7 win over the Horned Frogs was Clemson's 300th football victory.

Alternate quarterback Lowndes Shingler guided Clemson on a 12-play, 63-yard drive to the Texas Christian five yard line, but the Tigers stalled. Lon Armstrong hit on a 22-yard field goal as the second quarter started, to put Clemson up, 3-0.

Not to be outdone, Texas Christian second-stringer Donald George moved his team on a 12-play, 63-yard drive to the endzone. The Horned Frogs scored the go-ahead touchdown on a 19-yard halfback pass from Jack Reding to Harry Moreland.

Neither team scored in the third quarter, but Clemson did drive to the Texas Christian 29 midway through the period. Harvey White's fourth-down pass to George Ustry was just one yard short of the needed first down and Texas Christian took over.

Clemson got pass-happy in the final 15 minutes and scored two touchdowns for a comfortable lead. With a third-and-18 situation at its own 32, White threw to Gary Barnes, who caught the ball at midfield and sprinted in for a score. After an interception, Shingler threw to Tommy King coming across the middle for a 23-yard touchdown, but Shingler's point after was wide, and Clemson led, 16-7.

Clemson returned to its running game for its final scoring drive late in the quarter. Shingler, Doug Daigneault, and Ron Scudato moved the Tigers from their 37 to the Texas Christian one and Scudato ran off right tackle for six. Armstrong's kick put the game out of Texas Christian's reach.

The win over the #7 Horned Frogs was the highest-ranked bowl win in Tiger history at the time and is still third-best all-time, trailing only the win over #4 Nebraska in the 1982 Orange Bowl and the win over #6 Tennessee in the 2004 Peach Bowl.

Clemson resurfaced in the national spotlight in 1977 after winning eight games and making its first bowl appearance in 18 years. First-year coach Charley Pell guided his team to a 7-6 win at Georgia, a near-upset of eventual National Champion Notre Dame at home, and came within an extra point of claiming the ACC Championship. After Jerry Butler's twisting, diving catch in the end zone beat South Carolina, Clemson accepted the invitation to play defending National Champion Pittsburgh in the 33rd annual Gator Bowl.

Clemson won the opening coin toss, but that was to be the only thing the Tigers would win that night as the Matt Cavanaugh-led Panthers scored six of the 12 times they had the ball, set seven Gator Bowl records, and handed the Tigers one of their 25 worst defeats in history with a 34-3 score.

Cavanaugh threw four touchdown passes (three to fullback Elliott Walker), passed for a Clemson opponent record 387 yards and accounted for 402 yards in total offense. Pitt set a Gator Bowl team record for passing yards and first downs, while Cavanaugh set the individual mark for passing yardage. If that was not enough, the Pittsburgh defense stymied the Clemson offense all night by keeping Steve Fuller & Company bottled up or causing turnovers when the Tigers' offense did get on track.

Pittsburgh was leading 17-0 when the Tigers began their only scoring drive early in the second quarter. Fuller mixed passes to Anthony King and Butler with runs by Ken Callicutt to move to the Pittsburgh 32. The drive bogged down and Obed Ariri hit on a 49-yard field goal which set the Gator Bowl record for distance.

Fuller led Clemson on offense with 192 yards. He had been named ACC Player-of-the-Year as a junior. Randy Scott (13), Mark Heniford (13), and Bubba Brown led the Tiger defense with double-figure tackle totals.

Although the Tigers were out-classed by the Panthers, the 1977 appearance in the Gator Bowl was the start of a new era of football pride for Clemson.

The 1978 Clemson team was notable for many reasons, and not the least of which was a 17-15 win over Ohio State in the Gator Bowl. The team won 11 games (eight by convincing margins), had the nation's longest winning streak after the bowl game, changed head coaches 19 days before the bowl, and ended the coaching career of Woody Hayes.

The first quarter of new Clemson head coach Danny Ford's first game was scoreless.

The second quarter was unusual in that there were four possessions in the stanza and each team scored twice. Ohio State drove to the Clemson nine on the passing of Art Schlichter, but the Buckeyes had to settle for Bob Atha's 27-yard field goal.

Quarterback Steve Fuller engineered an impressive 80-yard, 15-play drive after the kickoff. Staying mostly on the ground, Fuller ran around left end from four yards out to give Clemson the lead.

Schlichter duplicated Fuller's feat nine plays later, but Clemson right end Steve Gibbs blocked Vlade Janakiewski's extra point try.

Clemson got the ball back with 1:15 remaining

Clemson scored the only points of the third quarter as the running combination of Fuller, Marvin Sims, and Warren Ratchford ground out 83 yards in 18 plays. Cliff Austin went the final yard for the score, and Ariri's conversion gave Clemson a 17-9 cushion.

With 8:11 left in the game, Schlichter scored his second touchdown to bring Ohio State within two points. Jim Stuckey tackled Schlichter on a sweep to prevent the two-point play, and Clemson led 17-15.

Ohio State mounted one final drive. Faced with third-and-five at the Clemson 24, an interception by second-team middle guard Charlie Bauman (the only theft of his four-year career) killed the drive. Bauman was forced out-of-bounds on the Ohio State sideline, and Buckeye coach Woody Hayes swung at the Clemson player. Consecutive unsportsmanlike conduct penalties gave Clemson excellent field position, and Fuller was able to run out the clock, giving Clemson its first win over a Big Ten team.

Bubba Brown led the Clemson defense with 22 tackles, still a school record for tackles in a bowl game. Jim Stuckey added 10 tackles.

in the quarter and Fuller passed his way to the Buckeye 30. With only five seconds left, Ariri hit a 47-yard field goal that gave the Tigers a 10-9 lead at halftime.

Clemson made its third consecutive bowl appearance in 1979 after an 8-3 season. The year included a 19-10 win over Gator Bowl-bound North Carolina and a dramatic, come-from-behind 16-10 victory at Notre Dame. The 1979 season was also Danny Ford's first full campaign as head coach.

The Tigers got on the board first with an eight-play, 66-yard drive highlighted by Billy Lott's 27-yard pass to Lester Brown. Brown scored two plays later on a one-yard dive over the middle and Obed Ariri's point after made the score 7-0 midway through the first period.

Baylor took the lead on two second-quarter touchdown passes from Mike Brannon to Bo Taylor and Robert Holt. Robert Bledsoe converted after both scores and the Southwest Conference representatives led 14-7 at intermission.

Clemson took the second half kickoff and a combination of runs by Lott, Brown, and Tracy Perry took the Tigers to the Baylor 22. The drive stalled there and Ariri's 40-yard field goal narrowed the margin to 14-10.

Quarterback Mickey Elam led Baylor on a 64-

(future All-Pro with the Chicago Bears), led the Baylor defense with 20 tackles. He was a major reason Clemson gained a season low 67 yards rushing in 51 attempts.

Andy Headen began Clemson's furious comeback with a blocked punt that was recovered by James Robinson at the Baylor one. Chuck McSwain scored with 20 seconds left in the game and Lott passed to Jeff McCall for the two-point conversion. Headen recovered the ensuing onside kick, and Lott completed a 30-yard pass to Perry Tuttle to move the Tigers to the Baylor 33. An interception killed the winning touchdown drive, however, and Baylor ran out the remaining seconds for the win.

yard field goal drive after the kickoff, and he later threw a seven-yard touchdown to Raymond Cockrell to push the Bears' lead to 24-10.

After 86 years of playing football, Clemson claimed its first National Championship with a 22-15 win over perennial Big Eight power Nebraska in the 48th Orange Bowl. After a 13-3 win over 1980 National Champion Georgia at home, the Tigers worked their way to the number-one ranking in both wire service polls by season's end. The win over the Cornhuskers gave Clemson the national title and its third perfect season in history.

Nebraska took the kickoff, but three plays later, Tiger middle guard William Devane recovered a Mark Mauer fumble at the Nebraska 33. Quarterback Homer Jordan drove Clemson to the Nebraska 24 before the drive stalled, and Donald Igwebiuke drilled a 41-yard field goal to put the ACC Champions up, 3-0.

Nebraska came right back, however, as the Big Eight title holder drove 69 yards in eight plays to score on a 25-yard halfback pass from Mike Rozier to Anthony Steels. Kevin Seibel's extra point gave Nebraska the lead at 7-3 with 6:43 to go in the first quarter.

After an exchange of punts, the Clemson offense moved from the Nebraska 42 yard line to the 21 to set up Igwebiuke's second field goal. The 37-yard boot narrowed the score to 7-6.

A second-quarter Phil Bates fumble gave Clemson the ball at the Nebraska 27, and the running combination of Jordan, Kevin Mack, and Cliff Austin moved the ball to the Cornhusker two. Austin, who had been stuck in the hotel elevator for two hours earlier in the day, scampered in for the score that gave Clemson a lead it would not relinquish.

On its second possession of the second half, Clemson drove 75 yards in 12 plays to score its final touchdown of the night, a 13-yard pass from Jordan to All-American receiver Perry Tuttle in the corner of the end zone. It was Tuttle's eighth touchdown grab of the season, which set a school record. Bob Paulling's extra point put the Tigers ahead, 19-7.

After Billy Davis's 47-yard punt return, Jordan moved the Tigers to the Nebraska 20, where Igwebiuke kicked a 36-yard field goal, his third of the evening, to put Clemson ahead 22-7 with two-and-a-half minutes left in the third stanza.

Nebraska was down but not out, though. After a near-interception by Johnny Rembert, Mauer engineered an eight-play, 69-yard drive that was capped by a 26-yard run by Roger Craig. After a penalty, Craig ran in the two-point conversion from eight yards out to close the gap to 22-15 with nine minutes to play.

The Clemson defense shut down the Big Red on their final extended drive, then the offense held on to the ball for nearly five-and-a-half minutes to run down the clock to six seconds. Andy Headen deflected Mauer's desperation pass to preserve the win and the championship for Clemson.

Jeff Davis led the Tiger defense with 14 tackles in his final game. He also recovered a fumble, giving him a school-record eight for his career. Bill Smith added a career-high 10 tackles from his defensive end position.

Notes on Clemson's 1981 National Championship Team

- Clemson won its first national title in any sport and the first for the ACC in football in 28 years.
- Clemson had five different players earn All-America honors, more than any other Tiger team in history.
- There was no controversy concerning the voting of the National Champion in 1981. Clemson ended the season as the only undefeated, untied team in Division I after the bowl games and was the only team with three wins over top-10 teams.
- Coach Danny Ford, at age 33 at the time, remains the youngest coach in history of college football to win the National Championship.
- Clemson forced 41 turnovers in the 12 games, still a Clemson record for turnovers forced in a season.
- During one stretch in the season the Clemson defense held the opposition without a touchdown for 18 straight quarters and no team had a rushing touchdown against Clemson the first seven games of the season.
- Clemson won the national championship in 1981 after going 6-5 the previous season. The Tigers were unranked in every preseason poll for 1981.
- Clemson's improvement of 5.5 games from 1980 to 1981 was the largest improvement in the nation.
- Only one team had more time of possession than Clemson all season, Wofford.
- Clemson had the lead at the end of the first period in just four of the 12 games.
- Clemson scored 316 points in the regular season of 1981, the exact same total Georgia scored in its 11-game regular season of 1980, the year the Bulldogs won the national championship.
- Good health was a big reason for Clemson's success in 1981. Only five different starters missed any games all season and no one missed more than two games. A collective total of only eight games were missed by five starters all season.
- No opponent had a run from scrimmage longer than 26 yards and no opponent had a play over 30 yards all season. The longest touchdown play against Clemson was 25 yards, on a halfback option pass from Mike Rozier to Anthony Steels of Nebraska in the Orange Bowl.
- During offseason conditioning in the summer of 1981 strength coach George Dostal constructed a simple sign for his strength training facility: 1982 Orange Bowl, Clemson vs. Nebraska.

Clemson met a Big Ten school for only the second time in history when it faced Minnesota in the Independence Bowl. It was an interesting matchup of teams that enjoyed moving the ball on the ground, as both clubs gained over 200 rushing yards in the contest. The team with the higher rushing total prevailed, a fact that was easily predictable, as the Gophers churned out 257 yards rushing in a 20-13 Minnesota win.

Minnesota was coached by John Gutekunst, who had taken over for Lou Holtz at the end of the regular season. Holtz had resigned in December to become head coach at Notre Dame.

Clemson held a 13-10 lead heading into the fourth quarter, but for the fifth time in the last 13 games the Tigers could not hold the fourth-period lead. Valdez Baylor scored on a one-yard run with 4:56 left to give Minnesota a final ledger of 7-5. Clemson mounted a final drive in the last few minutes and advanced to the Minnesota 31, but a fourth-down pass for Ray Williams was overthrown.

Ricky Foggie, a native of South Carolina, led the Golden Gophers with 183 yards of total offense.

Kenny Flowers had another outstanding day for the Tigers with a career high 148 yards, including a 32-yard run. It was his seventh 100-yard day of the year, his sixth century game in the last seven contests. Ray Williams caught five passes for 58 yards, while Terrance Roulhac had 63 yards in receptions and 90 yards in kickoff returns. Another wide receiver, Keith Jennings, scored Clemson's only touchdown when he caught a three-yard pass from running back Stacey Driver in the third period.

Henry Walls led Clemson defensively with 13 tackles, while A.J. Johnson was outstanding in the secondary with seven stops. Dwayne Meadows established a career high with 13 stops from his defensive line position.

Christmas came two days late for the Tigers as they won their first bowl since the 1982 Orange Bowl. After a brilliant first half display of offense and defense, Clemson managed to hold off a second-half Stanford rally and go on to defeat the 17th-ranked Cardinal, 27-21. Before a Gator Bowl crowd of 80,104, the Tigers scored 27 unanswered points in the first half and appeared to be on the way to a rout. But the second half was a different ball game as Stanford came out strong and put up 21 unanswered points of its own.

Gator Bowl MVP Rodney Williams completed 8-11 passes in the first half, but it was his execution of the option that helped Clemson gain a 27-0 halftime lead. After punting on their first possession, the Tigers scored on their next five. With the score 17-0 in the second quarter, Reggie Harris knocked the ball loose on a Stanford kickoff return and the Tigers recovered on Stanford's 16-yard line. Two plays later, Ray Williams took a reverse in for a 14-yard touchdown, his first of the season. David Treadwell added his longest field goal of the year (46) on Clemson's next possession, putting the down and caught two scoring passes while the Clemson offense came to a standstill. With 1:43 left to play in the game Clemson was forced to punt to the Cardinal with only a touchdown's lead. But the Tiger defense rose to the occasion, as Stanford gained only six yards on the next four downs. The offense fell on the ball to run the clock out and the Tigers emerged victorious.

Tailbacks Terrence Flagler and Kenny Flowers combined for 149 yards. Sophomore Ricardo Hooper led the receiving corps with two catches for 44 yards. Terrance Roulhac and Flagler each had three catches with 22 and 23 yards, respectively. Rodney Williams rushed 16 times for 18 yards and one touchdown.

Defensively, the Tigers were led by linebacker Henry Carter who recorded a career-high 13 tackles. Gene Beasley added seven tackles and broke up two passes. The game also marked Michael Dean Perry's offensive debut, as he was put in as a blocking back on a goal-line situation in the first half.

Tigers up 27-0 at the intermission.

But the Cardinal came back from half-time a different team. Kodak All-American tailback Brad Muster rushed for a touch-

Everything went the Tigers way in sunny Florida as Clemson soundly defeated Joe Paterno's Penn State team by the score of 35-10. It is still the largest margin of defeat for a Joe Paterno-coached football team. Rodney Williams was selected the Citrus Bowl's Most Valuable Player as he led the Tigers in a brilliant air attack that took the Nittany Lions by complete surprise, and complemented it with a solid ground game.

The win was Danny Ford's fourth bowl victory in only nine seasons as Clemson's head coach. It also marked Rodney Williams' second bowl victory in his three-year playing career at Clemson and the second consecutive year that he was named the MVP of a postseason bowl. In 1986, Williams won the honor as the Tigers defeated Stanford in the Gator Bowl.

Williams, who was also named the Offensive Player-of-the-Game, completed 14 of 24 passes for 214 yards. His primary target was wide receiver Keith Jennings, who hauled in seven passes for 110 yards, his best career performance. Wideout Gary Cooper also added four receptions for 56 yards against Penn State. The Tigers rushed for 285 yards against Penn State to go with the 214 yards passing. It was the first bowl game in which Clemson had at least 200 yards passing and 200 yards rushing. Terry Allen was the leading rusher with 105 yards and one touchdown. Fullback Tracy Johnson ran for 88 yards and three touchdowns. Joe Henderson added 54 yards on the ground and another touchdown.

Defensively, Clemson was led by cornerback James Lott's eight tackles. Safety Richard Smith also had seven tackles and one pass broken up. Strong safety Gene Beasley and linebacker Doug Brewster both had six tackles.

Linebacker Dorian Marable was selected the Citrus Bowl's Defensive Player-of-the-Game with his five tackles, including one for a loss. He also intercepted a pass in the endzone and returned it 46 yards in the third quarter.

Cooper also added four receptions for 56 yards against Penn State.

The Tigers rang in the New Year in fine fashion with a 13-6 victory over the Oklahoma Sooners, moving into the top-10 of the final AP poll for the first time since 1982 with a #9 ranking. The victory also gave Danny Ford a victory over the winningest active coach in Division I, Barry Switzer. Ford defeated the top-three winningest active coaches the decade, with wins over Switzer, Tom Osborne (Nebraska), and Joe Paterno (Penn State).

Although the Tigers faced a wishbone offense for the first time since Ford became head coach, the Clemson defense came through with flying colors, holding the Sooners to only 116 yards, and no touchdowns on the ground.

The game was a defensive struggle, as the two teams failed to combine for 500 yards of total offense. The first five series of the first quarter ended in punts for both teams. Late in the period, the Sooners drove down to the Clemson one-yardline, and the Tigers defense faced a first-and-goal situation. Outside linebacker Levon Kirkland stopped the ballcarrier for no gain on first down. On second down Jesse Hatcher sacked Jamelle Holieway at the 19.

first score, a 20-yard field goal by Chris Gardocki. With time running out in the first half, Gardocki put the Tigers up with another kick, this time a 46-yarder.

A fumble in the third quarter gave the Sooners the opportunity to take the lead, but the Tiger defense held and R.D. Lashar hit again from 30 yards. The Tigers responded on the next series, driving 80 yards in 15 plays for the game's only touchdown, as Terry Allen scored on a four-yard run. Allen, the game's Most Valuable Player, rushed for 25 yards and caught two passes for 17 yards on the drive.

Defensive MVP Jesse Hatcher caused and recovered a fumble on the Sooners' next drive, but the Sooners would have one more opportunity to score. After a punt, Oklahoma drove from its own 20 to the Clemson 14, as Holieway put the Tiger secondary to the test by putting the ball in the air. On the last play of the game, freshman Dexter Davis knocked down a pass in the endzone to seal the Tiger victory.

Terry Allen was named MVP. Allen rushed for only 53 yards, his season low, but scored the game's only touchdown and caught four passes for 47 yards to lead all Tiger receivers.

After an incomplete pass, the Sooners were forced to settle for a field goal.

Doug Brewster intercepted a pass early in the second quarter to set up the Tigers'

The Tigers closed out the 1989 season with a stylish victory over West Virginia and Heisman Trophy finalist Major Harris, as a dominant Clemson defense held the high-powered Mountaineer offense to only 237 yards in total offense. The win gave Clemson's senior class the ACC record for victories as they became the first class in conference history to record 38 wins and the first Clemson team ever to win four straight bowl games.

West Virginia quarterback Major Harris came into the game ranked eighth nationally in total offense and ninth in passing efficiency but the Clemson defense, led by outside linebacker Levon Kirkland, enabled the shifty Harris to gain only 17 yards on the ground and 119 yards in the air on an 11-21 passing effort. Kirkland was named MVP for his efforts, as he had nine tackles, a five-yard sack, caused a key fumble, broke up a Mountaineer pass, and recorded three quarterback pressures.

The fourth quarter was all Clemson, as the Tigers moved the ball 47 yards on the ground to set up a four-yard Joe Henderson touchdown. Vince

Harris once again and fell on it in the endzone for a Tiger touchdown, upping the score to 24-7 in favor of Clemson. As the final seconds ticked off the clock, DeChane Cameron came in at quarterback for the Tigers and hit Rodney Fletcher over the middle for a 34-yard gain to set up a 24-yard Chris Gardocki field goal, putting the final score at 27-7.

Senior tailback Joe Henderson led the Tigers in rushing with 92 yards on 22 carries and one touchdown, while Chris Morocco, who was shaken up late in the game, gained 65 yards on the ground on 11 carries. Rodney Fletcher was the leading receiver as he pulled down three catches for 66 yards.

Chris Gardocki kept the Tigers in good field position, as he had a 46-yard average on four punts, including a long kick of 63.

Defensively, linebacker Doug Brewster led the team in tackles with 10, followed by Kirkland's nine and strong safety Arlington Nunn and inside linebacker Ed McDaniel, who had seven stops each.

Taylor recovered a second Harris fumble and after a Clemson punt, freshman defensive tackle Chester McGlockton, the ACC sack leader, knocked the ball loose from

After a separation of 22 years, two coaches found themselves once again on the same football field. This time, however, they were on opposite sidelines. Ken Hatfield and John Mackovic, who had been graduate assistants together at Army in the 1960's, were reunited in the 1991 Hall of Fame Bowl.

The Clemson defense dominated the line by holding Illinois to 247 yards, 150 yards under their season average. The Clemson offense surprised the Illini defense with an unexpected aerial assault. Tiger quarterback and game MVP DeChane Cameron, who was less than a 50 percent passer in the regular season, completed 14 of 19 passes for a Hall of Fame Bowl record 73 percent.

Cameron's passing yardage totalled 141 yards and he completed TD passes to Doug Thomas and Howard Hall. It was the first TD reception for both players in their respective careers. Thomas caught five passes on the day for 57 yards, career highs for both categories for the senior in his last game.

Clemson took its opening possession 71 yards to the Illinois two where Chris Gardocki tapped in any easy three. After Illinois fumbled on its first offensive its four previous bowl victories.

In the second quarter, the Tigers would score two more touchdowns. The first was the result of a 17-yard Cameron pass to fullback Howard Hall. It was just the third TD pass to a Clemson fullback in the last 18 years. Clemson then put the contest out of reach just three plays later when Arlington Nunn scored on a 34-yard interception return. It was the senior's third interception returned for a TD in 1990, a Clemson record.

The Tiger defense continued to hold Illinois throughout the remainder of the game. John Johnson led the Tiger pass defense, as he had two sacks to lead a point-prevention unit that had six sacks on the day. Illinois reached the Clemson eight-yard line in the fourth quarter, but the Tiger defense forced a fumble and Ed McDaniel picked up the ball. Illinois had the ball in Tiger territory just three times.

The Tiger defense earned its third shutout of the year. It was the first shutout at a Hall of Fame Bowl and Clemson's first bowl shutout in 17 bowls. The 30-0 triumph was a Tiger record for victory margin in a bowl game.

play of the game, Clemson scored a touchdown with a 14-yard pass from Cameron to Thomas. Clemson had not scored a passing touchdown in any of Clemson's bowl game victory streak ended at five as the Tigers left the state of Florida with their first bowl loss since 1985, and their worst defeat since 1986, when #14th California defeated #13 Clemson 37-13 in the Florida Citrus Bowl.

For the first time since the 1988 season, the Clemson defense, which led the nation in rushing defense in 1991, allowed an opposing running back to rush for over 100 yards, as California's Russell White crossed the century mark with 103 yards.

The Golden Bears scored early and often in the first half, taking the opening kickoff 76 yards for a touchdown and adding a 31-yard field goal on their third possession. Clemson was unable to gain a first down after the ensuing kickoff and was forced to punt. Although Chuck Lynch punted 49 yards, Brian Treggs eluded the Tiger special forces unit and went the distance for a 72-yard touchdown.

Treggs had 124 punt return yards, most ever against Clemson in a bowl game and one of the top opponent performances in any game.

Clemson got on the board for the first time with time running out in the first quarter as Nelson Welch connected on a 32-yard field goal on a drive highlighted by a 43-yard run by fullback Rudy Harris.

The highlight of the game for the Tigers came with just under five minutes remaining in the first half, as DeChane Cameron broke loose for a 62-yard touchodwn. That play marked the longest run from scrimmage for a Tiger quarterback in 13 years, but also marked the only touchdown that Clemson scored that afternoon.

The only score for Clemson in the second half was a 36-yard field goal by Welch in the third period. The Tiger defense managed to hold California scoreless in the fourth quarter, but Clemson could not put up any points, as it turned the ball over three times on interceptions and once more on downs.

Two Tigers who were playing in their last game in a Clemson uniform were named team Most Valuable Players in the loss. Defensive tackle Chester McGlockton, who had six tackles for the game, including three tackles for loss and one-and-a-half sacks, was named the Tigers' defensive MVP, while quarterback DeChane Cameron was named Clemson's Most Valuable Offensive Performer, after he scored Clemson's only touchdown and had 189 yards in total offense.

Heading into the Peach Bowl with Kentucky, Clemson owned the seventh-best bowl winning percentage in college football history with a .611 mark. The Tigers upped that percentage in an exciting way, with a 14-13 win over Kentucky. Tommy West also became the first coach in NCAA history to win his first game for a school in a bowl game without serving as a coach in that program during the regular season.

A tandem of running backs who hailed from Pensacola, FL led the Clemson rushing attack, as starting tailback Rodney Blunt rushed for a season-high 58 yards on 15 carries to lead the team. But, it was red-shirt freshman Emory Smith who was named the Tigers' Offensive MVP, as he rambed for 45 yards from his fullback position, including a two-yard touchdown run.

After taking over at its own two, quarterback Dexter McCleon engineered a 98-yard scoring drive that culminated in a one-yard run by Emory Smith.

The Wildcats drove back down the field on their next possession, this time reaching the Clemson one again, where they decided to go for it on fourth down. The Clemson defense held once again, as defensive tackle Brentson Buckner stopped the ball carrier for no gain. Buckner was named Defensive MVP after tallying a dozen tackles, including three tackles for loss. Buckner became just the fourth Tiger defensive lineman in the last eight years to record at least a dozen tackles in a game.

The Tigers were forced to punt after taking over at the one and Kentucky got on the scoreboard with a 17-yard field goal by Nicky Nickles. The score heading into the half stood at 7-3.

Neither squad scored in the third quarter, and barely into the fourth period, Kentucky took the lead with a 46-yard touchdown drive. After an interception, the Wildcats upped their lead to 13-7 on a 43 yard scoring drive, culminating in another field goal.

With time running down in the fourth quarter, quarterback Patrick Sapp came off the bench. The two teams exchanged punts before the Tigers got the ball at their own 18 with 3:50 left. On the first play of the drive, Sapp threw a screen to Emory Smith for 57 yards. With under a minute left, Kentucky line-backer Marty Moore intercepted Sapp's pass. But, on the return, Stacy Seegars jarred the ball loose and Brent LeJeune recovered. With 20 seconds left, Sapp connected with Terry Smith on a 21-yard score and Nelson Welch kicked the PAT for the win.

Clemson entered the 1996 Gator Bowl fresh off of five consecutive victories, including an emotional 38-17 win over arch-rival South Carolina. The Tigers had won six consecutive games away from Death Valley, but the streak ended there at the hands of Syracuse. The Orangemen handed Clemson its worst bowl defeat in its 20-game bowl history, 41-0.

In front of a rain-soaked crowd of mostly Tiger fans, freshman quarterback and future NFL star Donovan McNabb ran, passed and beat the Tiger defense. McNabb, the MVP of the Gator Bowl, was unstoppable, as he threw three touchdown passes and ran for another. He completed 13 of 23 passes for 309 yards. Wide receiver Marvin Harrison was on the other end of many McNabb passes as he grabbed seven for 173 yards.

Malcolm Thomas scored less than two minutes into the game on a one-yard run. On its next possession, McNabb led a 12-play, 62-yard drive that culminated in a McNabb five-yard keeper for six.

In the second quarter, the Orangemen defense thwarted Clemson's best scoring chance of the called a play-action pass that was incomplete, ending the drive on downs.

The homecoming for Jacksonville natives and childhood teammates Brian Dawkins and Patrick Sapp was bitter-sweet, although Sapp did register a sack for a nine-yard loss. The Tigers, who entered the game with the nation's fourth best rushing attack could only manage 90 yards on 34 attempts. The Orangemen held Raymond Priester, the ACC's leading rusher, to just 36 yards on 15 carries.

Syracuse added two more touchdowns in the third quarter to put the game well out of reach. After a 57-yard pass to Sir Mawn Wilson, Thomas ran two yards to the right for his second touchdown of the afternoon. Thomas rushed for 71 yards on 14 carries. Each team traded prodigious third quarter punts, including a 73-yard effort by Sean Reali. The two bright spots for Clemson were punter Chris McNally, who averaged 49.3 yards on six punts, and Brian Dawkins, who had a team-high 10 tackles. The Orangemen had their second one-play drive when McNabb connected with Harrison for a 56-yard score.

afternoon. After the Tigers had gone 53 yards down the field on 11 plays to Syracuse's six-yard-line, Clemson faced a crucial fourth-and-two situation. Clemson Raymond Priester set a Clemson Bowl record for rushing yardage with 151 yards gained during the 1996 Peach Bowl. On the defensive side of the ball, defensive lineman Trevor Pryce had three tackles for loss and one sack in addition to a caused fumble. Even with these fine accomplishments, Clemson still fell to the Louisiana State Tigers by a three-point margin, 10-7 at the Georgia Dome in Atlanta, GA.

Nealon Greene opened the scoring for Clemson on a three-yard run for a touchdown.

In addition to Priester's outstanding game, contributions to the running attack were also made by Emory Smith, who had nine carries for 40 yards. Smith, brother of NFL star Emmitt Smith, was playing in his second Peach Bowl, as he was vital in Clemson's victory over Kentucky in the 1993 Peach Bowl.

Clemson's sole touchdown drive was 1:29 minutes long and consisted of only three runs. The outstanding field position was achieved on a fumble recovery by Harold Means following a sack and caused fumble by Trevor Pryce.

Defensively, Clemson had five players contribute to a combined nine tackles for losses. These ing the second quarter when Kevin Faulk ran three yards to a touchdown. The extra point by Richey was good and the game was tied 7-7. Louisiana State scored again during this quarter, with a 22-yard field goal by Richey to take the lead for good. Neither team scored in the second half, as both defenses dominated.

Clemson got the ball back with 2:29 remaining, but a 52-yard field goal attempt by Matt Padgett with 1:02 remaining in the game was blocked by Adam Roman and Louisiana State hung on for its second bowl victory over Clemson. The SEC Tigers also defeated Clemson 7-0 in the 1959 Sugar Bowl.

Time of possession was fairly even throughout the game, as Louisiana State led with 30:15 minutes versus Clemson's 29:45 minutes. Not only was time of possession even in this game, but also the total net yards gained (Clemson 258 - Louisiana State 287) and the average gain per play (4.2-4.5) were close as well.

tackles for losses combined for a total loss of fifty-three yards of Louisiana State's offense.

Behind the strength of the Auburn defense, Dameyune Craig was able to rally his offense in the fourth quarter enroute to a come from behind 21-17 victory over the Clemson Tigers at the Georgia Dome. Auburn's offense managed to score 15 points on three consecutive scoring drives to overcome an 11-point deficit in the fourth quarter.

Clemson got on the board midway through the second quarter with the help of the first of many great special teams plays. Jaret Holmes' punt was blocked by Rod Gardner and returned 18 yards by Chad Speck for a touchdown.

Auburn would answer the Clemson scoring strike on its very next drive. Offensive MVP Dameyune Craig led Auburn on a seven-play, 67-yard drive, that ended when Jaret Holmes converted on his second field goal.

With 5:18 left in the third quarter, Clemson's special teams stepped up big again when Rahim Abdullah blocked Holmes' punt and Mal Lawyer recovered the ball on the two. From there, Clemson's Terry Witherspoon ran the ball in from two yards out on first and goal to give the Tigers a 14-6 lead. Auburn was forced to punt from inside its own 10-yard line the following possession. Tony Horne returned the punt 20 yards to the Auburn 26-yard line, giving the Tigers great field position. However, the Clemson offense failed to gain a first down. David Richardson connected on a 48-yard field goal, which gave Clemson a 17-6 advantage with 2:10 left in the third quarter.

Down 11 points, Craig rallied his team. He led the Tigers on a nine-play, 72-yard drive. The Auburn drive was capped off with a miraculous 22-yard touchdown run by Craig on a fourth-down play. Despite failing to convert the two-point conversion, Craig's run was a turning point for the Auburn offense and reduced Clemson's lead to 17-12.

Clemson was forced to punt on its next possession, giving the ball back to an Auburn offense that was finally clicking. Craig and his Tigers drove 49 yards in two minutes and 22 seconds, resulting in a Rusty Williams 7-yard touchdown run.

Following an interception, Auburn drove down to the Clemson five and Holmes converted on a 22-yard field goal, giving the Auburn Tigers a 21-17 lead. After Clemson lost the ball on downs, Auburn ran the remaining 2:30 off the clock.

Wayne Madkin ran for a touchdown and threw for another in the fourth quarter to lead #15 Mississippi State to a 17-7 win in the Peach Bowl and a record crowd of 73,315. Clemson outgained the Bulldogs 391-265, but many Tiger drives stalled in Bulldog territory, as Mississippi State's defense, tops in the nation in yards allowed per game, thwarted the Tigers and forced six turnovers.

Despite the loss, Clemson's defense played one of its best games of the year, holding the Bulldogs (10-2) to just 3.7 yards per play. The defense also began many drives after Tiger turnovers in Clemson's own territory.

Individually, Clemson was led on offense by Brian Wofford, who had six catches for a team-season-high 147 yards, including four of 20 yards or more. Brandon Streeter threw for 301 yards on 24-50 passing. Freshman Bernard Rambert, who played most of the game after starting tailback Travis Zachery left the game early in the first quarter with a dislocated elbow, had 70 yards rushing on 18 carries.

Clemson looked to be in business when Streeter connected with Rod Gardner, who had seven catches for 75 yards, for 37 yards on the game's first play. But Fred Smoot intercepted Streeter's fourth-down pass. Clemson had another golden opportunity later in the opening quarter. Thanks in part to Wofford's 32-yard catch and run, Clemson drove 64 yards in 15 plays before Tony Lazzara's 25-yard field goal was blocked and returned into Tiger territory. The Clemson defense continually came up with stands. The teams went into halftime 0-0, the first scoreless tie at halftime for Clemson since the 1988 Virginia game.

Scott Westerfield put the Bulldogs ahead 3-0 on the opening drive of the second half. After two screen passes that netted a total of 30 yards, Westerfield split the uprights from 39 yards.

The Bulldogs reached the endzone for the first time on their first possession of the fourth quarter. Madkin out-ran Keith Adams for a two-yard score. Their drive was twice extended on third-down plays in the red-zone by pass interference calls.

Clemson responded with an eight-play, 70-yard drive capped by Streeter's one-yard plunge to make the score 10-7. But Mississippi State came right back with a clinching touchdown-scoring drive, capped by Dontae Walker's 15-yard catch on a screen pass. Madkin's 21-yard completion to Matt Butler on third down was the critical play of the drive.

Michael Vick rebounded from an ankle-injury to lead Virginia Tech to a victory in his final college game, a 41-20 win. The quarterback finished with two touchdowns while completing 10 of 18 passes for 205 yards. The contest was a battle of mobile quarterbacks, as Clemson's Woodrow Dantzler gained 261 yards of total offense for the afternoon.

The Hokies capitalized on early costly Tiger mistakes. The uncharacteristic play began on the first drive when snapper Henry Owen bounced his delivery to punter Jaime Somaini, who was tackled for an eight-yard loss by Lee Suggs. Tech scored on its first offensive play of the game when Vick threw to Jarrett Ferguson on a 23-yard touchdown play.

Later in the quarter, Terry Jolly jumped off-side to preserve an 11-play, 59-yard drive that ended in a six-yard touchdown run for Vick.

Clemson got back into the game, but at a heavy cost. Dantzler found Travis Zachery for a 23-yard touchdown early in the second quarter. However, Zachery's missed the rest of the game due to a broken foot that occurred as the tailback leaped into the endzone. On the play, Zachery also snapped Lester Brown's single-season Clemson record of 17 touchdowns in a season.

Two possessions later, Keith Adams sacked Vick for 18 yards, forcing a fumble that Terry Bryant recovered on the Hokie 13. Clemson had to settle for an Aaron Hunt field goal, bringing the Tigers to within 14-10. But, that was as close as Clemson could get. Suggs scored his first touchdown of the day on a three-yard rush on the next possession to give the Hokies a 21-10 lead.

Hopes of a second-half rally were shattered when Vick found Andre Davis for a 55-yard touchdown on the first drive of the second half. Willie Simmons relieved Dantzler in the final quarter. On his first possession, Simmons led the offense on an 11-play, 71-yard drive that ended in a 23-yard touchdown pass to Rod Gardner. With seven catches, Gardner surpassed Terry Smith's Clemson record for career receptions, finishing his career with 166.

Both quarterbacks shined in the much-anticipated match-up between Vick and Dantzler, although the Hokie quarterback left with both a Gator Bowl and a MVP trophy. Vick had the advantage in the passing game, his numbers slightly besting Dantzler's 15-32 for 180 yards.

Clemson concluded its 2001 season with a 49-24 win over Louisiana Tech in the Crucial.com Humanitarian Bowl in Boise, ID. The Tigers managed to win despite snowy conditions and freezing temperatures that set records for a Tiger football game.

Clemson won by putting together one of its best all-around performances of the season. The offense racked up 548 yards of total offense and set a school record for most touchdown passes in a game with five. The Tigers scored four touchdowns in the third quarter, setting a new team record for most points scored in one quarter in a bowl game. Four touchdowns were scored by freshmen, marking the first time in school history that happened. The defense held the Bulldogs to just 49 total yards rushing while intercepting three passes and totaling six sacks.

After falling behind 10-7, Clemson took the lead 14-10 with 6:54 remaining before halftime when quarterback Woodrow Dantzler connected with Roscoe Crosby on a 53-yard touchdown reception. Dantzler helped extend the lead on the first drive of the second half by finding Ben Hall in the end zone and igniting the record-setting third quarter scoring effort. Dantzler recorded his third touchdown pass of the game two minutes later when he hooked up with Bernard Rambert for a 62-yard score.

Following an interception by Brian Mance, the offense capitalized seven plays later when Rambert scampered down the left sideline for 21 yards and a score. Charles Hafley intercepted Luke McCown's pass on the Bulldogs' first play of the ensuing drive, and Airese Currie's 19-yard fumble-rookie play less than two minutes later marked the fourth touchdown of the quarter and gave Clemson a 42-10 lead.

Backup quarterback Willie Simmons entered the game in the final period and helped contribute to Clemson's final score of the game, completing his only pass of the contest to Derrick Hamilton for a 57-yard touchdown with just over nine minutes remaining. Despite two late scores by Louisiana Tech, the Tigers' impressive team effort left fans excited about the potential of the 2002 campaign.

Dantzler ended his career with a fitting performance. He completed 15-23 passes for 218 yards, and his four touchdown passes tied his own team record. Rambert posted 101 rushing yards and a touchdown on 16 carries. Center Kyle Young was named to Sports Illustrated's All-Bowl team, as he had 18 knockdown blocks in the contest.

Texas Tech defeated Clemson 55-15 in the 2003 Mazda Tangerine Bowl at Florida Citrus Bowl Stadium in Orlando, FL. Making their fourth consecutive bowl appearance, the Tigers were unable to contain Kliff Kingsbury, who threw for 375 yards and three touchdowns. Earning game MVP honors, he completed 32-43 passes and finished the season with 5,017 passing yards. Although Kingsbury left the game in the third quarter with a leg injury, he returned to play in the final quarter and became just the third player in Division I-A history to eclipse the 5,000-yard passing mark in a season.

Charlie Whitehurst, who completed 20 of his 48 passes for 263 yards, led Clemson. His favorite target was Kevin Youngblood, who had a game-high 134 yards receiving on seven catches.

Kingsbury established the tone for the Red Raider offense by completing six of his first eight passes and leading the Red Raiders to a 29-yard field goal. Less than six minutes later, Kingsbury's 46-yard touchdown pass to Nehemiah Glover gave the Red Raiders a 10-0 lead. The onslaught continued in the first quarter when Kingsbury connected with Mickey Peters on a 19-yard touchdown pass that gave Texas Tech a 17-0 lead entering the second quarter.

Taurean Henderson's 10-yard run gave the Red Raiders a 24-0 lead with 12:09 remaining in the first half. Midway through the second quarter, Clemson finally mustered some points when Tye Hill blocked a punt that resulted in a safety when the ball went through the end zone.

Vincent Meeks intercepted Whitehurst at the goal-line. Three quick completions moved the Texas Tech offense into field-goal range, and Robert Treece's successful 40-yard attempt as time expired gave Texas Tech a 34-2 advantage at halftime.

Clemson's opening drive of the second half resulted in the team's first offensive score, when Whitehurst connected with tight end Ben Hall on a 10-yard touchdown pass. Kingsbury left the game on the next possession after Khaleed Vaughn rolled over his leg; B.J. Symons replaced Kingsbury and guided the Red Raiders to a score on his opening drive. Symons' two-yard touchdown pass to Carlos Francis made the score 41-9. Chad Jasmin's two-yard scamper with 12:29 remaining in regulation signaled the Tigers' final score of the contest.

Clemson's impressive finish to the regular season carried over into the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl, as the Tigers upset #6 Tennessee by a score of 27-14. The win gave Clemson two victories over top-10 teams for the first time since the 1981 National Championship season, and propelled the Tigers to a #22 ranking in both final polls.

Clemson received the ball to start the game, and the offense responded with a quick start. Charlie Whitehurst found Derrick Hamilton for 26 yards and Kevin Youngblood for 35 more to move into scoring position. On first-and-goal, Whitehurst led an option to the short side of the field. Duane Coleman took the pitch and leaped over a would-be tackler. He got in for an eight-yard score.

Tennessee was forced to punt on its second possession, as Clausen was sacked by Justin Miller (first of his career) and then had a pass tipped at the line by Eric Coleman. All-America punter Dustin Colquitt booted a 41-yard punt, but Clemson's Hamilton provided some fireworks. He started to the right side of the field, cut back left, and then was off to the races thanks to some timely blocks.

late in the first quarter. Chad Jasmin rushed for 46 yards on the drive, including a 15-yard touchdown run up the middle to put the Tigers ahead 17-7.

Clemson again responded with points on the ensuing possession. Jasmin ignited the drive with a 31-yard run up the middle. Whitehurst then found Hamilton for a 23-yard gain into the redzone. Faced with third-and-goal from the eight, the Tiger coaching staff reached into its bag of tricks.

Whitehurst took the shotgun snap and handed the ball to Kyle Browning between his legs. Whitehurst then carried out a fake option to the right, while Browning hesitated and then ran left for the touchdown. The play, known as "Panther," put the Tigers ahead 24-14 at halftime.

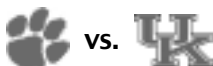

Clemson rushed for 153 yards, while Tennessee struggled to just 38. Jasmin, voted the game's most valuable offensive player, had 130 yards on the ground and a touchdown.

Recording sacks for Clemson were Charles Bennett, Touré Francis, Leroy Hill, John Leake, DeJuan Polk, and Miller. With two sacks, Hill was voted the defensive most valuable player.

His 58-yard punt return put Clemson on the Volunteers' 17-yard line to begin the next drive.

The Tigers quickly responded to a Volunteer touchdown

Clemson won its 15th bowl game with a 19-10 victory over Colorado in the Champs Sports Bowl in Orlando, FL. It was only the second meeting between the two schools, with the first coming in the 1957 Orange Bowl, a 27-21 Buffalo win.

Freshman tailback James Davis led the way for the Tigers, rushing for 150 yards on 28 carries to earn Champs Sports Bowl MVP honors. Quarterback Charlie Whitehurst finished his career as a Tiger completing 21 of 29 passes for 205 yards, and also ran for a touchdown.

The two teams exchanged punts to begin the game, and John Torp's 52-yard boot on Colorado's second drive pinned Clemson inside its own 20.

Two runs by Davis gained 26 yards, and Whitehurst followed with a 20-yard strike to Curtis Baham. The drive stalled three plays later, and Jad Dean connected on a 26-yard field goal for the first points of the game.

Colorado did not gain a yard on its next possession, but Torp launched a 68-yard punt that rolled dead on the Clemson one. The Tigers had to punt after three plays, and Cole Chason's kick traveled only 25 yards, setting up the Buffaloes at the Clemson 29.

Hugh Charles picked up 13 yards and a first down at the Clemson 10, barely missing a score by stepping out of bounds. However, three more rushes by Charles resulted in a loss of eight yards, and Colorado settled for a Mason Crosby 36-yard field goal on the first play of the second quarter.

The Tigers quickly moved the ball into Buffalo territory on their next drive, but a 47-yard touchdown pass from Whitehurst to Davis was wiped out due to an ineligible receiver downfield penalty. Whitehurst was then sacked, and Clemson was forced to punt.

The Tiger defense again proved too tough for the Colorado offense, and Torp was forced to punt after three plays.

On Clemson's next possession, Whitehurst found tight end Thomas Hunter for 10 yards and a third-down conversion at midfield. After a penalty gave the Tigers another first down, Whitehurst completed a shovel pass to Davis for 22 yards down to the Colorado 10. Two rushes by Davis and another completion to Hunter moved the ball to the two, and Clemson elected to take the lead with a field goal rather than risking a fourth-down opportunity.

Dean made his 24th field goal of the season to set a Clemson record for most field goals kicked in one season, and his 18-yarder also gave the Tigers a 6-3 lead.

Quarterback James Cox completed a pass to Lawrence Vickers for 10 yards and a first down on the next possession. It was one of only two completions for Cox in the first half. Two plays later, Cox was sacked by Gaines Adams, and then Adams broke up a shovel pass to end the Colorado drive.

Two runs by Davis gained 19 yards before Whitehurst was intercepted by Tyrone Henderson on a deep pass over the middle. The Buffaloes could only gain two yards in three plays and were forced to punt again. Clemson drained the rest of the first half clock and led only 6-3 at the half despite outgaining Colorado 210-34 in the first half.

On the second play of the third quarter, Davis broke free for a 40-yard run, his longest run of the season. Whitehurst found Aaron Kelly for 11 yards three plays later, and then Whitehurst scrambled and dove into the endzone for a five-yard touchdown run on a third-and-goal play. The touchdown drive covered 67 yards in eight plays.

Colorado again was forced to a three-and-out by the Tiger defense, but Clemson could get nothing going offensively and was forced to punt as well.

On the first play of the next Buffalo drive, Adams sacked Cox for the second time, this time for a 12-yard loss. After a five-yard pass play, Cox completed a pass to Charles, but the Buffalo was thrown for a five-yard loss by C.J. Gaddis.

Each team punted two more times before Colorado began a drive at its own 31 with just over nine minutes left in the game. Cox was replaced by Brian White. After a pass-interference penalty on the Tigers, White hit two consecutive passes for 45 yards down to the Clemson nine. Three plays later on third down, White found Quinn Sypniewski for a two-yard touchdown pass to cut the lead to 13-10.

With just under six minutes remaining and Colorado out of timeouts, Clemson went on a seven-play, 61-yard drive that took 4:07 off the clock and culminated with a six-yard touchdown run by Davis. The key play on the drive was a 23-yard pass play from Whitehurst to Kelly on third down, the senior quarterback's final pass attempt as a Tiger.

The extra point was blocked and was Dean's only missed extra point of the season. With the clock winding down, Colorado moved the ball as close as the Clemson 29, but the game ended with White throwing an incomplete pass in the endzone.

Charles Bennett and Nick Watkins tied for team honors with eight tackles apiece, while Bennett had three tackles for loss and a sack. The Tiger defense had 11 tackles for loss and four sacks in all.

Clemson's defense held Colorado to 124 total yards of offense and 17 yards rushing, the top defensive performance by any team in a bowl game during the 2005 season.
